A GOOD DEAL OF SHOONING is going on just now, and we happen to be in it. Our $2 shoe keeps all its old friends. For every penny expended in its purchase, a trifle more than a penny's worth of wear is certain to be obtained. Nothing that was ever bought, sold or exchanged, ever did a handsomer thing by the purchaser than this shoe does. Never was a larger value given for a smaller price. It is a perfect phenomenon of the shoe world. It is just the thing for those who are in having comfortable shoes. It is exactly what economical-looking for.

Hats and Umbrellas, Trunks, Bags always on hand.

Local Rippling.

Miss Mary Steele will entertain a number of her friends this evening. Mr. W. W. Ward and family, returned from Atlanta Saturday evening. Col. J. L. Brown is still improving at the Jefferson hospital, in Philadelphia. Mrs. Will Cowles and children will leave this evening for Crosswell Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Amos J. Walker leave for their home in Brooklyn this evening. They will be accompanied by little Miss Cowles. Miss May Collier, of Wilmington, arrived this afternoon and is the guest of Miss Mink Brien on West Trade street. Mr. P. M. Brown is the first to report as having corn from a Charlotte garden. His first was on Thursday last. Lieut. W. E. Shipp, has returned to Charlotte, after a few weeks' inspection tour throughout North Carolina. Mr. J. E. Dubs, brother of Mr. Chas. Dubs, leaves this evening on the return to his home at Exoms, Washington. Mr. P. E. Linnell, was called to Raleigh this afternoon, by the extreme illness of his child, which was taken to it at place sometime since by Mrs. Linnell. Mr. Wm. Anderson, master mechanic of the Richmond & Danville shops here, is preparing to build a handsome residence on his recently purchased lot on Fourth between Mint and Graham streets. Mr. J. G. Walker, who lives on the corner of Mint and Fourth streets, this morning saw a swarm of bees passing overhead. He at once commenced to make a racket with bells and tin pans, and pretty soon the swarm settled on a tree in his yard, making a ball of bees as big as a half bushel measure. Rev. Egbert W. Smith, of Greensboro, preached two excellent sermons at the First Presbyterian church yesterday. His theme in the morning was "Christian Affliction" and in the evening, "The sins of the tongue." Both services were well attended and highly enjoyed. THE NEWS has received a very uniquely designed card of invitation to the celebration of the 4th of July, 1892, in the Park of the Guilford Battle Ground Company. Hon. Walter Clark will deliver the oration on the Life and services of Gen. William R. Davie, of North Carolina. Hon. W. A. Guthrie will address the Ex-Confederate Veterans. There will be Civic and Military Displays, and other Public Festivities, to make the day enjoyable. The first Battalion of Naval Artillery, Maj. Stuart Cramer, Commanding, will fire the salutes.

What a Rock Thrown Up By a Blast Did. John Hands, colored, a barber, lives in a house in the vicinity of the rock quarry. John has a sick child. Saturday, the child was taken from its cradle and carried to another part of the house by its mother. Just then a blast went off in the quarry. A rock as big as a person's head crashed through the roof of John's house, smashed a hat rack and landed in the cradle. Had this feat been performed ten minutes sooner, the child would have been killed.

Under the wheels of the Fast Vegetable Train.

Dick Steele, a 16 year old negro boy, was ground to pieces under the wheels of a fast vegetable train of the Richmond & Danville Company yesterday morning, near Rock Hill. The train was in charge of conductor Thomas Fritchard and engineer W. W. Fickland. When rounding a curve on the approach to Rock Hill, the engineer saw an object lying across the track, and though he could not make out just exactly what it was, he divined that it was a human body. He pulled the whistle cord and applied the airbrakes, but all to no purpose. The only hope was that the whistle would alarm the person and he would jump from harm's way, for stopping the train within the short distance that intervened was out of the question. The boy, however, was not disturbed by the whistle and in a moment was under the wheels of the train. The boy was either asleep, drunk or dead, and a coroner's jury is trying to find out about it today.

House Again.

The Charlotte Naval Reserve came in from Norfolk Sunday afternoon from their first service aboard ship. They all have a great many funny things to tell, and while they were worked pretty hard, they still had a good time and are eager for the next annual trip.

Some of the boys were lifted clear off the deck by the concussion of the great guns of the Franklin while at target practice at sea. They soon learned to stand on tip toe and keep their mouths open when a gun was to be fired.

The gun practice developed the fact that Capt. B. R. Smith and Mr. Jim McLaughlin are excellent gunners. They made scores that astonished the crew of the Franklin. Their expertness in getting the range and in firing was highly complimented by the officers.

Laying of the Corner Stone.

The laying of the corner stones in the new orphanage buildings, at Barium, will take place to-morrow Tuesday, and the public generally, is invited to attend. It is desired to have a picnic dinner, and persons attending are invited to bring baskets of provisions. The train will run as follows: Leave Charlotte, 10:45 a. m.; arrive Barium 12:30 p. m. Leave Barium 1:30 p. m.; arrive Charlotte 6:25 p. m. This will give 4 hours at Barium, which will give ample time for the "corner stone" ceremonies, for dinner and for a walk to the celebrated Barium Springs which are located just a quarter of a mile from the orphanage. The Agents hope that many of the friends of the institution will attend and see what is being done.

From Our Good Little Neighbor, Derita.

THE NEWS' Derita correspondent this morning says: The people in and around Derita are hard at work. Crops of all kinds are looking well and well worked. I see oats, corn and wheat growing on land that has had nothing but cotton on it for the last 12 years. We had fine rains Saturday evening and night. I think spring oats are better than the fall sown oats, the stand is better. I hear no third party talk here now nor any talk of Gibson's Band. The Rev. J. G. McLaughlin, pastor of Back Creek church will preach in the Methodist church at Derita on next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The health of this community is good at this time; the blackberry crop is splendid, but apples and peaches are short.

WATER SPORTS AND BATHS CLOSED.

They Prevailed All About the Section Yesterday. The Charlotte News Special Correspondent - Damage Along Magnolia Creek.

There were sharp storms all over this section of the State last Saturday afternoon, the storm in some localities attaining the size of baby cyclones, while one or two other localities assure that they had water sports to brag on. Henrietta mill, located in Rutherford county, is one of these. They certainly did have a blow and a down-pour there. The storm there lasted nearly an hour, and it was a heavy one during all that time, great damage resulting to the farmers for miles around the mill. The tin roof on a portion of the old mill was ripped up and blown off, and the water poured in on some of the frames. The damage was repaired immediately and the mills are running on full time to-day.

The storm was general all over this section, and every farmer got some rain. Some of them got a good deal more than they wanted. Those farming along McAlpine's creek are among the latter class. This is crossed on the road between Charlotte and Matthews. The waters were nearly up to the bridge yesterday. The main damage done by the overflow of this creek was the washing away of wheat and oats that had been cut and shocked in the fields. The farmers report losses in this way, of from $50 to $200 each. One McAlpine creek planter says that the waters swept his fields of $20 worth of oats. Another farmer who lost a couple of wagon loads of oats, said to THE NEWS: "I had not been listening to so much sub-treasury talk, and had moved my oats and wheat to the hills after they were cut and bound, I would have been better off. You suggest in THE NEWS that the best way for the farmers to prevent their wheat and oats shivers from being washed away is to move them out of the reach of high water."

In Crab Orchard township, a fierce hailstorm of two hour's duration occurred. The track of the storm was half a mile wide and several miles long. Mr. Robert's farm was right in the centre of it and got the full benefit of the wind, hail and rain. Mr. Robert says that he had a field of 25 acres of cotton, but every stalk was stripped and some of the stalks were cut down. Among the farmers who report damages by this storm are: Messrs. W. J. Rosdy, Cowan Miller, Joe McLaughlin, Wm. Stegall, S. H. Knowles, J. A. Jerome, L. J. Hodges, R. W. Roberts and Wm. Wallace.

They Are Short of Cash.

THE NEWS learns from a Columbia paper that the deficit in the Columbia base ball team amounts to $200 and they are twisting and turning about mightily down there to raise that amount. The players are hounding the manager's footsteps for the money due them, but nothing seems forthcoming. Columbia with all her bragadoie style does not always get there, as we are to infer from this paper, but Charlotte with her easy going way pays for what she gets and then has a balance of $75 due her from the Columbia bankrupt club. THE NEWS would suggest to Columbia the next time not to yell before the last tree has been passed in the exit out of the woods.

Death of Mrs. Skeen.

Mrs. Janie Skeen, wife of Mr. George Skeen, died at her home in this city at 9 o'clock this morning, aged 45 years. The funeral services will be conducted from the residence on North Graham street, at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.
