SOME FRESH POLITICAL TALK

Cullins Comes In From Washington and Gives the News Straight. Vance Represents—Alexander Will Not Decline the Nomination for Governor—the old will come.

Mr. J. H. Cullins came in to-day from a visit to Washington. Cullins is a machine man by trade, but he is a born politician and knows how to get of the root of things. While in Washington he learned a good deal, and came back a bigger Hill man than ever. Mr. Cullins was in conference with Capt. R. B. Alexander when Capt. Alexander's news came, containing the New York News report of an interview in which Senator Vance was said to be out and out for Governor, and against both Cleveland and Hill. Capt. Alexander speaking from authority, said that the interview entirely misrepresented Senator Vance. Cullins also learned that Hanson is dead set for Cleveland and is against Hill, while Vance is for Hill. He talked with twenty or more congressmen and all were for Hill. He says that in Washington it is not considered that any body is in the race except Hill.

Mr. Cullins did not ask Capt. Alexander the direct question, but he inferred from what Capt. Alexander said that he would not decline the nomination for Governor of North Carolina. Some of Capt. Alexander's friends said they were sure he would accept the nomination. He did not get to see Mr. Hill, but learned from a pretty good source that Mr. Hill would accept the invitation to be here on May 21.

They Were Not Masked. About ten o'clock last night, three men hurried to the night watchman at the Charlotte Cotton Mills and excitedly told him that five masked men were on the railroad track between the mill and the city. The night watchman telegraphed the fact to police headquarters, and a squad of police men, including sergeant J. J. Mason and two officers to the scene. The policeman came up with the gang, but none were masked. After a chase, they caught four of the men. The fellow captured proved to be a white man who has been lounging about town for some days, claiming to be a horse trainer. He had tried to secure horses from Dr. Brevard and others, but had failed. The fellow said that he and his companions were only on the way to the Carolina central crossing, their intention being to barnacle themselves to the vestibule train as it stopped there and steal their way out of town in that manner. The man was released with a warning not to allow himself to be seen here again.

Last Night's Operations of Safe Crackers and Store Breakers in Charlotte.

Mr. B. W. Whitaker is night watchman at Mr. J. J. Riley's yard on East Trade street, opposite the Carolina Central freight depot. He sleeps on the second floor of a storage house which is separated by a wagon way from the office building. About 11 o'clock last night Mr. Whitaker was awakened by a clinking noise. He located the noise in the office and correctly divined the cause. Somebody was trying to break into the safe. He shouted an alarm and saw a man rush from the office door. The man fired a shot at Whitaker, ran out through the back way and disappeared. Chief of police Mason and officer Maurier got there just after the shot was fired. The burglar had escaped. An investigation of the office showed that the safe had been pulled out into the middle of the floor, and the burglar had gone far as to knock off the hinges and knob. By the safe were four chains and a lot of other tools that had been stolen from the shop of Mr. J. Riley David son.

Mr. Riley's safe was practically wrecked. There was not a cent of money in it. Mr. Riley taking care to have his cash in the keeping of the banks.

Operations in the thriving line last night were quite brisk all around town. Mr. Julius Flamm this morning found that the front door of his store had been pried open with a crowbar, and a lot of cigars and other articles were stolen. An attempt was made to break open the door of Mr. W. E. Friday's store adjoining Mr. Flamm's, as the prints of the criminal of last night showed, but the thieves did not get in. Mr. Reuben Colquhoun's store near the Trade street station on the Richmond and Danville road was broken into, and a lot of cigars, a bag and other articles were stolen. A tin trunk was made to break into by Mr. Joe Emery's store.

Two Boys Well Known Here, Kill a Man in Florence.

Considerable interest was manifested in the city last evening over the news of the killing of a mechanic at Florence, S. C., by Messrs. Chas. and Will Barringer. Both the Barringer boys are well known here. Will Barringer having been in the grocery business with Mr. Will J. Yates, and Chas. having been a frequent visitor here. This report of the affair given in the Wilmington Star of the 8th. From persons who arrived in the city yesterday from Florence, S. C., the following particulars of a sensational affair in that place were obtained, viz: Last Saturday night, about 11 o'clock, about 15 years of age, a mechanic, about 15 years of age, was severely cow hided in front of the Central Hotel, at Florence, Charles Barringer, a young man 25 years of age, the captain of the assembly, Barringer is alleged to have been in the trunk remarks made by the latter to Talbert's daughter, a young lady of 16 years.

Yesterday morning between nine and ten o'clock, Charles Barringer, accompanied by an older brother named William, followed Mr. Talbert and attacked him at the corner of Church and Evans streets. Both of the Barringers drew pistols, and fired at Talbert, who was struck five times and died in thirty minutes. The Barringer brothers were arrested and lodged in jail.

The affair caused great excitement and feeling among citizens was so intense that a strong force was placed around the jail to protect the prisoners from mob violence. It was fully expected, however, that an attempt would be made last night to lynch the Barringer brothers.

A Charleston (S. C.) dispatch says: The Barringer brothers killed a woman, as Talbert, a founder, and once president of the Internat. Order of National Mechanics, at Florence, S. C. Talbert believed that one of the Barringers had ruined his daughter, who is a girl at railroad centre. Mr. W. J. Yates, this afternoon received a telegram from Florence, stating that both the Barringer boys have been released from jail and that public sentiment is turning in their favor.

Mr. Ferguson had been sick for several days, and this morning while standing in front of the fire place, he faintly and fell into the fire. He was painfully burned on the face, shoulder and one hand. Dr. McManaway attended to his injuries.

A Frequent Lady Friend. Mr. Reed Williams, a student of Davidson College arrived in the city last night on his way to Wilmington. He has been attending here by a telegram announcing the death of his mother, Mrs. George W. Williams, one of the prominent ladies of the Cape Fear section. Mrs. Williams' death occurred yesterday morning. She had been in failing health for some time past, and spent last summer in California.

Butler and Skinner to Speak Here. There is to be an allitonic occasion in this city on March 18th. Mr. Marston Butler, president of the State Alliance, and Mr. Harry Skinner, who claims to be the author of the Salt Treasury bill and who is said to be a candidate for Lieutenant Governor of the State will be here and will deliver addresses on that date. The speaking will begin at 10 o'clock a. m. at the Park, whose presence is much to be desired, will not be here.

Local Weather Report. The following is a synopsis of the weather prevailing at 8 a. m. today: The center of the low which was located at this point yesterday morning has moved up the coast, and appears this morning off the extreme northeast coast of the country, the very low record of 29.50 inches obtained at Boston, Mass. The movement of this area has, however, been attended by continued low pressure over this section and the country generally. Precipitation has occurred almost every point on the map, but has been heaviest east of the Mississippi river, and particularly to the southeast, around the Florida coast. Jupiter reporting 2.0 inches during the past twenty-four hours. Fair weather will now probably succeed.

Trip of the Dummy to Charlotte. About twelve o'clock yesterday the railroad men saw a queer looking object crawling along into the west side train yard and switched it to a side track at the Meckleburg Iron Works. It was the celebrated dummy engine that pulls the passenger and freight cars for Concord's street railway. THE NEWS heard of the arrival of this distinguished visitor and hurried down to greet it. We found that it was in trouble and had come over here to be doctored by Capt. Wilkes. A crank in had been broken off in a wheel, and it was found necessary to run the dummy over to Charlotte to have the broken pin drilled out and a new one put in. Mr. W. M. Smith, one of the owners of the Concord Railway was in the cab with the engineer. The engine made the trip over the Richmond & Danville line, working "on one side," that is, the driving rod on one side was relied upon to bring the engine here. The trip was made in 35 minutes. The dummy consumed only 60 pounds of coal between Concord and Charlotte. The repairs will be completed this afternoon and by line THE NEWS gets there, the people of Concord will hear the familiar rattle of the dummy along their streets.
