HARRISON NEWS ITEMS.

Ladies' Missionary Society Entertained—Farewell Sermon—Personal Notice.

Special to The News.

Harrison, N. C., Feb. 28.—Mrs. W. E. Cunningham entertained the Ladies' Missionary Society at her home Monday afternoon from 3 till 6. It was quite an enjoyable meeting. This is a wideawake little society and we think doing a great deal of good in a small way.

Miss Ella Tuttle, of New York City, who has been visiting her brother, Mr. L. A. Tuttle, has returned.

Miss Dora Cunningham is visiting Mrs. Rina Cunningham.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rea, of Providence, visited their uncle, Mr. Harvie McGinn, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cunningham had their little son, Master William Parks, baptized Sabbath afternoon by Rev. Dr. J. B. Mack, who preached his farewell sermon at Bank Church that day and will now go to Georgia to preach.

Mrs. Ella McGinn is visiting her sister, Mrs. T. O. Ross, of Providence, today.

The little son of Mrs. J. W. Howie, of Emnessee, who is visiting her parents here, is right sick at present.

Miss Mary McGinn, who has been on the sick list for the past week, is able to be out today.

The chain gang under the supervision of Mr. Welch, is doing good work on our road and we hope the time will soon come that we will hear no more grumbling about bad roads when we want to visit the Queen City.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail for free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

PITIALE STORY OF TWO YOUNG GIRLS

In Recorder's Court they are Ordered to Leave Town. Figured as Witnesses in Disorderly Case on Creamatory Avenue. Girls From Concord.

A scene, which caused pity even among the ranks of the policemen who often become accustomed to depravity by reason of their having to deal with so much of it, was witnessed in the Recorder's Court this morning. Two young girls, one of them under 20 years of age, were ordered to leave town by the court within a week, on account of the lives which the court has reason to believe they were living.

The girls were witnesses against a young white man, Stamford Jordan, who was charged with cursing in the house occupied by one of the girls on last Sunday. The two girls told their story to the court this morning. It was that they had both been married but were not living with their husbands.

Instead, they were occupying adjoining houses on Creamatory Avenue. The two are sisters and one of them did not even know where her husband was. The two gave their names as Elizabeth Osborne and Kennedy.

The court fined Jordan $5 and costs and told the girls they would have to leave the city within a week and go back to Concord, their former home. The sad story of the two, one of them almost a child, caused numerous expressions of pity to be uttered by the court attendants, lawyers and others.

MARCH WEATHER.

What We May Expect During the Coming Month.

March weather is always an uncertain quantity, but the following data covering a period of 27 years will tend to give an idea of what we may expect during the next 31 days.

The mean or normal temperature during the month of March has been 51 degrees. The warmest month was that of 1903 with an average temperature of 5.7 degrees. The coldest was that of 1891 with an average of 46 degrees. The highest temperature was 85 degrees on the 22, 1894. The lowest was 14 degrees on March 7, 1899. The average date on which the last "killing" frost occurred was April 1. The latest date on which a "killing" frost occurred was April 26.

The average precipitation for the month of March has been 4.79 inches. The average number of days with .01 of an inch or more, have been 11. The greatest monthly precipitation was 11.13 inches in 1891. The least monthly precipitation was 1.55 inches in 1896. The greatest amount of precipitation recorded in any 24 consecutive hours was 4.38 inches on March 25-26 1901. The greatest amount of snowfall recorded in any 24 consecutive hours was 5.2 inches on March 17, 1885.

The average number of clear days during the month of March has been 10; partly cloudy 11; cloudy 10. The prevailing winds have been from the southwest and the average hourly velocity was 7.7 miles. The highest velocity of the wind was 55 miles an hour from the South on March 5, 1899.

A Monster Egg. Dr. L. Simpson brought an egg to the Herald office Monday which is perhaps the largest egg ever seen in this section. It was laid by a black Minorca hen, and weighed 4 1/4 ounces and measured seven inches in circumference. The Minorca hens always lay large eggs but the one exhibited by the Dr. Monday was a record breaker.—Rock Hill Herald.

ABOUT LOCATION OF M. P. COLLEGE

Propositions from Several Towns Made to Committee. To Decide March Eighth. Case of J. B. McMillan, Judge Furgerson's Fine Talk.

Special to The News.

Greensboro, N. C., Feb. 28.—The Board of Education of the Methodist Protestant Conference of North Carolina held a meeting held yesterday for the purpose of receiving propositions from various places offering a site for the location of the proposed M. P. College. Rev. T. M. Johnson, president of the North Carolina M. P. Conference, is presiding over the meeting, which was attended by all the members except Dr. F. R. Harris, of Henderson.

Propositions were received from Greensboro, Pinnacle, High Point, Oak Ridge, Graham, Liberty and Hillsboro, each one of these places sending a delegation before the meeting.

Our special committee of further investigation will report the result in full to the committee at a meeting in Greensboro on March 8th.

Judge Furgerson and Solicitor Brooks are proving a rapid team in disposing of the criminal docket. Yesterday there were 20 cases of confession or conviction of guilt by parties confined in jail. Most of these cases were for larceny and most of them negroes. The blind tiger and bawdy house cases here have grown a little less popular form of pursuit than formerly and there were only two of the former and none of the latter for trial.

Judge Furgerson is not making what the lawyers call "a bloody criminal court judge." His sentences are prompt and seem to fit the case, while conservative.

When the case against J. B. McMillan was called, Solicitor Brooks announced that defendant had written him a letter stating that he desired to plead guilty. McMillan is a young man who cut such a wide social and financial swathe here last fall under the pretense of being a capitalist and desiring to buy an interest in a big lumber business here. He fairly swelled it in hired automobiles, high priced traps, big hotel board, presents of diamond wedding presents and other like munificent gifts in proportion. He was arrested as he was getting out of a carriage at the hotel door on a charge of forgery, the evidence showing that he had drawn various checks and sums, one of them being for $15,000 in payment for an interest in the lumber manufacturing concern in which he had pretended to buy an interest. He got no money on this, but on the strength of this big check he had secured several hundred dollars and quite an amount of property. He was arrested as he was getting out of a carriage at the hotel door on a charge of forgery, the evidence showing that he had drawn various checks and sums, one of them being for $15,000 in payment for an interest in the lumber manufacturing concern in which he had pretended to buy an interest. He got no money on this, but on the strength of this big check he had secured several hundred dollars and quite an amount of property.

The telegraph flashed the news to the banks that checks he had cashed were forgeries or that he had no credit on the banks named at all. Before sentence was passed Mr. E. D. Broadhurst, in a very impressive appeal to the court, asked the judge to be as lenient as possible, stating that had the defendant not pleaded guilty there was a very grave doubt as to whether he could have been convicted under the indictment. That the young man was raised in luxury and in high social life in a distant State, and that he weakly succumbed to this habit of a lifetime of good living and good fellowship to commit a fraud, and that he was so considerate of the feelings of members of his family and their good name he had not let them know of his disgrace or informed them of his situation nor called on them for help in his trouble, praying to make his medicine and hold them suffer with him by knowledge of his condition, although he knew they would have rushed to his assistance and if possible his rescue. He asked the judge not to make a felon of the young man by condemning him to associate with felons, and suggested that the degradation of such a sentence would do him more harm than good. Solicitor Brooks stated that the young man had a record just as good as that of other places, and the protection of others required that he be dealt with at least with some severity.

Before passing sentence Judge Furgerson made some healthful and highly needed remarks, saying among other things: "I cannot agree with the implied suggestion of defendant's counsel that a man accustomed to good living and luxurious habits is in any sense ever to be excused for resorting to fraud or crime in order to retain his social position or to gain it in a new community when his accustomed source of luxury runs out. Neither do I subscribe to the idea that punishment for offences deliberately repeated committed can make a felon of a man. That punishment makes a felon, and not that the felon makes the punishment. It is a radically false and unhealthy idea of some philanthropists. Deliberate purpose to violate the law to defraud another and to practice a fraud on society is a very grave crime singly or collectively. In this case the three were combined. Every man who undertakes to live beyond his income and spends more than he has or than he makes, will some day do others a damage and is himself overtaken in wrong-doing, he never at first intended, unless he takes a grip on the instincts of character, shows his strength by curtailing out of preference, what so many have to do from honest necessity. It is to this young man's credit that he has no called upon his family or exposed them in this trouble. It is far better that he should be lost to those loving innocent ones, until he again becomes worthy of them. It is not true that a man is degraded by punishment. Degradation comes not from what others inflict in the form of legal punishment, but from what he inflicts upon himself, self-willed. The guilt of wrong-doing is the degradation and if this fact was more generally recognized and taught and emphasized, there would be fewer disgraces and surprises among respectable people in this whole country, officially and otherwise. This young man I consider to have committed gross offenses against society and has violated the law of commercial confidence. I shall sentence him to two years' hard labor on the public roads of Guilford county, feeling that I have been considerate to him rather than to the public." One of the most prominent attorneys at the bar, after the case was over, remarked that Judge Furgerson ought to have written his remarks out in bold type and hung as placards up in every church and school house in the United States.

The Matthews case will be called this morning, but no one now believes it will be tried in less than two weeks. The recent developments in regard to the analysis of the hypodermic syringe will very much complicate the case and the defense at least is preparing for a very different form of defense than the simple one of insanity. The publication of the story of the chemical analysis created widespread astonishment and surprise here. There are many opinions expressed in the matter, all agreeing that the case is completely revolutionized in consequence of the discovery that the powder in that tube was morphine and not strychnine. Dr. R. O. E. Davis, assistant professor of chemistry at the University of North Carolina, is the chemist who analyzed the contents of the syringe, and he arrived last night in response to a subpoena sent by the defendant. There is an interesting, if not sensational, story yet behind this analysis and the sources of its discovery by the defense, that may come out at the trial, and if not, had better not be told until after the trial is all over. A very eminent specialist arrived here this morning from Hartford, Conn. He is a witness for Defendant Matthews and is Dr. L. M. Crawford, the superintendent of a noted morphine insane asylum at Hartford. He is said to be an author of recognized authority on the subject of morphine insanity and poison, and is quoted by all writers and specialists in this line as a standard authority on the subject. Dr. McGee, superintendent of the North Carolina Insane Asylum at Raleigh, and several noted experts arrived last night to testify in behalf of the defense.

Deputy United States Marshal T. J. Millikan returned last night from Concord, where on yesterday he arrested Postmaster Patterson, of that place, upon a bill of indictment found in the present term of Federal Court in Asheville, charging him with abstracting letters from the mail.

The marriage of Miss Nella Rea Halladay, recently of Charlotte, and Mr. Arthur Grant Wood, of Detroit, Mich., will take place this afternoon at 5 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Halladay, 437 West Gaston street.

DON'T GO AROUND GROANING

It is Your Own Fault if You Continue to Suffer.

Why do you go around the house complaining, making yourself and everybody else miserable? It is your own fault if you suffer from Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout, or other painful troubles that come from bad blood. Science has at last found a complete palatable cure for all these diseases.

After years of careful study of the cause and cure of such diseases, RHEUMACIDE has been used in thousands of cases that were deemed incurable and has performed complete cures. RHEUMACIDE has cured after famous specialists have failed, and has cured a number of sufferers who spent months at the noted John Hopkins Hospital in vain.

The reason RHEUMACIDE cures when liniments, oils and other remedies have failed is that it goes right in to the seat of disease, sweeps the poisonous germs and acids out of the blood, and removes the cause. It "gets at the joints from the inside."

RHEUMACIDE builds up the entire system, and "makes you well all over." Mrs. Laura D. Gardner, of 1301 James street, Baltimore, was cured after she had suffered the most terrible torture for sixteen years. She writes: "People in my neighborhood, who I have lived for more than 29 years, will testify as to my condition before being cured by RHEUMACIDE. At times my suffering was so great I could not bear to be touched, and my clothing had to be torn from me. I write you this letter because I feel so grateful for the benefit I have received, and am daily recommending the medicine to my friends."

He is Misled.

The patrons of Woodall & Shepard miss the familiar face of Clifton Gallant. Clifton served this firm faithfully and well for over two years and was many friends while there. He was polite, kind, attentive and willing, and his friends are sorry that he saw fit to resign his position. May his lines fall in pleasant places.

Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.
