

ADMINISTRATION'S REMEDY FOR TRUSTS IS MENTAL CURE

A Simple, Homeopathic Dose Which Will Be Easy to Take and Not at all Harmful

(Baltimore Sun.)
Washington, Jan. 20.—The selection of Senator O. H. Platt, of Connecticut, to draw up the latest Administration Trust bill is a sufficient guarantee of the sort of bill it is to be. It will be a bill with a little in it that is objectionable to the great business combinations of the country as a measure could contain and still be called an Anti-Trust bill.

There are three men in the Senate who "know." The verb "to know" has a special Senate significance. It means to be "on to" a combination. Those who "comprehend" are the followers of those who "know." The Senators outside of this circle are commonly spoken of by those within as the "gentlemen who don't know."

The three men who always "know" are Nelson W. Aldrich, O. H. Platt and W. P. Frye. Mr. Aldrich "knows" what they tell him, and knows it well. A lot of others are thus informed. The rest are rank outsiders, whose activity excites a smile on the compressed lips of those who "know."

SMILE TO THEMSELVES.

Messrs. Aldrich, Platt and Frye have been smiling while "Administration Trust bills" have been dumped into the bushel. The men "who don't know" may have thought that all this activity signified something. The alternate committee meetings and White House conferences, followed every little while by the explosion of an "anti-trust bomb," have been watched with an expression of amused interest by Mr. Aldrich and his close associates, and meanwhile the work of the Senate has been proceeding slowly. A man must be either a physiologist or belong to the circle of those who "know," to determine why the Senate at times dreams through the hours, past waking and at other times shows an alertness and activity capable of breaking the record for speed of legislation. Those who "don't know" fret and fume and wonder when the Senate falls a-dreaming, and those who "do know" smile in their secret sleep.

ROOSEVELT'S "EASY" SPOT.

Like another great warrior whose fame history records, Mr. Roosevelt has one vulnerable spot. When struck on the reformation nerve he loses all power of resistance. The coterie in control of the Senate, officiated by Aldrich, Frye and O. H. Platt, has been thrashing javelins and shooting poisoned arrows at this vulnerable spot ever since the opening of the session. This coterie makes the Senatorial candidates for the Presidency, and its opposition is dangerous to the aspirations of any candidate. The leaders of the coterie believe that what the Republican party most needs is a conservative candidate for 1904. They have not declared opposition to Mr. Roosevelt, but they deem it essential that he should prove himself to be capable of "conservatism" before they can regard him as acceptable as the leader of the party in the coming Presidential contest. One of the surest evidences of "conservatism," to their minds, would be for him to abandon all the trust doctors who have gathered around him advising drastic treatment and to rely solely upon the prescription to be compounded by Mr. O. H. Platt, who is regarded as one of the safest and most "conservative" practitioners in the party.

OPPOSITION TO ROOSEVELT.

Secretly and quietly the opposition to Mr. Roosevelt has been very active.

BANISHED HIS PAINS AND AGONIES.

The startling and happy cures wrought by Paine's Celery Compound for rheumatic sufferers have deeply impressed medical men everywhere, and today the best practitioners are recognizing the great value of the Compound, and prescribe it with confidence.

Paine's Celery Compound stands unequalled as a cure for all the varied forms of rheumatism. At this season its good work is apparent in thousands of American homes. Men and women, lame and crippled, and utterly helpless from the terrible disease, are being restored to activity, health and strength. Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that rescues and saves the despairing victim, who is told that he or she is incurable. Mr. L. A. Fleschman, Gap Mills, West Va., writes about his happy experience with Paine's Celery Compound, he says:

"I had rheumatism in my left arm and shoulder, could not sleep and had no appetite. I visited my sister who lives in Frankford, and she told me that she had been afflicted just as I was and Paine's Celery Compound had done her more good than anything she had tried, and she advised me to use it. I got one bottle and used it and the result was I slept well, had a good appetite, and the pains of rheumatism left me and I have not felt them since. In fact, it has cured me and I feel like a new man."

There are many ways that odd pieces of cloth may be worked into the useful and decorative objects for the house.

and has gone a long way. To a certain extent he has been made aware of this, but the opposition has been of such a character and so intangible in form that it is doubted whether he comprehends its full scope.

Mr. Roosevelt has seen enough, however, to excite his anxiety; and with his peculiar notions of politics he has sought to combat it by making a play for the support of the negro population. While by this course he has succeeded in offending the best sentiments of the South, it has proved only a source of amusement to those of his party whose purpose is either to control him or to defeat him. The practiced politicians of the Republican party do not regard negro support as of great value in a convention. Though negro voters may hold the balance of power in the elections of a number of States generally to be relied on as Republican organization which makes candidates. In those States where the Republican party is a negro party and the negroes send the delegates to the national conventions sentiment is not relied upon to control the delegations, and something besides the popularity of a candidate is needed to influence their votes. Members of the Senatorial coterie are content with the conviction that Mr. Roosevelt will realize the futility of his efforts to do aids in his own way and will seek the aid of those who "know," or that if he does not come to terms with them they will win them to his support even by surrendering to them completely.

THE BLOOD OF THE CAMPAIGN.

The recognition of Mr. Platt to try his hand at making an anti-trust bill is the first move toward an understanding between Mr. Roosevelt and the men in the Senate who have for years dominated the Republican party and through whom is drawn that "concomitant of victory," a substantial campaign fund. It is by no means certain, however, that he will win them sincerely to his support even by surrendering to them completely.

Not Even Heroic Treatment Could Save Policeman's Life After Blood Poison Set In

New York, Jan. 20.—Blood poison from a thief's bite proved fatal today to John Collins, a Brooklyn policeman, who had suffered 10 months from the injury. The new treatment of the disease by injecting formalin in the veins was tried when too late to save the man's life. The policeman picked up the thief in the street.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon to get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep, which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by R. H. Jordan & Co.

Association in Great Britain.

The Year Book of the English Associations shows 649 associations reported, including auxiliaries, associated unions and correspondents. The total membership is 120,550. 138 associations occupy their own buildings, valued at $3,650,000. Including the English colonies, the number of association centres is 1,809, with a membership of 153,291. This makes a total throughout the world of 7,507 association centres, with 620,721 members and 737 buildings, valued at over $32,000,000. The American Association having 1,500 associations, 300,000 members and own $25,000,000 worth of property. The English Associations have followed the example of the American in their work among the volunteer camps of soldiers. They were of such great benefit to the men in the South African campaign, that their services were especially noted by Lord Roberts and others. The association will extend its work among merchant-sealers and fishermen which has successfully done by the associations in Norway, Denmark and other countries. Sir George Williams, who as a young man founded the association in 1844, is still at the head of the National Council of England. He takes a lively interest in the association movement and contributes thousands of dollars toward its support. He has now advanced to a high position in the mercantile world, being at the head of the house which he entered as a clerk, and in which the first association was organized. He often entertains visitors from America in the little room where the first association meeting was held, which is kept as a sacred place in his great store. Here he dined daily. The English associations are undertaking work for boys and extending a larger support to associations in foreign lands.

Theatre

The Wilmington Star of yesterday has the following to say of the performance of the "Eye For an Eye" which appears at the Academy tonight:

Wilmington always has a warm welcome for Miss Kathryn Kidder, but this season its theatre-going contingent exceeded itself in the enthusiasm of its reception. The Academy of Music last night for Miss Kidder's presentation of "An Eye for an Eye" was thronged with a fashionable and discriminating audience, which was more than pleased with the production, one critic has well characterized it as an intellectual feast.

Miss Kidder in the role of Francine, the dominant figure in Dumas' great play, has an abundant opportunity for the display of the wonderful emotional qualities which she possesses in marked degree. The piece is a story of conjugal neglect, the logical development of the character of a wife with noble ideas under those circumstances. Miss Kidder's portrayal of the stricken wife and her part in the final reconciliation was perfect and supporting her was a clever and capable company. Mr. Munroe Salisbury, the leading man, William Webb, in the role of the old man, Edward Lester, Walter Goodrich, M. O'Brien and William Wanner each proved themselves actors entitled to high rank.

During the fifteen years that "The Henrietta" has been before the American public, Stuart Robson has appeared in the part of "Bertie the lamb" more than three thousand times. His elaborate revival of the Bronson Howard comedy, which will be presented at the Academy of Music tomorrow night, however, will be the last time theatregoers will have the opportunity to see this exceptionally droll creation. A very strong metropolitan cast has been secured by Mr. Robson.

The admirers of Hall Caine will have an opportunity to see another of that author's plays, at the Academy of Music next Friday night, when James O'Neill with a large and exceedingly strong company will present "The Manxman." This production is under the management of Liebler & Co., who have already given the American public "The Christian," and "The Eternal City." The entire equipment of the play is new, and the cast in addition to Mr. O'Neill, will include Joseph Kilgore, Chas. Kent, Frank Connor, Annie Wood, May Buckley, Emma Hadron and twenty others.

THEORIES ABOUT FOOD.

Also a Few Facts On The Same Subject.

We hear much nowadays about health foods and hygienic living, about vegetarianism and many other fads along the same line.

Restaurants may be found in the larger cities where no meat, pastry or coffee is served and the food cranks in his glory, and arguments and theories are advanced to prove that meat was never intended for human stomach, and almost make us believe that our sturdy ancestors who lived four score years in robust health on roast beef, pork and mutton must have been grossly ignorant of the laws of health.

Our forefathers had other things to do than formulate theories about the food they ate. A warm welcome was extended to any kind from bacon to acorns.

A healthy appetite and common sense are excellent guides to follow in matters of diet, and mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best.

As compared with grains and vegetables, meat furnishes the most nutriment in a highly concentrated form and is digested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables and grains.

Dr. Julius Remson on this subject says: "Nervous persons, people run down in health and of low vitality should eat meat and plenty of it. If the digestion is too feeble at first it may be easily corrected by the regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. Two of these excellent tablets taken after dinner will digest several thousand grains of meat, eggs or other animal food in three hours, and no matter how weak the stomach may be, no trouble will be experienced if a regular practice is made of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets because they supply the pepsin and diastase necessary to perfect digestion, and every form of indigestion will be overcome by their use."

That large class of people who come under the head of nervous dyspeptics should eat plenty of meat and insure its proper digestion by the daily use of a safe, harmless digestive medicine like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets composed of pepsin, diastase, fruit acids and salts, which actually perform the work of digestion. Cheap cathartic medicines, masquerading under the name of dyspepsia cures are useless for indigestion as they have absolutely no effect upon the actual digestion of food.

Dyspepsia in all its many forms is simply a failure of the stomach to digest food and the sensible way to solve the riddle and cure the dyspepsia is to make daily use at meal time of a preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which is endorsed by the medical profession and known to contain active digestive principles.

THEY OBJECT TO CUBAN TAXATION

American Residents of Isle of Pines Threaten to Resist Payment of Taxes to Cuban Authorities

Havana, Jan. 20.—Three hundred American citizens, property owners and residents of the Isle of Pines are preparing to resist forcibly, if necessary, any further exercise of sovereignty there by the Cuban Government.

Formal demand was made on Minister Squires today for the protection due to American citizens on American territory. Mr. Squires is conferring with President Palma. American residents on the island say they own and occupy more than two-thirds of the land there. They assert that the Cuban Government is levying oppressive and unlawful taxes in the Isle of Pines and spending the proceeds in the Island of Cuba. Administration of justice in the Isle of Pines is said to be unreliable.

The protesting Americans say they have settled in the island with their families and mean to stay. Before investing their money in the purchase and improvement of real estate they receive official assurance from Washington that the Isle of Pines was territory of the United States. They refuse to pay further taxes to the Cubans and ask that steps be immediately taken to establish a government in the island under American authority.

The situation is becoming serious. An open rupture is likely to occur if President Palma sends rural guards to the Isle of Pines to enforce collection of taxes. Cuban officials in the island are having Americans watched by rural guards. The Alcalde is preparing a report for President Palma.

Americans assert that Secretary Root instructed General Wood last May to continue the then existing American military regime as the de facto government of the island, but General Wood withdrew without doing this. They say the Platt amendment has been distinctly violated as that amendment excludes the Isle of Pines from the constitutional limits of Cuba.

Cubans maintain that the Isle of Pines was and continues to be a part of their territory.

Mere Opinion.

(Chicago Record-Herald.)

True charity begins at home, but it doesn't end there.

You have doubtless observed that the maid who is in love with herself has but few rivals.

The man who is unable to get credit doesn't have to dodge up an alley when he sees a bill collector coming.

Efficiency may be a good substitute for wisdom, but it's difficult for the man who is short of wisdom to keep his mouth shut.

A woman generally has to have a long time to make up her mind, but lightning is slow in comparison when she changes it.

By looking closely the available man may see upon the door of the grass widow's heart this sign: "Don't knock. Walk in."

Some people regard life as a tragedy, a few find it to be a comedy, and most of us go through it longing for a better show.

Every time a woman picks up a towel it makes her husband shiver for fear she is going to tie it around her head and go to housecleaning.

No wonder men get discouraged when it takes years to establish a reputation for honesty and sobriety, while one can gain notoriety as a thief or a drunkard in a few hours.

It depends on what you do when you are out of bed whether early rising is beneficial or not. The world would be better off if some people never get up.

It is pretty safe to say that the family pocketbook is not carried by the wife of the man who keeps his seat in the car while women with babies in their arms have to stand.

RHEUMATISM CANNOT BE RUBBED OUT

But a good liniment or plaster will often give temporary relief because it produces counter irritation or reduces the inflammation and soreness. But no sort of external treatment can have any effect whatever upon the disease itself, for Rheumatism is not a skin disease, but is due to an overacid condition of the blood, and the deposit of irritating matter or Uric Acid salts or sediment in the muscles and joints, and no amount of rubbing or blistering can dislodge these gritty particles or change the acid blood. Rheumatism often becomes chronic, and the muscles and joints permanently stiff and useless and the nervous system almost wrecked, because so much time is lost in trying to cure a blood disease with outside applications or doctoring the skin.

Rheumatism must be treated through the blood, and no remedy brings such prompt and lasting relief as S. S. S. It attacks the disease in the blood, neutralizes the acids, and removes all irritating or poisonous substances from the system. S. S. S. strengthens and enriches the thin acid blood, and as it circulates through the body, the corroding, gnawing poisons and acid deposits are dislodged and washed out of the muscles and joints, and the sufferer is happily relieved from the discomforts and misery of Rheumatism.

External remedies are all right so far as they go, but they don't go far enough, and you can't depend upon them to do the work of a blood purifier, and those who pin their faith to liniments and plasters as cures are bound to meet with disappointment, and will be nursing a case of Rheumatism the greater part of their lives.

S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy, does not contain any Potash or mineral of any kind, and can be taken with safety by old and young.

Rheumatic sufferers who write us about their case will receive valuable aid and helpful advice from our physicians, for which no charge is made. We will mail free our special book on Rheumatism, which is the result of years of practical experience in treating this disease. It contains in a condensed form much information about Rheumatism.
