THE SAMUELS CASE.

Testimony Shows Up Strong for the Prosecution—Other News.

Special to The News.

Greensboro, N. C., Jan. 22.—Testimony of Government witnesses in the Samuel case in the Federal court Saturday was strong for the prosecution. After concluding the identification of reports and diaries filed by Samuel in the Revenue Agents' office, Chief Clerk Grace testified that the reports and checks in payment of informers' fees showed that Samuel had indorsed for other parties and collected informers' fees on 120 distilleries as destroyed from July 1903 to April 1905. The next witness who had been reported as informer, and whose collected check signed in Samuel's handwriting, testified that he reported a still to Officer Bryan, but never had made any written report, was paid four dollars by him, but never heard of any $10 check nor had authorized Samuel to sign one.

At the afternoon session, C. W. Minter swore he took an order in 1904 from Samuel to James Combs' blockade still for two gallons of liquor, brought liquor to Samuel's room in Wilkesboro.

W. N. Anderson testified that he worked for Jim Combs making blockade whiskey in the winter of 1904 at two places, both being steam distilleries of one hundred gallons capacity each. Jonah Myers testified he worked at saw mill in a quarter of a mile of one of James Combs' distilleries eleven months, was run by steam and was not concealed except that it was off the public road. Other stills nearby were being constantly cut up but this was not until some time in 1905. Many witnesses testified to the good character as others who testified for the prosecution, but Samuel's reputation as an officer was bad. Mr. Watson for the defense tried to show by all these that the bad name which had been given to Samuel was not correct. Included only those who belonged to the Blackburn faction in the political feud among Republicans over offices.

Register of Deeds Kirkman has returned from Stanley superior court where he was a witness in a bigamy case. Mr. Kirkman carried the records of the county showing that Robert Hannah had married a Miss Alridge of this place in 1901, after which he married Miss Joice Morris. Hannah pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

"Penny Brothers Company" is the latest incorporated business here. The incorporators are George T. and J. C. Penny, of High Street and J. E. Thom and other of Greensboro. The place of business will be at 116 South Dixie street, the place of the Vanstort Livery Company. The company will be large retail and wholesale dealers in horses and mules. Besides private sales there will be auction sales every Saturday. The first auction sale will be held on February 3rd.

A committee of the Chamber of Commerce appointed to interview the Southern Railway authorities to see if better sleeping accommodations for Greensboro passengers could not be secured reports that the railroad has granted one grade of No. 34, the New York and Florida express, to stop here at 1:15 a. m. This section will be reserved for Greensboro passengers. There has been for some time complaints on account of the inadequate sleeping accommodations available to people boarding trains here.

The Greensboro Council No. 13, Jr. O. U. A. M., held a very enthusiastic meeting last night in their lodge rooms. There was a large attendance of the members. Interesting talks were made by Col. F. S. Hobgood, Jr., and Mr. E. R. Stack. Sixteen applications were received and one election to membership.

FOUR SIMPLE RULES

Follow Them and Health, Happiness and Prosperity Will Be Yours.

If one would be healthy, happy and prosperous, follow these four simple rules. (1) Keep the bowels open every day. (2) Chew your food slowly and thoroughly. (3) Avoid indigestible foods. (4) If there are any symptoms of stomach troubles, take Mi-o-na before each meal until cured. No matter how many years you may have suffered with stomach troubles or how worried by sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of appetite, turred tongue, specks before the eyes, headaches, backaches, weakness and debility, indigestion or other ills that are caused by a weak stomach, you can be cured by the faithful use of Mi-o-na.

Mi-o-na is not a fanciful experiment, it is not a patent medicine, it is not a cure all. It is a scientific remedy recommended but for one trouble, weakness of the digestive organs. It is a permanent cure and is sold by Woodall & Sheppard under a guarantee that it costs nothing unless it does all that is claimed for it.

If not convenient to obtain Mi-o-na of Woodall & Sheppard or some other retailer it will be sent by mail postage prepaid on receipt of price.

VERY MANY HONOR DEAD MINISTER.

A Large Crowd Attended the Funeral Services of the Late Rev. J. A. Dorritee, at Westminster Church Yesterday Afternoon.

Floral Offerings were Beautiful.

"Tell my people I am departing in peace and my peace I leave with them."

This was the message that Rev. James A. Dorritee sent to the congregation of Westminster church, Dilworth. It was delivered to Rev. Alexander Martin and by him delivered to the congregation who loved Mr. Dorritee, yesterday afternoon at the funeral services of this good man.

The beautiful little church, that will ever stand as a monument to the beloved dead, was filled to overflowing yesterday afternoon, long before the hour named for the service. People from all sections of the city, the rich and poor, were there to pay the last mark of respect to him, who in life, was their friend.

The handsome steel-grey casket occupied the central position before the altar and was in full view of the large congregation. Around, over and above it, were many designs made of the sweetest of blossoms; and resting tenderly on the coffin there was a profusion of carnations and violets.

And to make the scene more impressive a flood of sunshine streamed through the southern windows and completely enveloped the bier. If the dead had had the scene in his choosing he could not have wished for more beautiful and impressive surroundings. While the people wept because of Mr. Dorritee's departure, nature seemed to smile because the God of Nature had taken him unto His own.

Not the least impressive sight was the presence at the funeral services of the different organizations which the dead minister was connected. First to arrive at the church were the Knight Templars, of Charlotte Commandery No. 2, in charge of Acting Eminent Commander, William Anderson. This noble band of charity-loving, God-fearing men arrayed in their gilt and braid and with their white plumed hats, took their seats to the front, close by the coffin that contained the remains of one of their number.

Next, the members of the Charlotte Artillery came in and took seats to the right. Then a large body representing the Pythian lodges of the city filed in and took seats to the left. Last to come was a detachment from the Hornets Nest Riflemen. By the time these arrived all the available space in the church was taken and they stood in the left aisle, during the entire service.

The service opened with the rendition by the choir of "It Is Not Death to Die," after which Rev. Alexander Martin, in a most pathetic manner, told of his last talk with Mr. Dorritee in which he gave to him the message to deliver to his people. He also read a few appropriate passages of scripture and then gave way to Dr. J. R. Howerton, who read the fourth chapter of Second Corinthians which was a favorite chapter of the dead.

Following Dr. Howerton, Dr. Martin D. Hardin read a scripture lesson, which was followed by a short address by Rev. J. Q. Adams of Pritchard Memorial Baptist church. Mr. Adams said that he felt that he could truthfully say that he knew Mr. Dorritee; that their work among the people of Dilworth had thrown them together oftentimes and that both had encountered the same obstacles—that of building a suburban church. He knew Mr. Dorritee as he had known few men; that he was a real man and was a most genial and unselfish worker. His character was pure and there was nothing hidden in the man. He was transparent and one knew all that was in his heart. Rev. Francis M. Osborne, followed Mr. Adams. He said that his pastorate in Charlotte begun just as Mr. Dorritee's closed. He could see and feel the influence of the dead man. It is not difficult to understand why Mr. Dorritee was so universally loved when it is remembered that his religion was broad and he loved all; and that love was a sympathetic love that took in all denominations.

The closing talk was made by Rev. Plato Durham and was both beautiful and pathetic. Mr. Durham said that the dead man was his friend; and that he felt as if he would like to kneel beside the casket and whisper in his ear, "Dorritee, I love you." Death, the speaker said, would never seem to him as horrible since he witnessed how patiently and uncomplainingly Mr. Dorritee waited for the summons of his Master. He was a Christian unafraid. His life was a blessing to all he came in contact with and his death was that of the true Christian.

A touching incident during the service was the singing of "Under His Wing," by Mrs. C. C. Hook and Mrs. J. C. McMillan. The last prayer-meeting service Mr. Dorritee attended, he sang, at least one or two verses, he being unable to finish the song. During its rendition there were few dry eyes in the large congregation.

From the church the body was taken in charge by the Knight Templars and the Masons conducted the services at the grave. A large crowd was present.

The active pall-bearers were Messrs. H. C. Long, J. A. Solomon, A. M. Young, P. S. Gilchrist, R. J. Cochran and C. C. Hook.

The grave in Elmwood was completely hidden from view by the many beautiful floral offerings.

FUNERAL OF MRS. CLARKSON.

Was Held From St. Peter's Episcopal Church Yesterday Afternoon.

At St. Peter's Episcopal Church yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, the funeral services over the remains of Mrs. T. S. Clarkson were conducted by Rev. Harris Mallinckrodt.

The large auditorium of the church was filled, every seat being taken. This, in a measure, attested the popularity of the deceased.

The floral offerings were exceedingly beautiful and very numerous. From the church the body was taken to Elmwood, where the last sad rites were performed.

The pall-bearers were: Capt. A. J. Beall, Messrs. C. E. Frick, W. C. Maxwell, C. H. Duns, Wade H. Harris, J. P. Wilson, George H. Brockenbrough and A. L. Smith.

At the home on Ninth street, a continual stream of friends passed in and out yesterday. Mrs. Clarkson was popular with all conditions of our people. She was a true friend, a sympathetic friend. No matter where trouble was, there her good kind heart and hands made that trouble bearable.

This was the secret of her popularity, and this is why her death is so sincerely mourned.

Rev. A. R. Shaw keenly regrets his failure to reach Westminster church in time for Rev. J. A. Dorritee's funeral service. Four o'clock had been announced as the hour for the service. The service was held at three o'clock. Mr. Shaw reached the church too late to take part in the service. He says that had he reached the church in time he would tenderly have placed a flower of affection on the casket of his beloved brother.

An Up-to-Date Barber Shop.

That Tate, who for 15 years has conducted a barber shop in the store room adjoining the main lobby of the Central Hotel, is to make extensive improvements to his place of business. An entirely new set of fixtures has been ordered, including new chairs and mirrors. The room has been repapered and presents a very handsome appearance.

MUSIC WAS DELIGHTFUL.

A Fine Program of Music Rendered at the Burford Yesterday.

The patrons at the Burford Hotel heard some fine music there yesterday during the dinner hour. At 1:30 o'clock Mr. D. Amatt Richardson and his orchestra commenced playing in the parlors and all during the dinner hour, the music continued. Many of the guests stopped in the parlors after dinner and remained there until the music stopped. This well known orchestra will furnish music at the Burford every Sunday at this time. It proved a decided success yesterday, and Mr. C. E. Hooper, the proprietor, was congratulated on every hand for the delightful innovation that he is treating his guests to.

TELLS BY THEIR SLEEP

"I can tell by my little ones' sleep when a cold is coming on" said a mother when speaking of the advance symptoms of colds in children. "They toss about, are restless, their breathing is heavy and there are symptoms of night sweats. The next morning I start with Scott's Emulsion. The chances are that in a day or two they are all over it. Their rest is again peaceful and the breathing normal."

Here's a suggestion for all mothers. Scott's Emulsion always has been almost magical in its action when used as the ounce of prevention. Nothing seems to overcome child weakness quite so effectively and quickly as Scott's Emulsion.

Death of Mrs. E. C. Wing.

Mr. J. P. Woodall has received intelligence of the death on the 14th inst. at Moline, Ill., of Mrs. Wing.

Mr. and Mrs. Wing resided in Charlotte for a year or more and left last May for Illinois. While here they boarded with Mrs. Lee Hunter and later kept house with Mr. Guy Boush's family in Mr. Woodall's residence.

Mrs. Wing was a charming lady and made many friends here who will be grieved to hear of her demise. She is survived by a husband, daughter and son.

Mr. Jones Buys a Home.

Mr. J. M. Jones has purchased the Liddell property adjoining Mr. C. M. Patterson's on North Church street. He and family will take possession of the house in the near future. The News learns that the consideration was about 6,500.

Second Church Items.

The Girls' Home Missionary Society will meet next Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock with Miss Willie Wakefield.

The officers and teachers of the Sunday school will meet in the church parlors at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. There will be some very important business before the deacons at this evening at 7:30 in J. M. Harry & Co's office. Every deacon is expected to be there.

AND NOW IT'S CHICO CIGARS.

Interesting Talk by Woodall & Sheppard on What Makes a Cigar Popular.

The remarkable success of Wadsworth Bros.' Chico cigar in getting into the mouths of smokers in Charlotte is astonishing.

Less than a year ago the Chico was unknown here. To-day, it is the most popular cigar in Woodall & Sheppard's large stock.

"Advertising alone will not make a cigar popular," said Messrs. Woodall & Sheppard. "A cigar must be good to meet with a sale in this city. I do not know of a town where the smokers are as discriminating as they are in Charlotte, and the fact that they have made Wadsworth Bros.' Chico their favorite, speaks volumes for its quality. While it sells for 5c., it is better than the average ten cent, so that it reaches all classes of smokers. It is an all long Havana filled cigar, and a good one, that I am glad to recommend to my customers."
