MY GUEST.

I searched for love in heart of city's I searched for love upon the shining sand

Of ocean beach; and then on towering cliffs I sung A pleading song that love unto my heart might come;

But love came not. I searched for love no more, but labor-

To ease those hearts whom sorrow'd touched before: Faint hope that in sweet work I'd surely find

Some compensation for the fate un-When, lo! love came, -Bessie L. Russell, in Outlook.

THE NEWS TODAY.

The News presents two special features in today's issue to which it in vites the attention of its readers. One, which may be found in the supplement, is a continued story by that prince of Southern story-tellers-Joel Chandler The story is entitled, "The Story Telling Machine," and we commend it to our readers-anything from the pen of Mr. Harris is entertaining and instructive.

Another article of unusual interest is that by Prof. Jerome Dowd, entitled-"The Negro unfit for Citizenship." Prof. Dowd, as is well known, is resident lecturer on Sociology at the University of Wisconsin and one of the foremost sociologists of the country. He is a Southern man, a North Carolinian, and well equipped in the subject presented in the article. The conclusions reached in his article are significant and should be convincing.

A sketch of Judge Alton B. Parker, who is now in the public eye as a presidential possibility, is of especial interest at this time and Mr. Alton has written interestingly.

A feature, which The News introduced several weeks ago, is the article on Sunday Study, embracing the Sunday school lesson for the week, topics of various church organizations, no table days of the week and much else along similar lines that is interesting.

BLESSING TO THE SOUTH.

The information comes from Washington that Dr. Charles H. Herty, of Athens, Ga., has been successful in securing a patent on his improved method of collecting crude turpentine. Too little is known of the great blessing which Dr. Herty's invention has brought to the turpentine-producing regions of the South. In Mecklenburg perhaps, this work is not greatly appreciated, because turpentine-produ ing is not Mecklenburg's long-suit, but in other portions of the State it will result, not only in the simplifying of the work, cheapening of the cost of production and lessen the danger and destructiveness of forest fires, but i will also result in the preservation of the State's valuable pine forests.

Dr. Herty, who was professor of chemistry at Georgia's University, has long studied the method of collecting crude turpentine. He found great waste in the present system, danger from forest fires and serious damage to timber. He set about to find a method of collecting crude turpentine which would prove more beneficial to the operators. He went abroad, spending countries studying the problem, and ton, first president of the American rereturned to the United States about two years ago to take this up as his life first in the hearts of his countrymen. work. He resigned his position at the university and went to Emanuel county and began some experiments on his

For 18 months Dr. Herty has been conducting his work under the supervision of the United States Government Department of Forestry. He kept steadily at his work on the farm of John H. Powell, in Irwin county, in this State, and there secured wonder- tors called catarrh of the bowels. Evful results from his method of col- erything I ate seemed to hurt me so lecting the crude turpentine.

Last fall Dr. Herty again appeared before the Turpentine Operators' Association at Jacksonville, where the lead- lage did me more good than anything ing operators of every Southern State | else I had tried. Dr. Herty is now at .homasville, Ga., with a force of Government experts, placing his method on the turpentine farms of thousands of operaors in this State, Florida and Alabama. More than 5,000,000 trees will have Herty gutters and cups on them before the spring is over.

Our Spartanburg contemporariesthe Journal and Herald-are having a egular cat and dog time of it over the respective merits of the telegraph service that each claims to take. The Herald boasts of receiving the Associated Press Dispatches, though claiming to receive them by mail, while the Journal asserts that the Herald's claim is a fairy tale and refers it gleefully to the Count Robgien Ruomorf Laetsew incident, in which the News caught the Herald napping. Thus far honors seem to be easy and no blood has been spilled.

Mr. J. O. Foy, who recently sold out he Shelby Aurora, announces in yesterday's issue of the Hickory Press, that he has purchased a controlling interest in that paper and on that date assumed the editorial and business management of that paper. The Press has hitherto been a Republican paper, but Mr. Foy proposes to make it a conservative independent journal. Mr. Foy is a man of winning sincerity of manner and is a bold champion of the plain people. He has always made a success of journalism in this State and the News welcomes him back to the fold of the Fourth Estate.

The Senate yesterday passed a child labor bill. It prohibits the employment of children under twelve years of age and makes 66 hours a week's work for children under eighteen, though it does not prohibit them working longer. Before a vote was taken it was announced that the bill as amended pleased both the manufacturers and the advocates of the law. It must therefore be curiously constructed, but The News will pass judgment later.

In the taking of depositions in the Moody-Gudger contested election case, which is now going on at Asheville, a negro was introduced by the Republican attorneys interested who affirmed under oath that Congressman-elect Gudger paid him $2.50 for his vote on election day. The negro witness did not tell, however, how much he received from the Republican lawyers to get up and swear to that infamous false-

The House has passed the Watts bil -a long step forward in temperance legislation. It would be a wise move now for the Senate to pass the London bill. It would be a mistake for the latter body to consider anything weaker than the Watts bill and it should seriously plan to pass something stronger-for instance the London bill as amended.

A sad story comes from Durham. While a mother lay dying, a public charge, her daughter and only child left her, was married and went away, leaving the parent to die helpless and alone. Such savagery might be expected from Fiji Islanders, but in a civilized country it strikes the average man as almost beyond comprehen-
