

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The eastern disturbance this morning is off the Delaware-Cape, its movement having been attended, in the past 24 hours, by light to moderate rains from the St. Lawrence valley and the lower Lakes southward to central portions of Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

Elsewhere fair weather has prevailed, except for a light shower at Tampa.

The Montana "low" has advanced to northern Minnesota, attended by somewhat warmer weather in the upper Mississippi and middle Missouri valleys. It is followed by the extreme western "high," which now covers most of the northwest, extending eastward to the Plains states. It has caused lower temperatures in the northern Rocky Mountain states.

The weather has also become considerably colder in the Ohio valley, lower Lake section, the Atlantic states, and Tennessee and Arkansas, and somewhat cooler in the middle Atlantic states, freezing temperatures being reported from the middle Ohio valley. Light frosts are reported from a number of stations in Tennessee, Missouri, Louisiana and Texas.

Fair weather will continue in this vicinity through the week; it will be somewhat cooler tonight with probably frost.

MELLON'S

MRS. WATKINS IN SALISBURY

National Secretary Parent-Teachers Talks at Meeting State Branch.

Salisbury, Nov. 2.—Seventy-five delegates attended the opening session of the State branch of the Parent-Teacher Association which is holding its annual session in Salisbury. A number of other delegates and visitors arrived yesterday's meeting.

Mrs. Joseph Garito, of Charlotte, president of the State branch, is presiding over the opening sessions which are being held in the First Methodist church.

An interesting visitor is Mrs. Arthur Watkins, national secretary, who Tuesday submitted a report of the last national convention, and who is also on the program for an address.

Dr. McPhaul, of Charlotte, who was to address the convention Tuesday night, was unable to come on account of illness. His place was taken by Dr. H. H. Newman, whose address was especially interesting.

The visitors were tendered a reception in the rooms of the Old Hickory

Club Tuesday evening as the guests of the local Rotary Club. Several other social affairs are on the program for the three days the convention will be in session.

The convention is discussing questions of interest and pertaining to schools and the relation of parents and teachers.

ONLY NINE OUT OF WORK IN ASHEVILLE

Asheville, Nov. 2.—Not a craftsman affiliated with the central labor union here, and there are over 1,600 of them, is unemployed, according to reports filed with the central body by delegates from each of the 17 local organizations represented. The employment offices maintained by the State, county and city, private work done by the sheriff's department, the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. have reduced the number of jobless to nine.

NEGOTIATIONS FALL THROUGH.

New York, Nov. 2.—David Schulte, president of the Schulte Retail Stores Corporation, announced Tuesday that negotiations for the merger of his concern with the United Retail Stores Corporation, which controls the United Clear Stores Corporation, have fallen through.

WILL ASK STATES TO APPROPRIATE FUNDS

Washington, Nov. 2.—State legislatures will be asked to appropriate funds necessary to defray the expenses of installing their proportionate share of the 4,000,000 stars which are to decorate the dome of the National Victory Memorial building. It was announced today by Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, of Washington, originator of the project. Plans are under way for the laying of the cornerstone of the structure.

The building is to occupy the square at 6th and B streets, Northwest, which was given by Congress for the purpose. The embellishment of the dome with gold stars for those who lost their lives and blue for all others, who served in the world war, is to be a feature of the structure.

TAUSCHER CASE DISMISSED.

San Francisco, Calif., Nov. 2.—A breach of neutrality indictment against Captain Hans Tauscher, formerly of the German Imperial army, was dismissed in the United States District Court Tuesday upon motion of John T. Williams, United States district attorney. Williams informed the court that, because of the death or absence of witnesses, it would be impossible to convict Tauscher.

STATE CONTRACT

forty-six miles of hard surfaced roads, for contracts for the construction of the remaining links in this section of the Central Highway will be let by the highway commission at noon on Tuesday of next week. This will be the longest single stretch of hard-surfaced road south of Washington, and it will connect with graded and well improved, dependable roads through the central part of the state, which will connect with scores of feeder roads to the north and south. At Durham it will also tap the Durham-Chapel Hill boulevard which is just now being completed. This boulevard will be one of the show roads of the state, and will serve North Carolina University much more accessible to other sections of the state than it has ever been in the past.

The links connected up by the new contracts are eight miles between the Johnston County line and Garner, three quarters of a mile between the western end of the Garner road and the city streets of Raleigh, seven miles of road between Cary and the Durham county line, which will connect with the hard-surfaced road between Raleigh and Cary, and the western end of this road already under construction from the Durham county line to the hard surface construction already completed three miles east of Durham. The remaining link is the two and a half miles between the western end of the Durham county road and the Orange county line.

In addition to this work in the Fourth road district contracts will also be let on the same date for five miles of hard surface north of Oxford in Granville county and a three and a half mile of gravel road from Chapel Hill to the Chatham county line.

The people of Cary have lodged with the commission vigorous kicks against the present survey of the road passing through that town. The survey calls for an underpass a quarter of a mile east of Cary, thereby avoiding grade crossings of the Seaboard and Southern roads. The Cary folks want an overhead bridge west of town which will serve both for the Central and the Capital highways to Anax. The engineers are unable to find a suitable place for locating this overhead bridge, and the contract will probably be let with specifications for the underpass.
