There was a very large attendance at the closing soiree of Prof. Allmon's dancing school, last night, and the pupils showed that they had benefited very greatly from Prof. Allmon's training. The fancy dance, Highland Fling, by Misses Oliver and Eagle, was applauded for its perfect execution.

Presso, Change!

For some time, Capt. Baskerville, agent at the Carolina Central passenger station has been annoyed by parties of negroes who invaded the cars on the sidings and indulged in gambling. Yesterday afternoon a game was in progress in a car, and a telephone message was sent up town for a couple of policemen. Chief Mason and officers Moran and Earnhardt responded. The occupants of the car happened to look out of a window commanding the approach from Tryon street and saw the blue cloth and brass buttons coming. On arriving at the depot, the officers surrounded the car and one of the number went in to bag the gamblers. He found one negro busily engaged in dusting the seats, another was reading a Bible and a third was evidently sound asleep. No sign of a card could be found.

Gen. Drayton's Nephew Sends a Challenge for a Duel.

The New York Sun, of Friday, contains a long account of a contemplated duel between Mr. J. Coleman Drayton and Mr. Hallett A. Borrowe. They are returning on the steamship Majestic, and the Sun thinks the duel will be fought on board ship. Mr. Drayton had challenged Mr. Borrowe to a duel, but the seconds of the latter declined to allow him to fight on the ground that Drayton's conduct in accepting money and the fact that he had been suspicious of his wife five years before he had challenged Borrowe forfeited his right to ask for the satisfaction of a gentleman. In this decision the seconds were upheld by no less authority than Aurelian Mehall and the Duc de Morny, two of the most celebrated duellists in France. Nevertheless, Drayton has not hesitated, among his friends, to attribute Borrowe's conduct to cowardice. Borrowe telegraphed to friends in America some time ago that he would sail yesterday on the Majestic. A week ago he postponed his departure for a week, and he learned only yesterday, after the steamship had sailed, that Drayton was on board. Fearing that the circumstance that he had announced his own departure by the Majestic and had not sailed on her, while Drayton had mailed lend color to Drayton's charge that Borrowe was afraid of him, Mr. Borrowe started for Queenstown at an hour's notice, and there boarded the Majestic.

The difficulty is all about attention paid Mrs. Coleman by Borrowe. Mr. Drayton is nephew of the late Gen. Thos. F. Drayton of Charlotte.

The Dates of Easter.

It has been over 1,500 years since the rule was adopted which makes Easter the first Sunday after the first full moon after the sun crosses the line. In this arrangement of things Easter may come as early as March 22 or as late as April 25. As all the readers of THE NEWS, foreign born or native, have some superstitions concerning this feast day, we have compiled the following facts concerning the days of the month upon which it has fallen from 1800 to 1891, inclusive. In looking over the dates we have been struck by the variety of days represented, which include every one in the month of April except the last five, which, as shown above, are "not in it." Since the date mentioned 1800 it has occurred three times on the 19th, five times on the 16th, five times on the 1st, four times each on the 2nd, 11th and 12th, four times on the 3rd, four times on April 6, three times on the 4th, 5th, 7th, 8th, 10th, 13th, 14th and 22nd of April and 27th and 28th of March. March 2nd, 1818, was the earliest date upon which it has occurred. Nine days in March are represented, viz.: 2nd, 3rd, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th and 31st.

CALAMITY HOWLERS REDUCED.

A Mecklenburg Althausman Who Took
No Shock to See How His Uncle Made
Money Apples Made into Jelly and Liquor Sold at 10 Cents Each.

It was noticeable that each of the three speakers in the court house yesterday drew exceedingly doleful pictures of condition of the farmers. Col. Peck, Mr. Stinner and Mr. Butler each talked calamity. A stranger listening to them would have got the idea that the condition of affairs on the farms of this State are worse now than when war swept the land. Surely no man prospecting for a home here would entertain any further idea in that direction.

"It is all wrong," said a well known farmer and althausman to THE NEWS this morning in discussing the speeches. "These speakers who are filling the land with their howls of an imagined poverty are doing our State great damage. They certainly very greatly misrepresent the State. Our farmers are not becoming millionaires at any very rapid rate, but neither are they hurrying to the poor house. My opinion is that the farmers, as a general thing, are better off than they have been since the war. They have better houses, better farming implements, better churches and schools and all the circumstances surrounding them are greatly improved."

Another althausman took the same view. He lives near Charlotte and has fought bravely through adversities under which many another man would have succumbed. "Our people throw away many opportunities. For instance, look at the annual waste of fruits. Thousands of dollars worth of apples are every year permitted to rot on the ground. Last summer, my wife suggested a plan to work up our apples into jelly. I bought her 300 jelly glasses and she filled them with a beautifully clear and firm article of jelly, and sold the entire lot readily at 10 cents per glass. The glasses in which the jelly was put up cost only 2 cents each, and were provided with tops. This summer my family expects to put up 1,500 glasses of jelly. Every farmer's family can realize a good little sum of pin money by pursuing this same plan."

Charlotte's Line the Best.

Another evidence of the fact that the Charlotte street railway was built right and is operated in the right way by capable men, was patent yesterday, when the town was ice locked. The cars ran on schedule time without a break or an interruption. Asheville has not been heard from, but in Winston as we see by the Sentinel, there was trouble. That paper says: "The electric street cars had a hard time last night. The trolley wires were covered with ice notwithstanding the constant running of the cars, and the last trips were made with great difficulty. This morning the wires had to be scraped before the cars came out." The Charlotte cars hum right along, through all sorts of weather.

Returned to Florence.

Mr. Will Barringer, who was engaged in the recent shooting affray at Florence, S. C., has returned to his home there, after a visit of a week among friends in Charlotte. The sympathies of our people seem to be decidedly with the Barringer boys in the unfortunate affair, and the indications are that they will be acquitted by the courts. It was shot or he shot.

He will leave in on the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta train that reaches here at 5 o'clock and will have a wait of 20 minutes at the Charlotte depot. There will be a big crowd to meet him, and very probably they will succeed in getting a short speech from him in advance of his 3:05 May speech.

Third Sunday of Lent.

In the morning the pastor will preach on faith, taking as his text "Blessed are they who hear the word of God, and keep it." Luke vi. 47.

The evening sermon will be on "The Motives to Conversion." Text "Behold now is the acceptable time, behold now is the day of salvation." 2d Cor. vi. 2. All cordially invited.

Death and Burial of a Young Lady.

The funeral services of Miss Myrtle Brown daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Brown, of Concord, were conducted from her late residence on yesterday evening at three o'clock by Dr. C. M. Payne assisted by Rev. T. W. Smith.

The King's daughters of which she was an honored member, held a service, conducted by Rev. R. N. McKenzie.

A large concourse of friends and relatives testified their sympathy for the bereaved family and their sorrow for the death of this lovely young girl. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. The pall bearers were Messrs. R. E. Harris, F. I. Smith, Joe Goodman, M. L. Stuart, Sam Erwin, J. F. Yorke.

Our Production of Cotton.

The March report of the statistician of the Department of Agriculture, issued yesterday, shows that the production of cotton of the world exceeded the consumption more than 1,500,000 bales in 1890, and further greatly enlarges the excess in 1891, glutting the markets, increasing visible stocks during the past year more than 1,300,000 bales, and reducing the Liverpool price of middling upland from 6 1/2 pence in January, 1890, to 4 1/2 pence in January, 1892. It states that in two years this country has produced an excess above normal requirements of more than 2,000,000 bales and indicates a heavy reduction in breadth as the only possible remedy; otherwise the agriculture of the south will suffer worse than western agriculture ever has. It declares that the cotton States must be agriculturally self-sustaining; that new crops must be introduced, as the agricultural population has outgrown the capacity of cotton to support it.

Shortly after the snow ceased falling yesterday afternoon it cleared off cold. At 5 p. m. the temperature was 34 degrees. By eleven o'clock last night, it had fallen to 24 degrees. The night was clear and there was a frost which undoubtedly did some damage to the fruit trees.

Mr. Thos. A. McKee, business manager for Robert Downing, is in the city. Mr. Downing's date for Charlotte is the 25th, and the play will be "Daman & Pythia."
