NEGRO ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Said His Wife was not Treating Him as She Should.

Britton Van Landingham, a negro living on the farm of Mr. W. D. Rock about three miles East of the city on the Monroe Road, attempted suicide yesterday afternoon.

The negro had made threats, telling his wife that he intended killing himself and for fear that he would she watched him closely and often sent one of the children wherever he went.

Shortly after the noon hour yesterday he left his house going in the direction of the creek with one of his children followed him. Upon arriving at the creek he drew from his pocket a pistol and aiming it at a tree fired. In the smoke of this shot he placed the revolver to his head and pulled the trigger, the ball passing through his hat and vapor portion of his skull. The wound was thought to have been fatal. Physicians were hurriedly summoned but the man was found to be in no immediate danger.

When asked why he shot himself, he said "I wanted to pass over. My wife ain't treating me right."

JOHN SHORT BOUND OVER IN $200 BOND

It is Claimed that the Cider he Sells is a Drunk-Producer. Several Witnesses Appeared Against Short at Recorder's Court.

John Finger has flew the coop some of the officers say, while others think his absence from court this morning was because he was not summoned.

Finger is the man who took up a collection for a dozen boys at the Highland Park mills and bought three gallons of cider which seems to have been the cause of the cutting scrape at the mill Thursday night.

The case against John Hawkes and Keene Bailey charged with cutting C. R. Pope, was not taken up but the defendants were witnesses in one of the cases against John Short, charged with selling intoxicants in the form of cider.

Both Bailey and Hawkes swore that the cider made them crazy, they having taken four or five glasses each. Will Young and other witnesses swore that the cider could be felt in its effects but they didn't seem to think themselves drunk from having taken it.

The evidence brought out in the case against Short was that John Finger had bought all of the cider—over three gallons—from Short, the members of the crowd, about 14, having chipped in and given the money to Finger to buy the cider for them. Finger wan, for some reason, not present this morning, and hence only the case of John Short could be dealt with. After the court was satisfied that he had sold the cider, he was bound over under a bond of $200.

Will Young, one of the witnesses against Short, was also a defendant in a case charging him with being drunk and disorderly. One witness said that when the officers were after Hawkes, Young shouted out "I'll be damned if Hawkes will go to town tonight."

Young was also charged with resisting an officer. His crime being a rather serious one he was fined $25 and costs, amounting in all to $28.15.

The court was presided over by Acting Recorder S. H. Hilton.

OF INTEREST TO CATHOLICS.

Cardinal Gibbons Explains Dispensing With Abstinence on Fridays.

A bit of interesting news to the Catholics of this city was the propagation of an order direct from the Pope to Cardinal Gibbons, regarding abstinence on Fridays.

The Pope's new order did away with abstinence yesterday, Friday, which was the day of the feast of St. Peter and St. Paul and abstinence on this day is something that has never before occurred during the present generation, so it is declared.

The reason why Pope Pius granted this special permission to the Catholics not to observe the usual abstinence on yesterday is that the day is a feast day and formerly was a holiday of obligation.

The usual custom of abstinence on Fridays from meat had its beginnings many centuries ago in the times of the apostles St. Peter and St. Paul. It was said that at first it was merely a pious custom, but gradually became a fixed law until today no Catholic is excused from the abstinence unless for reasons of health or on account of some sufficient reason.

For the above reasons and as the custom of Friday abstinence from meats is so deep-rooted in the minds of all Catholics the Pope's order regarding yesterday's lack of abstinence, was received as a great surprise to Catholics everywhere. The order requires non-abstinence but permitted those who wished to do so to omit abstinence on that day for the reasons stated above.

The order for Catholics in America came through Cardinal Gibbons.

COLUMBIA LOST.

She Tried Hard to Get Something That Columbia has.

Columbia has utterly failed to show the Southern Railway that she is entitled to the assistant general superintendent's office. A letter from a high official at Washington says:

"In the absence of the general manager, your telegram of June 25 has been referred to me. I assure you the Southern Railway appreciates the importance of Columbia in every way. We have now located in your city the headquarters of the superintendent of the Columbia division as well as the assistant superintendent."

"It is our intention to put the office of assistant general superintendent at Charlotte and remove the office of the superintendent now at Charlotte to Greenville; in other words, we are endeavoring to get our operating force so distributed as to give better supervision to the railroad."

Dividends Amount to $12,000.

Yesterday was the time for the meeting of the stockholders of the Commercial National Bank to hold their regular meeting to declare the semi-annual dividend of 6 per cent. on $200,000 making a total of $12,000 that will be mailed to the stockholders next week. The reports all showed that the bank's affairs were in excellent shape.

The officers are R. A. Dunn, president; W. R. Holt, vice-president; A. G. Brenizer, cashier, and A. T. Summey, assistant cashier.

Mesdames Tull and Fowler Better.

The news from Mrs. Joe Tull, who has been desperately ill in Birmingham is decidedly more favorable today.

Mrs. R. C. Moore received a telegram this morning stating that the crisis in Mrs. Tull's case had passed and that she thought she would now recover rapidly.

The telegram to Mrs. Moore also stated that Mrs. Fowler, who has been very ill with nervous prostration, is better.
