

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Charlotte, Sept. 7, 1921.

Relatively low pressure prevails along the north and middle Atlantic coasts, over extreme southern Texas, and the southwest, the northwestern "high" having moved eastward to the Lake district, with high pressure continuing on the north Pacific coast.

Since yesterday morning there have been a moderate shower at Raleigh (56 in.) and light showers at Greensboro and Asheville. There have also been light to heavy showers in southern Florida, and light to moderate scattered showers in all other cotton-growing states, except South Carolina and Oklahoma. Heavy rain is reported from one station each in Mississippi, southern Louisiana, and southern Arkansas. There have also been light showers in western Kansas and South Dakota, and light to moderate rains in the middle Ohio valley and all Atlantic coast districts from North Carolina to northern New England.

Nearly seasonable temperatures prevail in the western portion of the cotton belt, while there is an excess of four to six degrees in the eastern portion, with maxima of 100 or slightly higher at a few stations in the eastern Carolinas and eastern Georgia. Cooler weather prevails in the upper Lake section and the Ohio valley, and warmer in northern New England and in most sections west of the upper and middle Mississippi Valley.

It is expected that the Lake "high" will proceed eastward to the north Atlantic coast and cause northeast winds in this vicinity tonight and Thursday and hence, somewhat cooler. Generally fair weather will continue, though a possibility for local thundershowers exists.

JURORS ARE DRAWN FOR SPECIAL TERM

The Board of County Commissioners Tuesday afternoon drew a list of jurors who will serve at the special term of criminal court which will be convened here September 26 by order of Governor Morrison at the request of Solicitor G. W. Wilson, who wants the special term to try prisoners now waiting in Mecklenburg county jail. Governor Morrison is expected to announce in a few days who the presiding judge will be at the special term.

The jurors drawn for the first week of the court are: J. A. Pressley, Newton A. Smith, C. W. Hunt, Sterling Graydon, C. M. Cashion, A. L. Brown, T. W. Auten, C. F. Brown, H. S. Caldwell, E. S. Jordan, A. M. Rogers, L. B. Kimbrell, J. M. Black, J. W. Cross, J. G. Gamble, B. K. Glasgow, Eli Huneycutt, W. E. McCall.

Those drawn to serve for the regular term of court which begins October 3 are: Adam Thompson, W. A. McDonald, Floyd W. Johnson, W. G. Bass, J. W. McKlamey, S. R. Reid, J. C. Black, C. N. Pittman, B. Rush Lee, J. H. Ham, J. E. Suster, Nathaniel Alexander, E. D. Cox, C. M. Styles, W. H. Stillwell, J. R. Henderson, S. K. Harrell and Joseph Warden.

The presence of about thirty untried prisoners in the jail of Mecklenburg county prompted Solicitor Wilson to ask Governor Morrison for a special term during this month of the trial of the prisoners. Many of them have been in jail for several months. Some of them are in for only minor offenses and their continued incarceration, when they are charged with small offenses, leads the solicitor to the conclusion that in justice may be done some defendants by being kept in jail for a long period when they may be innocent. It was because recent sessions of criminal court had too crowded a docket that the prisoners in jail were not reached. A few are in jail because they were jailed since the last court.

FAMOUS FUN HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 7.—Fire early today destroyed the "Fun House" of the Rendezvous Park, injured several firemen and threatened the entire so-called Bowersy section of the city, and was not extinguished for several hours. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

A blaze was discovered in the "Fun House" about midnight. This was extinguished without the aid of the fire department. Two hours later there was a fresh outbreak and soon the "Fun House" was a mass of flames.

Thousands of visitors and residents hurried from their homes and hotels in the belief that the central section of Atlantic City was in flames.

Assistant Chief Krause, directing three other firemen atop an extension ladder braced against the top of the entrance, was buried with his men when the top gave way. The four men disappeared in a shower of sparks before the startled eyes of the spectators. Firemen made a rush for the spot, but Chief Krause emerged with his men right behind him. They shook the embers from their shoulders and went back to work.

Another section of the building fell in later, catching two firemen, one suffering injuries.
