

SOUNDS KEYNOTE FOR DEMOCRACY

Chairman Democratic National Committee Indulges in Some Plain Talk.

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 29.—Declaring that "the time has come when patriotic citizens and Democrats should indulge in plain talking," Judge Cordell Hall, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, in his first public address since election to that position, last night reviewed the Republican administration of national affairs since March, 1921, and contrasted this with the "unparalleled achievement" of the Democrats in the previous eight years. The address was delivered at a dinner given by the State Democratic Executive Committee in honor of Chairman Hull and attended by party leaders from every part of the State. It was accepted generally as the opening of the Congressional pre-election campaign by the new chairman, who went into the public questions which he said now faced the Government, and explained the attitude which his party would take on them.

Further relief for farmers, adequate aid for veterans, reduction of taxes to compensate for the "panic conditions" now existing, and a remedy for the situation resulting from the flood of tax-exempt securities were among the issues outlined by the new chairman for the Democratic party. "Democrats are the loyal and consistent friends of the ex-service man," he declared. Turning to the farmers' condition, he added that, "ever solicitous of his welfare, . . . the Democratic party when in power did more to advance the interest of the farmer than had been done in all the previous history of the Nation and had planned to do much more, if it had remained in power." "The burden of our public debt should be adjusted so as not to be oppressive to the American taxpayer living under panic conditions. The States, rather than the Federal Government, should be urged to deal by a uniform policy with the growing evil of local tax-exempt securities."

RECKLESS FALSEHOOD.

The results of the last national election, Judge Hull asserted, were secured by "criminal malignity and reckless falsehood" on the part of the Republican leaders.

"It was not so much the Democratic party; it was the American people who have suffered the colossal and incalculable losses that resulted from our defeat," he declared.

"It is beyond the power of wholesome abuse, falsehood and detraction to dim the glory of the eight years' unparalleled achievement of the national democracy. The work of constructive, patriotic statesmanship, accomplished by that party will stand out in clearer perspective during the coming years. The Democratic party emerged from that almost super-human ordeal with flag untarnished, with records sound and pure with a record of unyielding faith and with cheerful hope for the future."

"Fundamental principles cannot be assassinated and a great historic record cannot long be falsified."

"If wholesale breach of solemn and unqualified promises to the people constituted a statutory crime," Judge Hull said, "every reactionary Republican leader, state and national, would, under a plea of guilty, be in the custody of the law today."

"The disappointed farmer now reads the account of his industrial ruin by the light of his burning corn. Millions of laborers are frequently in the soup-kitchens, bread lines and the auction block as in the days of chattel slavery. Business has discovered that it was crucified on the cross of politics."

Under Republican leadership, the chairman said, American foreign commerce "has slumped six billion dollars in the last 12 months and an almost vertical slump in prices in America of from 30 to 50 per cent, and, in diminishing power of farm products, of 50 per cent quickly followed." For two years prior to March, 1921, he said, the only remedy offered by Republican leaders for post-war conditions was "an anticipated high tariff and the archaic doctrine of commercial isolation."

Development of a "sound public opinion that will give intelligent and active support to Legislatures and Congresses in enactment of wise, remedial legislation" was declared by the speaker to be "the first need of the country" at this time.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED.

"The country is in sad and urgent need," he said, "of more education and more co-operation of the part of individuals and business with respect to public affairs. An intelligent understanding and whole-hearted co-operation on their part would soon improve government one hundred per cent."

The Democratic party is the only political organization Judge Hull contended, which today offers "a comprehensive, up-to-date national program of policies and principles."

The party, he said, still holds to its belief in a tariff for revenue only, for economy in Governmental expenditures, for "equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

"The recent Democratic Administration has not yet received credit for its many great accomplishments," he said. "But whatever its defamers may say in the future, even the school children will soon learn that in 1912 our national wealth was $187,000,000,000 and in 1920, when the Republican administration was chosen, it was $330,000,000,000. In 1912 our foreign trade was $2,550,000,000 and in 1920 it was $13,300,000,000. A year after the war, the value of manufactured goods exported in one month equalled the amount exported in an entire year under Taft's administration."
