Thinking on One's Ways

closes this week; those in charge hope that it will have become the most memorable in the annals of the noble old church in which it is being held. Each evening at 7:45 o'clock, three separate prayer meetings are held in the Sunday school rooms of the church, one for deacons of the church, one for the ladies, and a third for the Baraca class. Promptly at 8 o'clock the song service begins, and at its conclusion Dr. McDaniel delivers his sermon. The people of Charlotte, regardless of denomination, have a great but availed themselves of it.

The 59th and 60th verses of the 119th Psalm were selected as the text of the evening's discourse: "I thought on my ways and turned my feet unto thy testimonies. I made haste and delayed not to observe thy commandments." "Thought is the genesis of salvation," declared the speaker in part. "It was in the mind of God that the plan of salvation was conceived in eternity, as it was wrought out in time in the life of Jesus Christ. Some infidels claim to have become so from thinking, but they are wrong. It is from lack of thought. I would have high hopes of salvation of any of you who would consent to give thirty minutes earnest thought to the subject of your soul's eternal future."

"Mind can make a hell of heaven, a heaven of hell. Man is a thinking being and it is as such that God regards him. The whole plan, rewards, punishments, accountability, free will, is based on the fact that man is a thinker. As a man thinks so he is. "I thought, exclaims the Psalmist; but not on the multiplicity of denominations, and the consequent difficulty of making a selection among them. Some hesitators give this as a reason for not accepting Christ, forgetting that church membership is a matter of entirely secondary importance to your first business, is to settle your personal relationship to Jesus Christ, after which, there will be time for you to select your church affiliations."

"I thought, exclaims the Psalmist; but not upon the imperfections of church members. This stock argument is perhaps the most futile of all. Consider a moment. Suppose there were a church on this very spot composed of faultless and perfect members, could you join it? No, mortal as you are, you could not possibly be at home in such an organization. The church is the place for those who repent them of their sins and desire to lead lives of righteousness."

"If the church which you criticize is not perfect, then join it, and help to improve it. In my experience I have found the great majority of church members to be earnest and sincere. Now and then one does fall, like Lucifer, from heaven, and is conspicuous from the very fact that he is exceptional. We do not claim perfection for church members. In all ages they have helped to purify the world, although sharing the frailties which are common to the rest of mankind, and are continually growing towards the perfect model to be found in Jesus Christ."

"I thought, exclaims the Psalmist; but not that I was good enough already. The moral man has undoubtedly much to learn, but he is not to attempt to substitute morality for Christianity in vain. Morality, which is a good thing in itself, may prove a most disastrous quality by coming between you and Christ's salvation. You can be a moral man without being a Christian, but you cannot be a true Christian without being a moral man. Thus we see that Christianity embraces morality, and not that morality embraces Christianity."

"I thought, exclaims the Psalmist; but not of the probability of my failure should I attempt the Christian life. What sort of a business man is he, who, on entering upon a new enterprise, has his mind absorbed by the possibility of failure? What would his chance of success be worth? "We all of us abhor the hypocrite. But is that man a hypocrite who after dedicating his life to God, in some unguarded moment lets slip an oath, or overborne by the wiles of the devil, becomes intoxicated? No. It is not given to a soldier to win every battle, but the truest patriot is he who follows his country's flag, whether in victory or in defeat, whether in adversity or in prosperity, but ever follows the flag. The true Christian does not win every battle, but he follows the flag of Jesus Christ with undying and unwavering fealty. That man is of the stuff out of which Christians are made, who fights on in spite of fall after fall."

"I thought, exclaims the Psalmist, on my ways. A man is saved when he gets on a circle with God, and the entire remainder of the universe is excluded. When a sinner is converted, his own sins loom so large on the horizon that he is unable to see those of other people. "I thought on my ways and on my distance from God. We used to hear the older preachers speak of the "guilty distance." Any distance from God is a guilty distance. If you are headed in the wrong direction every step takes you further from your destination. Sinners are in the path that leads away from God, and every hour they spend in an unsaved condition increases the distance. "I thought upon the cause of this distance from God. "We came into the world without being consulted," is the argument of some, and our future is not our own responsibility, but God's. Ah, my friends, the cause of that distance is in your own heart. Sin springs from the freedom of the will. Here is a saintly mother, who has trained her boy in the ways of godliness. The boy forsakes his early training and goes wrong. No one, least of all the boy himself, would lay his downfall at his mother's door. It is the same with our Heavenly Father. "Shall not the judge of all the earth do right." God sends no one to hell. Every soul that goes there, does so by surmounting every barrier God

Almightly could put in its way, without destroying its free moral agency. "Thought is the genesis of salvation but not its culmination. Thought cannot of itself save a soul. Every sinner alive has already too long been breaking God's law, and declining Jesus Christ's free offer of salvation. It is high time to follow the Psalmist's example, and make haste and delay not to observe God's commandments."

RYAN CALLED.

Testifies in Hearing of Government's Suits Against American Tobacco Company. By Associated Press. New York, March 11.—Thomas F. Ryan, a witness in the hearing in the government's suit against the American Tobacco Company, said he was formerly director of the American Tobacco Company, and said the Consolidated Tobacco Company was organized to raise necessary capital to prosecute business in England, which required about $10,000,000. He said $30,000,000 was raised by members of the syndicate who took common stock of the Consolidated Tobacco Company thereafter at par without any bonus.

JEALOUSY THE CAUSE.

Young Woman Who Was Shot By Rival is Improving From Injuries.

Special to The News. Asheville, N. C., March 11.—Information received yesterday from Shelton Laurel as to the effect that Miss Ida Franklin, who was shot Friday by Miss Parzada Shelton, and who at that time was reported to have been fatally injured, now has a good chance for recovery, and it is understood that Miss Parzada, who is at present confined in jail in Tennessee, in which state she sought refuge after the shooting, will probably be released, as in the absence of any evidence of any secret assault, requisition papers will not be granted for the return of the accused to Madison county, North Carolina.

From the details received it appears that the shooting of Miss Franklin was prompted by jealousy; the two young women being rivals. It is alleged that Miss Parzada Shelton had threatened to kill Miss Franklin, and went to the Franklin home for that purpose. She was refused admittance, whereupon she opened fire through the door with a revolver of heavy calibre, one of the bullets striking Miss Franklin in the breast and inflicting what was at first thought to be a fatal wound. Miss Shelton mounting a horse started swiftly for the state line, and landed safely in Tennessee, but was arrested by deputy sheriffs who were close behind her. She was placed in jail in Tennessee, and held to await developments in Miss Franklin's condition.

Although application for requisition papers have been refused and Miss Shelton will probably be released in Tennessee, she will be arrested for assault with intent to kill should she ever return to Madison county. Miss Parzada Shelton is an exceptionally handsome young woman, and both she and Miss Franklin are members of prominent families in the Shelton-Laurel section, where the affair has caused much excitement.

Boston Banker Spent Last Eight Years in Misery

Carlton H. Hutchison, a leading banker and broker of Boston, with offices at 8 Congress Street, in that city, has recently come out with a very strong statement. In the widespread discussion over Cooper's new theory and medicines which has spread over the country so rapidly, Mr. Hutchison has taken the side of those who say that Cooper's theory is correct and his medicine all that he claims.

Mr. Hutchison's emphatic statement is as follows: "Anyone afflicted with chronic ill health and a general run-down condition cause by stomach trouble, who does not try this man Cooper's medicine, is very foolish. I say this after a most remarkable experience with the medicine. "I heard of Cooper's success first when he was in Chicago, as I have a private wire to that city in connection with my business. Later, when he came East, I learned more of him and his theory that stomach trouble causes most ill health. I have had no faith in anything not prescribed by a physician for each particular case after careful diagnosis, but after eight years of constant suffering, during which time I spent over $1,500 with absolutely no relief, I felt that it would at least do no harm to try the medicine which I was hearing so much about. "During these eight years I have been forced to go without solid food for five and six weeks at a time. I always had a sour stomach, was troubled with formation of gas, and led the usual miserable life of the dyspeptic. I was dull, tired, nervous and gloomy all the time, and was always constipated. "I have taken Cooper's medicine a comparatively short time. For the past month I have not had the slightest sign of stomach trouble. I can eat anything with no bad effect whatsoever. I have a fine appetite, am gaining flesh very rapidly, am cheerful, full of energy, and my nervousness has disappeared. My bowels are in perfect condition for the first time in eight years. "I don't hesitate to say that I would not take $50,000 and be back where I was. My relief and thankfulness is beyond description. "We sell Cooper's famous preparation described in the above statement.—R. H. Jordan & Co."

To-day's Markets

Bache & Co.'s Letter. New York, March 11.—The cotton market after opening at a decline of 1 to 4 points in response to cables, later advanced on short covering. Trading was quiet and the activity in the stock market did much to divert attention from cotton. May advanced to 10.70 and then reactionary tendencies developed with May sagging to 10.60 on little short selling. Weather conditions are very fine in the southwest and this helped to weaken the faith of some southern bulls. Many are becoming convinced that the price interests are either not heavily long of March and May or are out of the market. We believe cotton a sale at the bulges. J. S. Bache & Co.

IF YOU SUFFER FROM—Catarrh My advice is, take Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and Wash. I was a severe sufferer from catarrh of the head and ear. The discharge from the head and ear and nose was copious and very unpleasant. I suffered in that way for five years. I tried various treatments, which did me no good. Finally my physician advised me to try Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and Wash. I used seven bottles of the Remedy and used the Wash with a syringe for my nose and throat. It cured me. Scabs would form in my nose, which were almost unendurable, until by constant and hard blowing I would relieve myself. It was a fearful affliction. The cure was perfect, and I have never had any symptom of return, and my health is fine. (Miss) MOLLIE MILLER, Cornelius, N. C. March 16, 1905.
