True Values.

A great deal of people don't know what that means. It means, among other things, getting something that always has been and always will be worth every penny it costs. We keep only the best and reliable lines. When we say that we mean exactly what we say. Our stock is constantly changed from the latest fresh lots to make the assortment the choicest possible. They are the very best values that money will buy and are not a whit more expensive than those others ask for inferior and worthless goods. A thousand things always change in market value, just as we find new sources of textile attainment and manufacture. How often have you heard the old man say that the best is always the cheapest. And so in the end it is. All you have only to look at your watch to prove it. We want to see all the best in your community. That we do keep the best and at as low a price as are asked for inferior goods. We frequently lower our prices on staple lines. We make our statements plain so that there will be no misunderstanding. Our values speak for themselves. Our spring stock of Clothing is now complete and we shall be pleased to show it. Before we say what grades or qualities are in stock we prefer that you see the sledgehammer—see the rack.

You can get more positive discomfort out of a shoe to the square inch than out of almost anything else under the sun to the square mile. If you don't think so, try it. That's one side of the picture. Here's the other: From the right kind of a shoe you can get no discomfort at all; on the contrary it will be a case of getting satisfaction first, last and all the time. This is exactly what you can depend upon our shoes to give you; they will give you this and nothing else, and, before you've worn them ten minutes you'll agree with us.

Local Dippings.

—Mr. S. J. Lowe and bride, of Mt. Island are at the Central Hotel.

Seventy five bales of cotton were brought to the city by wagon today.

—Mr. Herman Dowd and Miss Nan Dowd will be "at Home" to their friends tomorrow evening.

The creditors of the firm of Rose & Adams will have a meeting in the law building at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

—Mrs. Robert D. Gibson, of Concord, arrived in the city today to help the ladies arrange for the Rainbow Fair.

This evidently the time for Charlotte shoppers to lay in a supply of Brussels carpets. The merchants are getting up a run on that line of goods, and fine Brussells are going cheap.

Mr. A. H. Crowell and Miss Katie King were married this afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of the bride's brother in law Mr. Wm. Murray on North College Street.

The Little Tycoon Company has brought along the largest lot of special scenery that has yet been brought to the Charlotte opera house. More than that, the scenery will be put up.

—An enterprising thief has been digging up fine rose bushes from the flower gardens about town and selling them. Chief of police Mason has caught a suspected party and those deprelations will probably cease.

—At almost every gin house in the county can be seen a number of bales of cotton dumped around on the ground. A NEWS reporter yesterday saw fourteen bales at one gin house and twenty one bales at another.

All those who have promised to contribute edibles to the Rainbow fair are requested to send them to the naval battalion armory by 11 o'clock tomorrow morning as the ladies will serve lunch from 12 o'clock until the bazar closes that night.

Dr. Neel of Steel Creek has found a spring of very fine mineral water on his place. It has been tested with satisfactory results, and some Charlotte people are already arranging to spend a portion of the summer with Dr. Neel.

—Contractor Josiah Asbury today completed the French plate glass equipment to the four store front of the new Belmont. Mr. Asbury says that the glass in the Belmont is of a finer quality than any that has ever been brought to this city.

—Mark W. Larkins, a prominent Good Templar, Odd Fellow and Mason, of Meadville, Penn., is stopping in Charlotte for a few days and expresses himself as well pleased with the city. Mr. Larkins is a passenger conductor on the New York, Lake Erie and Western railroad and is at present looking up hotel cars for his company. It is a business that has taken him to all parts of the United States and Canada during the past year.

Cotton That Sells at 10 Cents.

Mr. S. Witkowsky has returned from a trip through portions of South Carolina. In Edgefield county, he found the farmers selling cotton at 10 cents per pound. It is a long fine silken cotton and Mr. Witkowsky secured some of the seed which he brought home and turned over to John Wadsworth.

Sixty Five to One.

THE NEWS has never taken any stock in the interview business. There is not room in our columns for the names of the Hill men that could be scared up in Charlotte and Mecklenburg county, but we are not averse to giving an isolated example once in a while. For instance, there's the Pineville Alliance. It contains 66 members. Sixty five are Hill and one for Cleveland.

Two Can't Down the Mecklenburg Farmer.

A NEWS reporter yesterday made a trip through a considerable portion of Mecklenburg county and the air everywhere was laden with the scent of freshly ploughed earth. The farmers are working from sun rise to sun set, not at all discouraged by the frost. King Cotton gave them, and they are determined that if they do not come out better this year it will not be their fault. A very largely increased acreage in wheat was planted, and the wheat fields look promising. The farmers count on raising the biggest crop of corn ever raised in the county. There may be a decreased acreage in cotton, but THE NEWS got the idea that the decrease, such as it may be will not prove material. But while this is so, the farmers are determined to raise more home supplies and not bank so heavily on cotton. All the farmers interviewed by THE NEWS were exceedingly hopeful for this year's outlook.

The Captain Has Come Back.

Capt. F. S. DeWolfe, a former mayor of Charlotte, is now a candidate for mayor of Seattle. People around here who know somewhat of Capt. DeWolfe's campaigning abilities will be surprised if he fails to "get there." The Seattle Post says: "The Democrats are still in a turmoil over their candidate for mayor. While many insist that J. T. Ronald will get the nomination, the fact remains that John Collins is in the field. His dislike of Ronald is such that he can be relied upon to contest the nomination to the bitter end. Yesterday a new candidate was mentioned. Mr. F. S. DeWolfe. Mr. DeWolfe, who is president of the King County Bank, possesses what is technically known as a "sack," and the Democrats are anxious to find a man who honestly can but will foot the bills for a lively campaign. Should Collins develop so much strength at the convention that Ronald's nomination would seem inadvisable, and should Collins at the same time be unwilling to force his own name it is quite possible that Mr. DeWolfe may be selected as a compromise candidate."

The Opera To-Night.

The Little Tycoon company arrived in the city this morning, and that popular opera will be presented at the opera house tonight, better than any previous production here. It is a forgone conclusion that the former visitors of the well-known work will be revived for the cast is headed by Mr. Robert E. Graham, the original Gen. Knickerbocker, a part that he created and in which he has not yet been equalled, though several clever comedians have essayed the role. A strong second to Graham's Knickerbocker is Joseph Mealey, the original Teddy. Mabella Baker, who has been pronounced the Miss Hurricane par excellence, has been engaged for that part, and with Mr. Graham will revive the favorite and famous "Oh! My" duet. Mamie Cerbi, well known as an accomplished soubrette, impersonates Dolly. The charming primadonna, Laura Millard, a lady of rare beauty and great talent as a vocalist, sings the score of Violet. The well known tenor, Robert Dunbar, enacts Alvin Barry. George H. Broderick enacts Rufus. J. F. McGovern does the droll Lord Dolph in.

Private Wyatt.

THE NEWS has received a letter from Bailey of Mecklenburg, whose present address is corner Travis and Gray streets, Houston, Texas. Bailey writes: "They are about to publish North's cyclopedia of Americans and the editor has written me for a sketch of heroism on the Southern side. I know of none so exalted as to be perpetuated except that of Wyatt, a private in the Edgecombe Guards, 1st Bethel N. C. Regiment. A south shop was in the way of the right of our artillery. Magruder called for a volunteer to fire the shop and it was almost certain death. Wyatt volunteered, went forth, and was shot and killed. There has been some writing up of this romantic incident, but I cannot recall in what way. Will you not, editorially, call for a sketch of Wyatt and send me your paper containing it."

Speaker Crisp at Yale at His Best.

There's Nothing Exciting Going On

Washington, Feb. 24.

Senate.

House.

Despite the excitement of the week of speaker Crisp was at the post of duty this morning in better voice than he has been in some time. Mr. Pickler of South Dakota asked the consent of the house for the consideration of a resolution directing the committee on printing to report a resolution for printing 50,000 copies of the work upon the disease of the horse. Mr. Richardson of Tennessee objected, but it until 1 o'clock. Mr. Watts had enjoyed the most valuable by the clerk who read the title of the work as "disease of the horse."

Mr. Brower of Indiana called up the first contested election case of this session being that of Craig against Stewart from the 13th district of Pennsylvania. The majority of the committee finding in favor of the contestant Craig and the minority holds that the sitting member is entitled to retain his seat.

A Prisoner in Bad Luck.

Mr. Robert Anderson, a negro wretch, was before Esq. Maxwell this morning to answer the charge of obtaining board under false pretenses. Anderson boarded with Mrs. S. J. Brown on West Trade street for a few days. While there Anderson told Mr. Brown that he had secured employment at Mr. H. F. Bickett's office and that he was making $15 a week. After staying with Mr. Brown several days Anderson suddenly disappeared and it turned up at Mrs. Lucy M. Cain's boarding house where he had quite a different tale. He told the landlord he was changed from a type stacker to a full fledged dramatic artist and was only to be in Charlotte for a few days, the only thing detaining him being some very important mail that he was looking for from his home where he was traveling for. Anderson without warning just as suddenly skipped from this boarding house as from Mr. Brown's. He was arrested this morning on two warrants and was bound over to the criminal court in $25 bond in each case. Not having the cash he went to jail. Anderson says he is from Columbia and that his family lives in that city.

How the Blockade is Worked.

Three negroes were standing in front of a store on one of the suburban streets of Charlotte, yesterday. What was apparently a pineapple wagon drove up. It was a covered wagon and in front of the seat on which the driver sat was a three pronged stick, a bright red apple being impaled upon the sharpened prong of each stick. This is the sort of a sign that distinguishes apple wagons all over the country. On seeing the negroes, the wagoner drew rein and beckoned to them. "Don't you want to buy some apples?" he asked, and as he did so he winked prodigiously.

"What are sell'm at?" the darkeys queried.

"One dollar and twelve and a half cents a gallon," the man replied, again giving a big wink. The negroes whispered among themselves for a few minutes made sign to the man in the wagon and withdrew. They soon reappeared and got for gallons of blockade whiskey, paid the money over to the man and left with their booty. All this happened on a street in Charlotte in broad day light. It is said that whiskey wagons are around every day or two.

Colored Masons Creditors.

A meeting of the creditors of Rich and Mc. was held this morning at the law office of Mr. Heriot Clarkson and others. There was quite a large attendance of creditors. The affairs of Mr. M. were brought to a focus at this meeting and it is thought that a settlement can be made that will be satisfactory to all concerned. Mr. Rich is now in the interests of Mr. M. and will go to Texas in a few days.

A Fatal Runaway.

A fine young horse of Mr. D. Lee Wilson's ran away on Trade street yesterday afternoon and was killed. The horse was standing in front of the store when the driver left it. Some one unhitched the horse and it started off. It ran down Trade street to the corner of Church street where it fell and broke its neck. The horse was valued at $150.

Saturday Night Concert.

Those who attend the Y. M. C. A. entertainment next Saturday night will have the pleasure of hearing Miss Lucy Wilson, the piano soloist. Miss Wilson has just returned from a concert tour in New York. After the concert a social will be held in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. building.

A Pleasant Scene.

It is certainly a very pleasant sight to see the genial countenance of Capt. Goth, for the first time in a week. The little lad is on the mend and will be able to be out in a few days.

Marriage This Afternoon.

Mr. J. W. Elliott, of Statesville, and Miss Sallie Graham, of this city, will be married this afternoon at half past four o'clock, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. E. M. Graham, on South Church street. The marriage ceremony will be performed by Rev. R. C. Reed, of the Second Presbyterian church. The marriage will be a quiet one, only the members of the families of the contracting parties and a few invited guests will be present. Both the bride and groom are well known in Charlotte and have many friends in this city, who wish them an abundance of happiness in their new sphere.

Base Ball Talk.

It is to be hoped that Charlotte merchants will take an active interest in the revival of base ball in this city. The Fort Co's company make a most liberal proposition of laying out grounds and erecting a grand stand, provided the business men of Charlotte will aid in the organization of a good club. Besides the sport in this truly American game, there is a trade to be gotten by it in meeting strangers to be besides affording midsummer amusements for our own people. Those interested will add Mr. Robert Crompton, in the initial steps, then a permanent organization can be had.

The Weather.

Following is a synopsis of weather prevailing at 8 a. m. today. The high pressure located out west yesterday has pursued a northeasterly direction, and is working its way off into Canada. On the lower limits of this high there has occured precipitation which has extended as far southeast as Memphis, Tenn. The cool wave mentioned being out west yesterday has advanced easterly, and is now being felt nearly to the Mississippi River. It is probable, however, that this section will feel but little effects from it as cold as well. A storm area still obtains off the Florida coast, which is being accompanied by up to a rain area.
