SOUTH CAROLINA CAMPAIGN CLOSING

COITON
New Orleans Times-Democrat Summary Cotton.

(Furnished by Gilbert & Clay of New Orleans, La.)
New Orleans, La., Aug. 17.—On the surface the talent gave but passing thought to the developments of a distinct note of pessimism in some of the cotton field reports, and a further decline was recorded through a mid-session reaction caused the recovery of part of the loss, and checked the more rampant enthusiasm. On the whole, professionals appear just about as bearish as ever, and small company of conservatives is gaining recruits slowly enough. Just where the turning point will be encountered is one of the darkest secrets of the cotton trade, but it is fully probable that once Americans cease deluging Liverpool with orders to sell the stuff the foreign market will evidence some kind of a reactionary tendency. Then too, careful students of the staple expect market conditions to exert a beneficial influence on speculative values, for the reason that basis broadening factors are now at work and none but radicals believe the interior will follow option fluctuations to the limit of speculative endurance. Should the farmers again stand pat, the about face will come in short order some day but mean while selling the other man's property is a very entertaining little game, and is not worrying anybody either.

New York Sun Summary Cotton.
(Furnished by Gilbert & Clay of New Orleans, La.)

New York, Aug. 17.—Cotton rallied from an early decline, and ended at about the closing prices of Wednesday. The recovery was traceable largely to covering of shorts and more or less new buying on the theory that a rally was due, after the severe decline and drastic limitation of late, and especially as the short interest is considered large. Liverpool sent somewhat better advices than expected, and the market here opened a shade higher. But leading interests again sold freely and prices soon weakened and declined with room traders selling. Spot interests sold too, and the South sent large selling orders. The weather was favorable in the main and the crop reports were of an encouraging tenor as a rule though some complaints of insect damage, shedding, etc., were received from the Southwest. Later on a slow rally set in owing to recovering by shorts, including some of the more prominent members of the bear party and there was also more or less buying for a turn on the long side by those who believed that the market was entitled to at least a temporary upturn, a view in which even some of the bears concurred. There are few however, who have faith in more than a moderate recovery, and even that may not occur. The weather and crop reports are so very generally favorable, that the bears apparently as confident as ever that the market must decline to a lower level.

Special The News.
Greenville, S. C., Aug. 17.—The South Carolina gubernatorial campaign closes at Greenville, Aug. 20th, the primary date being Aug. 28th. The contest has been hard fought, with the State dispensary as the main issue. The campaign coming right upon the conclusion of the work of the investigating committee, which uncovered in the administration of that institution all sorts of graft and rottenness, has been conducive to all kinds of ill feeling being several of the candidates for minor State offices, notably those of attorney general, contested for by Messrs. Lyon and Reggsdale, Mr. Lyon having been chief inquisitor during the hearings at the dispensary investigation.

But the main interest in the contest centers in the gubernatorial candidate, because upon the incoming executive will largely rest the burden of reforming or abolishing the State whiskey machine.

In the contest for governor there are eight candidates—Messrs. Ansel, Brunson, Sloan, McMahan, Manning, Edwards, Blease and Jones. Among these aspirants Mr. Ansel is the only one who has declared himself in favor of each county deciding for itself whether or not its people want dispensaries. He is a local option man, and opposed unalterably to the State machine. Blease and Manning are dispensary men. Manning wants some reforming done, but Blease says it is all right just as it is. Brunson and Jones are for iron-clad prohibition. Edwards and Sloan are willing to let the people do the leading and have all the opinions they are willing to follow. McMahan's hobby is State life insurance; and with arguments favoring his scheme he usually takes up all the time (ten minutes) allotted the gubernatorial candidates. So the contest narrows itself down to a run between Ansel and Manning, both lawyers, and popular in their own sections, either of whom would make an acceptable executive.

Ansel is a people's man—has always been a people's man. He does not attempt to "run with the hare and keep with the hounds," but he is straightforward and clear in his convictions. That's the main reason politicians have not secured him as a candidate. He is strong in the up-country and has legions of friends along the coast.

Manning, on the other hand, is little known up-State and on the coast, his stronghold being in the middle counties, where the dispensary still has friends.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the "straw" is drawn when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as "most people suppose."

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy, the mid-western, the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. See also pamphlet telling Home of Swamp-Root, and about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kime & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kime's Swamp-Root, and the address Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

A New Bern Marriage.
Special The News.
New Bern, Aug. 17.—Last Tuesday at 4 o'clock the handsome residence of Mrs. Henry Blidie Duffy on Pollock street was the scene of the most beautiful home marriage of the season. The contracting parties were Rev. Charles Wayland Blanchard, of Clayboro, and Mrs. Juliet Ann Duffy, of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John J. Douglas, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church. Delightful refreshments were served, a color scheme of green and white being observed. Among those in attendance from a distance were Misses Blanchard and Barnes, of Clayton, and Mr. White, of Clayton, Mrs. Peages, of Norfolk, Va. The bride was elegantly gowned in grey crepe de chine. The wedding march Tanhauser's, was played by Mrs. Brick, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard left on the steamer Neuse for a trip to Niagara Falls and other places of interest.

N. Y. Journal of Commerce Summary Dry Goods.
(Furnished by Gilbert & Clay of New Orleans, La.)

New York, August 17.—Buyers in the primary market were less eager for goods for the day but the relative falling off in trade was not as some factors looked for in the face of advancing prices for cloth and declining prices for cotton virtually while the business was going on. Many orders are in hand awaiting the appearance of goods that are now scarce. The trading is limited in many directions by the inability to secure goods for quick delivery, and there are many things that show that large quantities of goods will be wanted before the first of October.

A HEALING GOSPEL.
The Rev. J. C. Warren, pastor of Sharon Baptist Church, Belair, Ga., says of Electric Bitters: It is a God-send to mankind. It cured me of lame back, stiff joints, and complete physical collapse. I was so weak it took me half an hour to walk a mile. Two bottles of Electric Bitters have made me so strong I have just walked three miles in fifty minutes and feel like walking three more. It made a new man of me." Greatest remedy for weakness and all Stomach, Liver and Kidney complaints. Sold under guarantee at Woodall & Sheppard's drug store. Price 50c.
