Negro, Sighting Officers, Screams Alarm, Leading Way to the Still.

Athens, Ga., Sept. 23.—A giant moonshine still, producing a pint of corn whiskey every sixteen seconds, was captured by Federal officers in Greene county Thursday afternoon, it became known today when they brought it to Athens headquarters. United States Marshal Henry Miller stated that he and Deputies Scott Jackson, E. L. McCandell and Eugene Miller were driving through the country on no particular mission Thursday afternoon when they were met by a negro driving a wagon. On recognizing them, the negro immediately jumped from his wagon and ran toward a wooded tract off the road screaming at the top of his voice. The officers, taken by surprise at his unusual behavior, pursued the negro and upon the still running in full blast. It appeared to have been hastily deserted.

Aided by a large corps of American Legion men, vocational officials and clerical workers, the "cleanup squad" of the veterans' bureau got to work Friday morning on claims against the government held by disabled war veterans of this and adjoining counties and by noon more than 100 had been handled.

PURPOSE OF CAMPAIGN.

The veterans' bureau workers arrived in Charlotte Thursday night from Shelby where they have been located for the last few days. The work here was begun at about noon, September 27, and all ex-service men having claims against the government are invited to procure the assistance of the squad.

PLANS SUGGESTED

One of the plans for financing the band that has been proposed is a subscription of $10 apiece donated by 5,000 citizens of Charlotte and perhaps of adjoining cities and towns. Many who have considered the matter believe it will be possible to get 5,000 ten-dollar subscriptions here, but others think that view is too optimistic and that a smaller number of subscriptions with larger subscriptions would be the more reasonable view.

INCIDENTALLY, THOSE WHO HAVE TAKEN AN ACTIVE INTEREST IN THE MATTER BELIEVE THERE WILL BE LITTLE TROUBLE IN UNDERWRITING THE BAND AS A PERMANENT CHARLOTTE INSTITUTION, OR AT LEAST AS A TWO-STATE INSTITUTION, AND THERE WAS A RUMOR ABROAD TODAY THAT A SMALL HANDFUL OF WEALTHY MUSIC LOVERS OF CHARLOTTE MIGHT UNDERTAKE THE ENTIRE PROJECT.

Recorder Laurence Jones had a distinguished visitor before him Friday morning, a survivor of the Titanic disaster of 10 or 12 years ago. His name was John Hurley and, despite his claim to fame by reason of his experience, the court fined him $5 and the costs for being intoxicated. Discovery of this piece of adventure in an otherwise ordinary life came about as follows: "What do you do?" the court questioned.

"I ain't done anything since the Titanic went down," was the reply. "Were you on the Titanic?" "Ye-es," the defendant drawled. "Five and costs," concluded the court.

BAND MOVEMENT GAINS RAPIDLY

Musicians Thinking Out Several Projects to Keep Nussbaum Here.

The announcement that Conductor A. H. Nussbaum and the members of the New York City Band might decide to remain in Charlotte under certain conditions and become the official "made-in-Carolinas" band and play for all big events in North Carolina, with headquarters in Charlotte, has appealed to the civic consciousness and the imagination of the people of Charlotte, to all appearances.

TO HAVE MEETING

It is probable that a meeting will be held some time Saturday for the purpose of considering plans for underwriting the band as a permanent Charlotte institution and insuring its remaining here as a permanent feature of the Made-in-Carolinas exposition, which the directors voted the other day to make a permanent institution.
