Rev. H. G. Underwood, mission ary to Korea, arrived in the city today, and is at the Central.

Col. L. I. Polk arrived in the city on the vestibule train this morning and joined Messrs. Butler and Skinner at the Central.

This was a bad day for the Alliance speaking. Nearly all the Alliance men of Mecklenburg are Democrats anyhow and they preferred to stay at home and hug the fire.

The closing of the present session of Prof. Atwell's dancing school to-night, promises to be quite an event. The fancy dance, "Highland Fling," by Misses Oliver and Eagle will be one of the pleasant features.

The topic at the gathering of men in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock to-night will be "The man an unclean spirit, in the synagogue." Men cordially invited to attend.

Mr. A. Horwell, assigned, gives notice that the stock of Ross & Adams, booksellers and stationers, is to be closed out at once. Those needing goods in that line can now secure bargains.

Mrs. Francis E. Sproules, widow of the late Wm. Sproules received notice today that her widow's pension under the new law has been granted at $8 per month and $2 per month for each of her four children, commencing April 1st 1891.

A change of schedule is to go into effect on the A. T. & O. railroad next Monday. On and after that date the train from Charlotte to Statesville and Taylorsville, will leave at 8:30 p. m., instead of 4:30 as at present.

The better class of Republicans, whatever that may mean, are to have a general mass meeting Saturday night to discuss and resolve concerning postmaster Brady. That official has been the object of antagonism by a certain element ever since he was made postmaster.

How About the Fruit?

The peach, pear and apricot trees were in full bloom when the present snap came along, and this morning the blossoms were encased in ice. The majority of our people say that this indicates a short fruit crop next summer, while others say that ice does not hurt the blossoms, only makes them comfortable. A slight frost, they maintain, would do more injury to the fruit than half a dozen ice wrapping spells. It is certain, though, that if fruit can be hurt by ice, there will be very light burdens on the trees next summer.

The Discharge of Mr. Sossamon.

At the next meeting of the board of commissioners the matter of the discharge of Mr. F. M. Sossamon, superintendent of county convicts, is to be fully investigated and an interesting trial is expected. An effort was made yesterday to have the vote by which Mr. Sossamon was retired, reconsidered but nothing came of it. It is understood that charges were made against Mr. Sossamon for neglect of duty, but whatever the charges, they will all come out at the next meeting of the board.

Mr. Beatty, his successor as superintendent, gets $62 50 per month. Mr. W. G. Erwin was elected bookkeeper for the convict system at $10 per month.

Charlotte Again Abused.

The following taken from the Asheville Citizen is of interest to Charlotteans, owing to the happy reverse of the balance sheet in favor of our city:

The following is a recapitulation of receipts and disbursements of the Asheville electric railway company for the twelve months ending December 31, 1891. Total receipts, $41,067.15. Total expenses, $44,804.15. Balance net loss, 137.05.

THE NEWS made some inquiries this morning concerning our local road, and now with pleasure gives figures to show, once again, that Charlotte is in the lead. The Charlotte electric road runs its line at a yearly expense of $3,500 per car, while Asheville shows an expense per car of $4,080, or a total excess over Charlotte of $9,800. From which if the "net loss" that town is reported as experiencing in its electric advantages, be deducted, it would show a profit to them of about $9,500. This latter figure will be nearly reached by our electric line after paying interest on its bonds and increasing its rolling stock. It appears that Asheville's daily expenses average $123 fixed charges and interest, while Charlotte's but slightly exceeds $50. While sympathy must be expressed for the "Land of the Sky," a greater pride in home successes compels the comparison.

Recess, 3 p. m.—Address: What restrictions, if any, should be placed upon the granting of honorary degrees? By Rev. W. H. Leith, D. D., Salisbury, N. C. Discussions: Willis H. Dowd, Esq., Prof. D. THE ALLIANCE DAY.

The snow storm interrupted with the crowd and only a small audience was present. Col. Polk, Mr. Butler and Capt. Skinner made speeches.

This was the day appointed for the Alliance speaking in Charlotte by Mr. Marion Butler and Capt. Harry Skinner. Col. Polk was not expected, but he came in from Washington this morning and accompanied the speakers from the hotel to the court house through a driving snow storm. The ice and snow kept many farmers away, and as the business men could not leave their stores to attend a midday speaking the attendance was very small, the court house being not more than half full. Under other circumstances, there is no doubt of the fact that there would have been a very large crowd present. Among the audience were some of the most intelligent farmers of the county. Only here and there could be seen a person whose Democracy was doubted. Col. Polk, of course, excepted. The Colonel sat within the bar, his big overcoat hiding his whiskers and ears and only the upper portion of his genial face being exposed to view, except when he would bring it out, whiskers and all, for the purpose of applauding, or joining in a laugh.

Capt. Skinner was the first speaker, and it appeared that he was destined to side-track Mr. Butler and Col. Polk. He spoke for nearly three hours. Capt. Skinner is decidedly a most pleasant talker and there is no doubt of his ability to entertain a crowd. The burden of his lengthy speech was a defense of the sub-treasury plan, and he talked about it from beginning to end. He was severe in his arraignment of the Republican party, and he did not have any very great amount of good to say for the Democratic party. He incidentally picked up Mr. Joe Caldwell, and said that his Skinner's Democracy was as good any day as Caldwell's.

Local Weather Report.

The following is a synopsis of the weather prevailing at 8 a. m. to-day: The low pressure which was noticed at New Orleans yesterday moved during the day and night north-easterly being accompanied by quite a heavy rainfall, and it appears this morning at Kitty Hawk and Hatteras. The progress of this low was what caused the rains and thunder of last night. Heavier rains have occurred over this section and to the south, while snow is falling at several points immediately west of the low—at Nashville and Knoxville—and at many points to the north. Cooler weather will ensue over this section during the day, and the rain will change to light snow, which will probably be succeeded near night by clearing and cold weather.

Prof. H. M. Hamill.

This gentleman is to be at the North Carolina State Sunday-school Convention, at Newbern, March 29, 30 and 31. Prof. Hamill is one of the foremost instructors in America. For years he was at the front of secular education in the Northwest and one of their most prominent men in that department. For several years past, he has devoted his powers to Sunday-school instruction, and is now the Superintendent of Normal and Institute instruction in the State of Illinois, (the leading Sunday-school State in our union). He is not only a superior instructor, but he is a very platform speaker. Prof. Hamill is a native of Alabama, and spent his early years in the South. He is a Southerner, and fought in the confederate army before Richmond. He now accompanies Mr. William Reynolds in a tour of Conventions, commencing in Delaware and closing with Texas. Our people have a treat before them at Newbern on March 29, 30 and 31.

At the time THE NEWS goes to press, Mr. Butler is speaking.

Both conventions will meet in Nashville, the first on Thursday, May 20th, and the gubernatorial convention on Tuesday, August 20th.
