BARITE IN GEORGIA.

A Commercial Deposit Discovered Near Cartersville.

A brief report on a deposit of barite near Cartersville, Ga., has just been published by the United States Geological Survey as a part of an advance chapter of Bulletin No. 340, which is entitled "Contributions to Economic Geology, 1907."

Barite, the sulphate of barium, one of the metallic elements, also called "heavy spar" and barytes, is used principally as a white pigment, but it is also employed in the manufacture of paper, cloth, and rubber.

The barite of the Cartersville region is closely associated with certain iron ores, and particularly with ocher. It is called by the miners the "flowers of ocher," and its presence in the residual soil of the region has been a means of tracing the other deposits.

At one place nearly 3 miles south-east of Cartersville barite has been mined for at least six months on a rather large scale, more than a thousand tons, valued at about $4000, having been taken out.

The Geological Survey's report on the deposit was prepared by Dr. C. W. Hayes, the chief geologist, and Mr. W. C. Phalen, who sketch the geology of the region, discuss briefly the origin of the mineral, and describe the deposit now worked and the method of mining. The pamphlet containing the report can be had by applying to the Director of the Survey at Washington, D. C.

"I understand that the Edmonsons have seen better days." "Yes, the old man had a job as clerk in a drug store in the days before the cash register had been invented."—Chicago Record Herald.

"Do you think a woman is ever justified in asking a man to kiss her?" queried the spinster. "A married woman is," rejoined the widow. "That is, if she wants her husband to kiss her at all."—Chicago News.

Big Piles Under Kky-Scraper

Gigantic Building is To Rest Upon a Sure Foundation. Making Tons Concrete Under Equitable Inspector's Eye.

Life and activity characterize the building and constructive work on and about Independence Square. The pick of the present is the most used tool. Besides the digging of the street work, the excavating of the skyscraper goes merrily along. Every few moments a stream of people is halted by a dash up to daylight—from the red deeps of the big hole in the ground—of eight good, sturdy, strong mules, hauling out a wagon load of bright red clay. As soon as the wagon is well out, the two lead mules are unhitched in a jiffy by a colored boy and down into the red hole they plunge, as into the mouth of some hungry titan, to help another load out. After they are back down in the hole the passers-by on the temporary boardwalk manage to proceed with their journey.

Making the Concrete. Meanwhile there is a buzz of machinery and a small rock crusher, run by the Southern Power Company's power, whirls around and around, mashing the stone that is being used in the making of the concrete for the foundations. As this is being made a man in overalls, with a keen glance and a most intelligent face, who seems to see a dozen different things at once, stands on a high platform and watches the progress of the building. This is Mr. Ernst, of New York, representative of the Equitable company, who will be present from the foundation to the turret over the twelfth story.

This fact alone is a guarantee that the building will be well constructed as any in the United States. Another would be that it is being built by Mr. J. A. Jones, who has forged to the front as one of the leading builders in the south. Mr. Jones' foreman, Mr. Jones, No. 2, is a man who knows his work thoroughly. He it was who superintended the difficult work of the Y. M. C. A. building, and it is amazing to see the effort he can get out of a force of hands during a 24-hours time.

Huge Pillars. Just now the most critical work of the building is being done. The foundations are being laid. Great yawning caverns six and eight feet deep, and eight feet square at the bottom, being coming somewhat smaller at the top, have been dug, and these are being filled with concrete, which hardens rapidly in the cold, moist earth and becomes adamant as time passes. The pits for this concrete in some places, at the bottom, reach out under the pavements, though at such a depth as not to interfere with the rooms of the basement, which will have skylights of glass over them in lieu of the present paving stones. The bottom of these concrete foundation pillars will be eight feet below the floor of the basement of the skyscraper.

Thus careful is it to make sure the foundations of the skyscraper in a city. The clay in which these huge pillars rest is of a strong, firm nature and experts have told the promoters of this building that it is as good a character of clay as is found anywhere.

MEN WANTED

No Man Over 45 Need Apply. There's the sign that's getting to be a common thing in America. Corporations are retiring men over 40. They are not hiring anyone over 40.

A balded man looks 10 years older than he is.

A man with gray hair always does. It is important nowadays that a man look as young as he is; it is vastly important that a man having a family dependent upon him should take care of his hair.

If you have dandruff—get rid of it by killing the germs.

If your hair is falling out—stop it. If your hair is turning gray—don't waste any time.

There is one sure remedy that will cure these misfortunes and aid you to remain young.

Parisian Sage, the great French Hair Restorer is guaranteed to permanently remove dandruff in two weeks, or your druggist will give you your money back.

Parisian Sage stops falling hair—it prevents the hair from turning gray. It is the best beautifier for ladies; hair as it makes harsh, lusterless hair fluffy, soft and beautiful and is not sticky or greasy.

Parisian Sage is sold and rigidly guaranteed by A. H. Jordan & Co. Price, 50 cents a bottle. If you do not live near a druggist who sells Parisian Sage, send us 50 cents, stamps or silver and we will send you a large bottle, charges prepaid. G. I. G. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

"SCRIPTS" MAY BE TAXED.

Twenty Five Cents on Each Would Bring in About $12,000.

In casting about for new sources of revenue several members of the Board of Aldermen, have suggested that a tax of 25 cents be put on each prescription for whiskey filed by the drug stores.

This matter will possibly come up at the next meeting of the board on Monday night for discussion.

Taking the prescriptions filed last year, which numbered about 20,000, as a basis, it will be seen that a tax of this kind would bring to the city something like $12,000 yearly, which would be quite a help to the city.

It has been suggested that graded tax be levied, as so much on a prescription for a pint, and more for a prescription for a quart, but it is thought that if anything is done in the matter, the tax will be fixed on each prescription irrespective of the amount called for.

PROHIBITION SPEAKING.

Many Anti-Saloon Orators Are Active on the Stump.

Anti-Saloon League speakers are scheduled for the following places:

Friday night, Shoemaker's Hall, North "D" street.

Saturday, Gilead Academy, at 2 o'clock.

Next week, Tuesday night, Tenth avenue Sunday school room, where an Anti-Saloon League will be formed.

Friday, April 2nd, Hickory Grove.

Celebrated 55th Birthday. Mr. J. D. Stilwell celebrated his 55th birthday at his home of No. 2 Liddell street on last Thursday. A sumptuous dinner was served to about 25 children, grandchildren and friends.

To-day's Markets

Hayward & Clark's Cotton Letter.

The cotton markets present a more solid appearance. The sweeping decline and in many instances, thoughtless selling seems stopped.

The trade is prepared to wait and see whether new conditions will produce a good effect. Of course the market is still exhausted and impressive to bear selling but there are more people inclined to consider chances for a change.

Liverpool was about 5 points better than day and held the improvement to the close. There was a good deal of selling here around the opening, but as New York did not break as during the past three days, shorts turned to buy back and May was pushed to 9.92.

Many think 10 cents will be about the limit of the reaction, but this depends very much on the effect of steeper future markets on trade in actual cotton.

From several points in the interior we hear of more demand for spots, and that weak holders have finished selling.

Private information from New York says that shorts are uneasy over the belief that a good deal of Mr. Price's May longs have, during the recent liquidation, passed into the hands of a leading spot house, which acquired thereby fuller control of the stock in that market.

Weather conditions during the past 26 hours were favorable. No precipitation is recorded. Forecasts say fair and colder.

The newspaper that touches the goal line is the one that is honestly conducted in the interests of the community it serves. It stands for political as well as moral righteousness. It protects its public from fraud, graft, and evil whenever it has the opportunity to do so. It wears no collar, is no man's organ, and doesn't flinch when danger threatens. It does its level best to help the people to think right, to do right to get the best there is out of life. It supports good men for office and opposes the unworthy even though they may be the nominee of its own party.

A newspaper of this kind after awhile wins the confidence and esteem of the public. People believe in it and take it to their hearts. It comes to them every morning or evening as a friend laden with good tidings. They feel that the news it brings is reliable and that its editorial opinions are honest even though they do not always agree with them.

Out of this intimate relationship comes good will, that most important of all newspaper assets which often represents nine tenths of its value.—Editor and Publisher.

Modern Conditions of Apprenticeship.

For a number of years past, employers in the iron trade in our part of the country have hired apprentices at 65 to 85 cents a day for the first year, "to learn the trade;" instead of taking an interest in these lads and teaching them a trade, they have put them on one class of work and kept them at it, relying upon foreign workmen for their skilled labor. They are thereby taking all ambition out of our native boys, who soon lose any interest in their trade. In the old days there was ambition among apprentices to see who could do the best work. I used to say many a night after all had gone home to practice on some difficult pattern.

Nowadays the apprentice does not stay his time out except in rare cases. The environment in the foundry and in the machine shop is such that he soon reaches the conviction that he has been and is being unfairly treated. His becomes discouraged, throws up his job, and goes out without a trade. Thus a great many bright men who would become skilled are lost to the industry; foreign workers take their places, bringing with them their laborious ideas; when they think the time is ripe, they try and squeeze the manufacturer by strikes, etc., and so the employer reaps what he has sown.—A New England Machinist, in The Engineering Magazine for April.

Indigestion Cured

Leesburg, N. C., May 3rd, 1905.

Several years ago I was suffering from indigestion. For three months I had to live on milk and bread. I could not touch meat or grease of any kind. If I would eat the smallest quantity of meat at night, I would not sleep a wink. I was just as weak and nervous as I could be, so nervous I could hardly pass a cup of coffee at the table. Eight bottles of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy cured me after the doctor's medicine failed.

JNO. R. PETTIGREW.
