DELEGATES TALK ON VITAL TOPICS

Second Days Session of the State Convention of Y. M. C. A. is an Interesting Occasion

SESSION OPENS WITH PRAYER AND PRAISE

Study of Religious Conditions --Charlotte Quartette Renders Good Music--Opening Session

Winston-Salem, N. C., March 9.—The opening session of the Y. M. C. A. convention, opened at First Presbyterian church and was called to order by President Abbott. Rev. Caldwell of Winston offered prayer and Secretary Huntington, conducted the service of Bible study. The theme was, "The Mind of Christ." Then came Scripture reading by the convention and an earnest talk by Mr. Huntington, on the Examples of Christ, Howard Banks, of Charlotte, led the convention in prayer.

Dr. Montgomery, of Charlotte, sang, "Some day the silver chord will break." O. B. VanHorn, of Asheville, delivered a message to the delegates. He appealed to the young men to mold into a firm policy of work for the associations. Lyman L. Pierce, of Washington, conducted a study of religious conditions, among young men and means to meet the needs among them. The facts were brought out that the general conditions in North Carolina are better than over the United States owing to the lack of foreigners and large cities. In Wilmington, 50 per cent attend church; in Charlotte 75 per cent, Asheville less than 25 per cent, and better in smaller towns. The causes were discussed. Howard Williams, of New York, conducted a study of the present drift of young men, with reference to Bible study. In North Carolina, the general drift is away from Bible study while in the associations the drift is towards Bible study. As to attendance, in North Carolina, upon Bible classes it is 15 per cent, of the associations members; in the United States, 11 per cent. The causes are indifference, and lack of well trained teachers. To meet the needs were suggested. Bible study, committees to outline work at home, social features and other causes.

The Charlotte quartette of signers rendered "Jesus Saviour, Pilot Me." L. A. Coulter, Richmond, conducted the study on personal work. Delegates expressed the belief that sins stand in the way of the impurity of thought and speech, lack of prayer and knowledge of the scriptures. The convention adjourned with a benediction by Rev. Trainer.

Opening Session.

Winston, March 7.—The 27th annual State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of North Carolina opened tonight at eight o'clock with devotional exercises. The singing was led by Mr. Chas. Duffin, general secretary of the Wilmington association. Mr. Harvey Overcash of Charlotte, played the organ. Mr. G. C. Huntington, of Charlotte, led the convention in prayer. Chairman Geo. B. Hanna, of the executive committee, called the convention to order at 8:15. He appointed the following a nominating committee: Messrs. W. H. Burton, O. B. VanHorn and E. Mason. He then read the report of the executive committee, acknowledging the assistance of various State secretaries and stating the changes in the work of the association. The report contained expressions of hope for even better work in the future, and praise to God for blessings in the past. Following this chairman Hanna read the report of

ASSISTANT TO THE NEW POSTMASTER

Mr. E. M. Bell Gets the Billet --Miss Guion Retained as Chief Clerk--No Other Changes at Present

Mr. R. W. Smith, who will succeed Mr. Jonas W. Mullen, as postmaster of the city of Charlotte, was today arranging his bond which will be for $25,000. It is understood that Mr. Smith will give two bonds, one in a Trust Company and the other a private bond.

Mr. Smith this morning tendered to Mr. E. M. Bell the position of assistant postmaster which was accepted. Mr. Bell's friends had hoped all along that this plum would fall his way and now that the fight is at an end, he has been receiving many congratulations. Mr. Bell is a splendid business man and it goes without saying that he will faithfully perform the duties required of him.

To a News reporter this morning Mr. Smith states that he will retain Miss Laura Guion as chief clerk. This will be learned of with genuine pleasure by Miss Guion's host of friends in Charlotte as well as elsewhere. For several years she has been employed at the post office and it is useless to add that her very efficient work has made her well nigh indispensable. Mr. Smith also states that by will retain Miss May Hall in the stamp department. This action will also be commended by the entire city.

For the present, at least, there will be no more changes at the post office. What will come later, Mr. Smith does not desire to speak of.

The bond required of the postmaster after it has been gotten in shape will have to be forwarded to Washington for approval. Then Mr. Smith will receive his commission. This will probably consume at least two weeks. It is hardly probable that Mr. Smith will take charge of the Charlotte office before the first of April.

THE GREAT FINANCIER.

J. P. Morgan, and Party to Pass Through Charlotte.

After purchasing what he wanted of the island of Cuba and the State of Florida, the Hon. J. Pierpont Morgan and his party will pass through Charlotte tomorrow night returning to New York.

Mr. Morgan and his party were due to leave Jacksonville last night at 12 o'clock but the great financier heard that he might, probably, be able to expend a paltry million or two in another Florida hotel, so he put out last night on this side issue. When it became known along the line that Mr. Morgan and his party were to pass this way, the division superintendents and, in fact, all connected with the Southern's operating department, were put on the anxious bench. All bridges were examined and extra track-walkers were put on duty. In fact, everything that would tend to insure safety was done.

The News man learns this afternoon that Mr. Morgan and party will certainly pass through this city either tomorrow morning or at night. The exact hour has not been learned.

CROWS SPOIL A ROOF.

Drop Clams Upon From a Height, and Leaks Result.

Victoria, B. C., March 9.—The militia armory here is an imposing edifice, having a slate covered roof. This roof has been leaking continuously, and in spite of frequent repairs the slates keep dropping down. After some investigation it was discovered that the trouble was due to crows, which swarm in myriads down to the seashore and dig clams when the tide goes out.

The crows found out that a clam lat fall upon the slate roof of the drill hall would break easily and its contents be deposited in a safe and convenient spot for lesurly consumption.

It was destruction to the roof, for besides crushing the clamshells the constant blows cracked and loosened the slates until they fell away. Scarcely a day has passed since the building and no further trouble is expected.

TO GO UP HIGHER.

Col. M. V. Richards May Be Promoted With the Southern.

Col. M. V. Richards, land and industrial agent of the Southern Railway will very probably be promoted to one of the vice-presidencies of that system under the reorganization of its forces. The Spartanburg Journal in discussing the matter says:

"The report comes from a reliable source, and, although it lacks official confirmation, it may be true. Some weeks ago the papers printed a story to the effect that Samuel Spencer would retire from the presidency of the Southern to become chairman of the board of directors, and the W. W. Finley, first vice president, would succeed him.

"In the event of this change it would be necessary to add another vice president, and Colonel Richards' work has been conducted in such a splendid manner that he is naturally regarded as the logical man to serve with the new staff. Colonel Richards is performing such good work for the South, however, that it would be unfortunate to put one less familiar with his duties in office. He could still direct the industrial department and by keeping in close touch with it would be in a position to advance the interests of the Southern in this section."

Col. Richards is well-known and has many friends in Charlotte and is regarded as a strong friend of Charlotte. He has addressed our people upon industrial matters.

His promotion will be acceptable to our people, and it is to be hoped that he will be in a position to do Charlotte a favor now and then.

RECEPTION TONIGHT.

The Epiphany Young People's Union of Tryon Street church will give a reception tonight. An interesting programme has been arranged.

THE MARKET EASIER.

Though Prices Went Up Considerably Today.

New York, March 9.—C. W. Lee & Co say: The market is acting beautifully. Nothing to make anyone nervous, but holding its own this morning. A break at the opening gave every one a chance to buy in the shorts and conservative traders did so. The market acted sold out, and this began to show itself as the day wore on. August shot up from 906 to 921 and May ran up about twenty points. July advanced 19 points to 952 and then had a break to 945. The feature was short covering. Shorts were about as nervous this morning as holders were last week. The technical position seemed much improved by the purging of this decline. With a report of danger from an overflow of the Mississippi river in the south and more rains coming to give color to this report, there was a stampede on the part of bears to get in some of their cotton. We look for a better market for a few days and any scare over floods will easily turn May towards 10 cents again. The bull clique has not sold May cotton. Now it is a question of how shorts will be able to get in the cotton without boosting prices. The short August taken in this morning can be sold again on a bulge tomorrow. Unless the situation becomes acute there will be a sharp break on any further advance to enable shorts to cover again. But as long as rains continue and floods are promised the tendency of the market should be towards a higher level. Do not sell May cotton. On good bulges over 9-14 take the short side of August until floods are really reported. Then we may have a wild market for a day or two.

STOCKS.

New York, March 9.—Dow Jones & Co say: Determined rally in Southern Pacific by Keene brokers turned the market. Professional shorts covering their stocks. There was not much indication that calling of loans had shaken out stock in quantity and upon the whole technical situation was sufficiently favorable to make traders operate for rally. Wabash's did not recover with rest of the market.

Various rumors on Southern Pacific said that Keene and Harriman have arrived at an agreement. Also that a dividend of two per cent. will be declared next month. Some fear expressed that stock may be cornered. Shorts have been the principal buyers with Harriman interests large buyers.

DO NOT FAVOR WEIGHT PLAN.

Commissioners Said to Disapprove of Paying Miners On That Basis.

Wilkesbarre, March 9.—Attorney Ira H. Burns, of the independent operators, is authority for the statement that it is not likely the strike commissioners will decide to accept the new plan of paying miners by weight of coal which they discussed at the secret session on Thursday.

"The commissioners had the greatest difficulty in getting the attorneys to understand the complex arrangement," said Mr. Burns, "and, finally, after a long discussion, somebody asked the commission how they expected the thousands of Hungarians throughout the coal regions to understand the plan when the lawyers could not grasp it. The commission took this as a good argument, and discussion on the matter was dropped right there and then.

SIX PERISH AND MANY ARE INJURED

Fire Destroys Hotel in West Virginia Mining Town and Not One Guest Escaped Serious Injury

Elkins, W. Va., March 9.—Six persons met death and eight others were badly injured, two perhaps fatally, in a holocaust at Leiter, a mining town, eight miles west of here, early Sunday morning.

The dead are: George Anderson, wife and child, Maggie Coughlin, Annie Burke and Henry Burke.

The fire originated upstairs in a large double boarding house owned by the Maryland Smokeless Coal Company. In the room occupied by the Anderson family. The building was a frame structure and burned like tinder. The fourteen occupants were all asleep when the alarm was given and before they were sufficiently aroused to their danger, escape was cut off. Eight jumped from an upper story window and were saved, but all were injured, more or less and the others burned to death.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Met This Morning, Accounts Audited and Other Work Done.

The board of education for Mecklenburg county, met in regular monthly meeting this morning at 10 o'clock.

Most of the morning hours were consumed in auditing accounts.

The school at Sardis church which has been consolidated will open anew next Monday morning. A new and up-to-date school building has been erected and everything will be ready by Monday. The building has been well equipped. There are three rooms and all necessary arrangements have been made for the opening Monday. Mr. Calvin Reid will have charge of this school.

The site of the Long Branch school in Paw Creek, was sold today. The property consisted of only one acre. Mr. R. J. Todd was the purchaser. The price paid was $18.

The present legislature has made some material changes in the school laws and until these are in the hands of the board, work will go slow. It is understood that the amount to be expended for building purposes will be about 7-12 per cent of the available school monies. This law will not materially interfere with the board's action as this will figure out about the same as has been expended for this special purpose. In addition to the above there are other changes in the school laws of more or less importance.

SWISS GLACIERS TO VANISH.

Scientist Says They Are Slowly Disappearing.

Paris, March 9.—A naturalist named Killian says the Swiss glaciers are slowly disappearing. This year their diminution is perceptible, and one can foresee a time when Switzerland will lose her poetic frozen heights.

The savants are not yet prepared to give the reason of this, though some are inclined to attribute it to a changing climate.

NO TROUBLE IN FINDING SUPES

Mr. Mansfield's Representative Employs His Time Selecting 'Talent' to Support Mansfield

One hundred and fifteen Roman soldiers and senators were elected in Charlotte this morning. Their terms of office will last about four hours and they will not have to go outside the city to serve Rome either. The hallooting was not done by the Romans nor the Charlotteans either, for that matter. Mr. Carl Arhrent, who represents Mr. Richard Mansfield, did the electing, or more properly speaking, the selecting, all by himself and it is needless to add there will be no contested cases when this short-term Roman Senate assembles next Wednesday night.

It was a motley crowd that assembled at the stage entrance of the Academy of Music this morning in response to an advertisement. There were tall men and short men, stout men and men who looked hungry and Mr. Arhrent took the whole bunch. From now until the night of the production of Julius Caesar these supes will be drilled in their several parts. Some of them will be required to wear coats-of-mail and carry shields and spears and look fierce. They will be Roman soldiers. Others will wear senatorial togas and to fulfill their parts must simply look wise. Still others will wear nondescript Roman costumes. They will compose the Roman populace and they will have-not exactly speaking parts, but bowing parts. When Brutus (Mr. Mansfield) makes his herculean oration to the aforesaid populace in the form, the mob is supposed to be swayed by his emotions, and Mr. Mansfield is very particular about having the "swaying" well done.

The duties of the senators and soldiers will be light, compared with those of the populace for the oration in the forum is a very striking and forceful histrionic exhibition and the mad rage displayed by the populace adds not a little to the general effect.

It is expected that by Friday night the supes will be as well drilled as any Mr. Mansfield might have brought with him, for Mr. Arhrent is an actor of the old school himself and knows to do the training. Mr. Arhrent was for years with the great tragedian, Keene, and goes out ahead of Mr. Mansfield for this especial business of swearing in Roman senators, soldiers and citizens.

GOLF CLUB CONCEALS NAME.

Atlantic City, March 9.—Great precautions are being taken by the officials of the Atlantic City Golf Club, at Northfield, to prevent the organization from becoming connected with the Burdick murder mystery through the visits of Mrs. Burdick and her unknown male companion to the links during January. Employees of the club have been warned to give out no information, and it is understood that the cards of introduction which might lead to the discovery of the identity of Mrs. Burdick's companion have been destroyed. Today the police were practically refused permission to inspect the record of visitors to the club.

SENATE SYNOPSIS--SATURDAY.

The bond issue bill came up early in the day and he argued on it was vigorous. There was a contention for at least an issue of $500,000 with the rate of interest at not exceeding four per cent, while the majority stood for $300,000 with the same rate.

The latter proposition finally won by a vote of 6 to 14.

Senator Norris rose to a question of personal privilege. He spoke of an article in the Biblical Recorder reflecting on him, this being signed by Peter Plain, whom he declared to be Mr. Josiah W. Bailey. He denounced the article and asked to have his remarks spread on the journal. This was allowed.

An effort was made to pass a House bill providing that lawyers duly licensed and ex-judges from other States be permitted to practice in the State without passing an examination. It was stated that the bill was for the purpose of having this courtesy extended to Mr. John Hill Sprunt, of New York, a graduate of the State University and a prominent lawyer. The bill did not pass.

Senator McByrnes made a plea for an appropriation of $100 for repairing and putting desks in the Croatan Normal School in Robeson county. He was successful and the bill passed.

The bill providing for a Police Commission for Raleigh came over from the House. It was referred to the Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns on motion of Senator Norris.

The Machinery Act was reported back to the Senate with the statement that the House conferees had acceded. Judge A. W. Graham protesting to the amendments proposed in sections 27 and 74. It was then passed.

The Roanoke Island Celebration bill came from the House with an amendment.

St. Louis, March 9.—Three thousand five hundred men, employed in the brick yards in St. Louis and vicinity struck this morning. The demand for resignation of the union for union wages and time, schedule has been refused. About ten thousand men will be affected as the building material trades council, embracing 26 trades, is aiding the strikers.

Attorneys representing the Wabash Railroad employees at 10 o'clock this morning filed an answer to the U. S. Court to the temporary injunction, granted by Judge Adams, restricting employees from striking. The court is asked to set a date upon which to hear the application for application for a dissolution of the temporary injunction.
