Magnificent Showing Spring Styles Millinery

Magnificent showing Spring Styles Millinery, almost an entirely new display for Tuesday and Wednesday.

Although we have a much larger force in our Millinery Department, we are busier than ever before.

The beautiful hats from our trained and artistic designers are making a wonderful hit. We are daily told our Millinery Department eclipses anything in the state, and numbers tell us it looks like the New York stores.

All this doesn't change our policy of giving the best styles at moderate prices. This policy has built us up the largest Millinery business in the state and we propose to continue it.

We will be glad for you to come in any time. Entirely new styles Hats from our workroom every day.

Graham-Reeves Wedding.

Charlotte friends will be interested to know of the approaching marriage of Miss Susie Jordan Graham, of Greenville, S. C., to Mr. Richard Early Reeves, of New York city. It will take place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Graham, parents of the bride, on the 15th of April. The wedding will be a quiet one, on account of the bereavement in the family in the recent death of Miss Graham's uncle, Mr. R. H. Jordan, of this city. Miss Graham is a young woman of rare charm and sweetness of character. Mr. Reeves is a Greensboro, N. C., man, who has gone to New York to seek his fortune, and who has been very successful as a commission man there.

The following Charlotte girls are members of the Society: Misses Marguerite and Blaudia Springs, Nancy Brown, Lula Tallafiero, Sarah Jones and Maud Holt. The convention last year was held at Columbia, S. C., on which occasion the alumnae chapter of Charlotte and Concord urged that Charlotte be chosen as the next meeting place. Between 50 and 100 visiting members of the society are expected to be in attendance, representing chapters from Illinois to Florida. There are 14 active chapters and three inactive. The session of the convention will be held at the Selwyn hotel, concluding with a banquet the night of the last day.

Charlotte Souvenirs at Bazaar.

Mrs. S. V. Nuckols, of Lexington, Ky., recently visited her daughter, Mrs. Walter Annette, in this city and carried many souvenirs of Charlotte home with her, and will place them on exhibition at a big Confederate bazaar to be held in Louisville, Ky., next December. Mrs. Nuckols exhibited some of her collection at a meeting of the Daughters of the Confederacy in Lexington, held in the interest of the General Morgan monument fund.

Mrs. I. W. Jamison, organist of the Tenth Avenue Presbyterian church, will give an organ recital Thursday night. A small admission fee will be charged to help pay for the church music.

Mr. Curtis Lee Old, of Norfolk, Va., who spent several days in the city with Mr. and Mrs. George H. King, on North Tryon street, has returned home. Mr. Old has accepted a position as cashier under the receivers of the Jamestown Exposition.

CHARLOTTE GETS CONVENTION

Next Interstate Meeting Will be Held in New Y. M. C. A. Building.

"Charlotte gets the convention" was the way a telegram from Columbia read from Mr. H. J. Knebel to Secretary D. L. Probert this morning. This means that the Y. M. C. A. convention for the two states of North and South Carolina will be held here in the spring of 1909. A strong effort was made by the Charlotte delegation to land the convention, and it succeeded. The new building, considered by many the handsomest architecturally in this city will be the place of meeting.

Charlotte was signally honored in winning the honor of president of the Columbia convention for Mr. Robt. Glasgow.

The convention was considered one of the best ever held. A number of delegates returned today. The officers remained over to attend the employed officers conference held annually following the convention.

Womens Head Gear Galore

Belk Brothers And The Little - Long Company Will Display Scores of Beautifully Trimmed and Designed Hats.

The most important event of the present season among the women of Charlotte will be the "Spring Openings" of two popular stores—Belk Brothers and the Little-Long Company, beginning tomorrow morning and lasting for two or three days.

With the addition of extra work rooms and a doubled force of designers and trimmers who have been creating the latest designs in women's headgear for several weeks past, the doors of Belk's millinery department will be thrown open tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock on a magnificent display of millinery for spring wear. The regular patrons of this popular store have awaited the "Spring Opening" with keen anticipation, and out of an assortment of more than 500 hats, beautifully trimmed and designed, they are certain to have a surprise—a pleasant and agreeable one.

Miss Sarah Houston, who is in charge of this department, has been posted daily with the New York market and every new style with the latest designs have been added to her list. The added space for the trimmers and designers has been a great convenience to them; and for future use it is assured that orders will be executed promptly. The store was closed today, but inside the young ladies who will show the hats tomorrow have been busy decorating. The color scheme will be mainly in one color, yellow; though there will be a liberal profusion of Easter lilies and other fragrant cut flowers.

The opening will continue until Thursday night, and on Friday and Saturday the misses and children will be in attendance. The store invites all the misses and children in the city to attend on these days and inspect the hats and bonnets designed exclusively for them. The designers have given more attention to children's hats this year than ever before and they have created some real surprises.

The Little-Long Opening.

A great variety of lovely creations will be shown by the Little-Long millinery department at the opening tomorrow. Mrs. McDonald and her able corps of assistants are anticipating the finest opening in the history of the establishment. The display will be exhibited with its usual effectiveness and will doubtless draw the feminine element as a magnet draws steel filings. Hats for all ages—except old age—will be in the display. The firm never has any old age applicants for Easter bonnets. Every body is cordially invited.

DEATH OF MR. J. D. CLARK.

Young Man Succumbs to Acute Appendicitis.

Mr. John Dallas Clark, aged 29 years, died at his home on East Fourth street extension yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock from an acute attack of appendicitis.

Mr. Clark, who was a lineman for the Southern Bell Telephone Company, was at work Saturday, and on Saturday night he was taken suddenly ill, and the malady was too much for medical skill to abate.

Mr. Clark is survived by a widow and one child two years old; a father, Mr. W. D. S. Clark, who lives on South Caldwell street, and the following brothers and sisters: Messrs. William R., James F. and Charles H. Clark; Mrs. Emma Kinley, of Mineral Springs; Mrs. W. V. Elliott, of Dilworth; Misses Maybelle, Anna and Carrie Clark, of Charlotte.

Mr. Clark was a son of Mr. D. W. S. Clark, whose wife was a Miss Wolfe, a daughter of Haughton and Nancy Wolfe, who was a Cunningham. He therefore was connected with the two families of this name, which are very numerous in Providence and Pineville townships and in Union county.

PROHIBITION SPEAKING.

Messrs. McCall, Adams and O'Brien Plead the Cause.

Mr. J. D. McCall went down to Stouts Saturday night and addressed a large crowd on prohibition. Needless to say that those who attended were repaid for going out to hear Mr. McCall. They say he "shelled the woods."

Mr. T. A. Adams and Mr. Frank O'Brien spoke at the Woodmen hall at Hoskins-Chadwick mill Saturday night, to the anti-saloon league. A good crowd was present and much interest was shown in the cause of prohibition.

Golden Glory Cooking Oil.

Is Versatile.
AS A FRYING MEDIUM.
Hot, deep fat is the first requisite for perfect frying. The food must be submerged, and it must be seared quickly before the grease can soak in or the juices can soak out. Then it will cook tender, juicy, wholesome.

There is no way to do this with lard. It will burn before it reaches the proper temperature. All the dyspeptics in the world have been trying to do this for ages. They are dyspeptics still.

AS A BUTTER SAVER

No pudding, entree or sauce is just right without the addition of a delicate fat to give it "richness." Italian and French cooks surpass in such dishes.

THEY USE OIL.

American cooks use butter. This is a richness which makes for peevishness.

GOLDEN GLORY COOKING OIL

is better than butter for most of these dishes. One quart of GOLDEN GLORY COOKING OIL costs$0.25
Three lbs. cooking butter costs$1.05
SAVE MONEY USE GOLDEN GLORY COOKING OIL.
