CHIROPRACTIC

IS CHIROPRACTIC SCIENTIFIC?

Science is classified knowledge. It does not depend upon chance, or luck or guesswork. If a method is scientific it must work out-not sometimes but ALL the time. No method of combatting disease has ever deserved to be called scientific until Chiropractic was developed. The treating of disease by remedies is an ART in which skill in diagnosis and predicting the rather dubious reaction of the patient to the remedy MAY bring good

Chiropractic is a SCIENCE. The Chiropractic is trained to detect spinal abnormalities by hand and verify by X-Ray until he knows with absolute certainty, the position and relation of the spinal bones. His methods of adjusting these are so exact, so specific, that he can be absolutely positive that the adjustment will be followed by just one result-the utmost effort of Nature to cure.

The only element of uncertainty left—the only reason why a Chiropractor cannot promise a complete cure to every patient in the world-is the possibility that the case has gone so far that Nature herself will not cure it, which means that no treatment on earth would be of any avail.

Chiropractors do not depend for their success upon the uncertain elements which form a basis for other methods. The very simplicity of the system makes for accuracy. For instance the Chiropractor knows-not guesses-but KNOWS-what organs in the body are weak or dis-eased after he has analyzed the spine. Conversely he also knows which organs are healthy and sound. His word is the word of authority. There are things about dis-ease which he cannot find out in this way, but these things are not essential to the cure, and here again the scientific nature of the system shows itself. He knows, with a certainty from the beginning, what is hidden from him. He never mistakes a guess for a fact.

It is because Chiropractic is exact, specific and definite, that Chiropractors achieve a higher percentage of results than any other profession.
