The Need of a Country Club

"The D. A. Tompkins Company." "Charlotte, N. C., Dec. 19, 1908.

'Mr. W. S. Lee, "President The Greater Charlotte Club, Charlotte, N. C. "My Dear Mr. Lee:-

"The city of Charlotte has be come in all respects, except perhaps one or two, a well rounded and attractive city. We have good hotels and for the immediate present perhaps enough. The new steel frame office building; the new auditorium; the new sanatorium; and many other institutions, which are necessary to a well rounded city, have been built lately. There is however, one serious deficiency. The deficiency is one which does not involve much money, it is a country club with the usual commitants for recreation and rest and social intercourse. The tourist, who is usually a gentleman who has retired from business, cannot stay n a city, no matter how good the hotels, nor how good the surrounding roads, unless there is some place to go where people are not actually working,-ploughing, as it were the tourist (and his family are lonesome. "We have lately seen what Savannah accomplished by doing the few things necessary to attract a class of very desirable travel. I refer to the automobile tournament. "We need a country club some where near Charlotte where golf and the ordinary recreations of the tourist may be found. In truth, if we all knew it, we need it more for ourselves than for the tourist. Social intercourse is a very important function of any city's life and when the a city can be planted first on the middle ground with the tourist, and the traveler for health and recreation, the value is immeasureable increased.

"I would be very glad if the Charlotte Club would take hold of the subject and cause to be built a country club having the usual facilities for recreation and pleasure common to country clubs. I think that the country club in Augusta, Ga., is what makes that an attractive place in winter for such men as Mr. Taft, Mr. Rockefeller and others. The hotels there are good of course, but we have good hotels also. It is a fact that Augusta has a pleasant place for social intercourse, where her people and the tourist may meet and have something in common to do, and out of this half way meeting place comes permanent friendships and home friends.

"Yours truly, "D. A. TOMPKINS." The following committee was appointed to take up the matter of organizing the Charlotte Golf Club: D. A. Tompkins, chairman; Edgar B. Moore, C. B. Bryant, J. W. Conway, J. S. Cothran, Dr. B. C. Nalle, W. H. Wood. Thos. B. Whitted, J. E. Carson and E. P. Coles.

Castor Oil in Tablets.

A recent discovery that promises to be of great value to the medical profession is that of a process enabling oil to be put into powdered form. Practical use has already been made of this discovery by a German scientists who has succeeded in reducing castor oil, that wonderful, but generally disliked, aperient to a tasteless powder.

Castor oil was first discovered in 1764 by Peter Canvane, when it was immediately hailed by the medical world as one of the greatest discoveries. It is the best aperient or purgative, but its naseous taste has prevented its universal adoption. The new discovery has made it possible to eliminate the objectionable features of ordinary castor oil, without interfering with its restorative virtues. In fact, it is claimed by physicians that in the powdered state it is even superior to the oil, as it does not decompose in the stomach and does not repeat or gripe. Another great advantage of the powdered castor oil is that it can be mixed with milk or other liquid or any cereal food or pudding without being detected, and can thus be readily given to children when it cannot be in the ordinary state. Castor Oil in powdered form is now sold in the United States under the name of "Castor Lax" and is endorsed by the highest medical au-
