

Detectives Have Leon Ling In Schenectady

Girls' Father... Restaurant Keeper... Story in Detail as to... by Wire.

After Following Many False Clues, Police of Up State Town Land A Man Fitting Description of Leon.

ALLEGED MURDERER HAS BEEN CAPTURED.

Schenectady, N. Y., June 21.—A Chinaman giving his name as Leon Ling, but meeting in every way the description of William H. Leo, wanted for the Sigel murder in New York, was taken into custody here. He came here nine days ago and has been cooking in a chop suey place. Police are positive he is the man wanted.

Washington, D. C., June 21.—Leon Ling, the Chinese convert now being sought as the alleged slayer of Elsie Sigel, is reported to have been in Washington last Wednesday and Thursday in company with his room-mate, Chung Sing and a white woman whose identity is a mystery.

Mysterious Woman in the Case. The woman, it is said, lodged two nights with a family on C street, northwest, near Third street, and left there on Thursday night in company with the Chinese.

Alleged Murderer Identified. Members of the family identified photographs of Leon Ling and Chung Sing as businesses of the men who called for her.

No Clues in New York. New York, June 21.—All clues to the whereabouts of Leon Ling, the Chinaman in whose room the body of Elsie Sigel was found Friday, were investigated by the New York police today when Leon was still at liberty and his hiding place unknown.

Leon Threatened to Kill Chu. New York, June 21.—A fact that Leon Ling called at the Sigel home the day before Miss Sigel disappeared and threatened to kill Chu Gain unless Elsie, stopped going with him, was made known today by Paul Sigel, the father of the murdered girl.

Washington Clue Busted. Washington, June 21.—Police now say that a Chinaman said to closely resemble Leon and Chung Sing were Japanese connected with local amusement resort.

Schenectady, N. Y., June 21.—The Chinaman arrested here denies that he murdered Miss Sigel.

KILLED IN AUTO CRASH.

Supt. James H. Cobb was Well Known in This City. News of the death in an auto accident Sunday of Mr. James H. Cobb, superintendent of the Belton Cotton Mills, at Brazeele's crossing, Anderson, S. C., was learned in this city with profound regret.

The auto in which Mr. Carr was riding was about to cross the track of the Anderson Traction Company, in front of an approaching car. He had plenty of time to do so but when the front wheels of the auto-car struck the track, in some way the engine was stopped, and the car, now on the track, was hit by the trolley.

Mr. Cobb was thrown violently out and his skull crushed in several places. Rev. D. D. Richardson, of the Second Baptist church, of Belton, and Rev. E. A. McDowell, of Ninety-Six, were seriously hurt.

Mr. Miller Robertson, of Augusta, special agent of the Phoenix Ins. Co., of Hartford is in town.

FAYETTEVILLE CELEBRATES ON A BIG SCALE

Special to The News. Fayetteville, N. C., June 21.—Fayetteville today is entertaining ten thousand visitors from adjoining towns and counties. Late yesterday afternoon and up to noon today specials and regular scheduled trains have emptied loads of people into the city, and they were met respectively by delegations and heartily welcomed.

At eleven forty-five today, the grand parade was formed and passed down Hay street which was lined for over a mile with spectators. The procession was headed by the speaker of the occasion, Judge Walter Clark, Maj. E. J. Hsie, Rev. I. W. Hughes, Chaplain Company F. Followed by over two thousand veterans, and militia from Cape Fear section, behind those came beautifully decorated floats crowded with fair ladies, automobiles and other conveyances.

An incident that figured most conspicuous in the parade was the antique carriage which conveyed the Marquis de La Fayette into Fayetteville in 1825.

A grand dinner was given by the citizens in honor of the visitors and over two thousand were seated at the tables in the spacious armory.

DEFENSE RESTED ITS CASE IN THE BIGGERS' TRIAL AT NOON--STATE'S WITNESSES

A Number of People Who Saw the Defendant Before the Shooting of Mr. J. Green Hood Saw No Evidence of Insanity.

Dr. J. P. Munroe and Others Answer Defense's Hypothetical Question by Saying Accused Would be Insane Under Conditions.

The introduction of many witnesses who testified that they believed Biggers was insane before the killing of J. Green Hood, the defense rested at 12 o'clock today and the state began to introduce its evidence.

The defense has undeniably made out a strong case of insanity. The state had seemingly made no great trench in this roll of evidence at the adjournment for dinner.

The expert witnesses which have already testified will also be recalled and this question propounded to them. It is possible that this stage of the proceedings will be reached this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

Dr. W. H. Spilman was the first witness placed on the stand this morning and testified to the good and peaceable character of the defendant. He said he had seen Mr. Biggers frequently for three or four years and had always considered him as an industrious and peaceable man.

Dr. Crowell on the Stand. Dr. A. J. Crowell was next called to the stand and in answer to the hypothetical question propounded to him stated that he believed the defendant to be insane at the time of the killing.

In some things. Asked if he believed that Biggers knew he was doing wrong when he shot Hood he stated that he did not believe he thought he was doing wrong.

Dr. Crowell said that he saw Mrs. Biggers shortly after the shooting and that when he went in Mrs. Biggers was sitting in a rocking chair wringing her hands and saying how could she stand it, that she had been trying to get him to sleep for several nights and had not slept any herself.

Did Biggers make any statement to take his appearance for that of an insane person? When a man has taken drugs to that extent he is more than apt to be unbalanced as a result.

Mrs. Alien White. When did you see Biggers last? On Monday night preceding the shooting. I did not hear him talk. I saw him at my home in January. He wished to see Mr. White and I told him he had gone to work.

you at the time he was going into the J. G. Hood company about the business? Yes; I met him and asked him if he was not making a mistake by selling his land and going into the mercantile business. He said no, that Hood was a fine business man.

Doctor, in what things do you think Biggers knew right from wrong? I couldn't specify any particulars. I think every insane man knows some things are wrong.

And that he didn't know right from wrong? And if a man should shoot down his enemy against whom he had a grudge would it not be strong proof that he knew right from wrong?

Your opinion is that Mr. Biggers was laboring under a grievance against Hood and was brooding over the trouble when he shot him down?

Do you believe that when he said I have done what I meant to do, he knew what he was saying? Yes, but I don't believe he realized the importance or gravity of his act.

Doctor, there are drugs which when used will affect a man's eyes and make the man appear wild? Yes.

You think a layman may look at the expression on a man's face who has been taking these drugs and mis-

Defense Rests In Gould Case--Great Surprise

STATE BRINGS IN ITS WITNESSES

Mr. O. W. Shaw was the first witness called to the stand by the state this afternoon. He said that he was a juror in the Mullis insanity case in January and was asked to serve by Mr. Biggers. From your conversations with him state whether or not in your opinion he was insane?

Mr. Nedham Alexander. Mr. Needham Alexander said he saw the defendant on Monday morning near the law building leading a horse. In looking at him and from what he said to you in your opinion was he sane or insane?

Mr. James Renfrow said that he had known the defendant four or five years. I saw him Friday before the homicide between 9 and 10 o'clock.

Mr. J. E. Hunter. State if you saw the killing and what was said. I saw the last two shots. I went up to Biggers. He handed me the pistol and said he would offer no resistance.

Did Mr. Biggers know you at the time? State whether or not he called your name when he asked you to see his attorneys.

What was his condition on the way to the cell? He was very wild. Immediately after he was put into the cell what was he doing?

He appeared very excited and nervous. Did you form any opinion of his mental condition at the time he was arrested, did you? No, you never sent for his attorneys, did you?

No, I told Mr. Orr. What is his general reputation? Good.

Prosecution is Surprised and Unprepared When Defense Rested its Case This Morning--Mr. Nicoll Says Case is Done.

Defense Reads Deposition of Mrs. Bankhead of Georgia Who Was Guest of Mrs. Gould in Cairo.

By Associated Press. New York, June 21.—When Justice Dowling opened court for the continuance of the trial of Katherine Clemmons Gould's suit for separation, the defense sprung a surprise by announcing that it rested its case.

Delaney Nicoll, counsel for Mr. Gould declared that on looking over the testimony that had been presented he found it so replete with evidence to establish the contention of the defense that Mr. Gould was justified in separation from his wife that he believed it unnecessary to call any more witnesses.

Attorneys for Mrs. Gould told the court Mr. Nicoll's announcement had taken him by surprise and that he had no witnesses at hand at the moment to put on the stand in rebuttal. With the court's consent, however, he said, he would read depositions of witnesses taken in preparing the case for trial.

Defense Rests. New York, June 21.—The first deposition taken up by Mrs. Gould's counsel was that of Mrs. Alice S. Bankhead of Atlanta, Ga., who visited Mrs. Gould on numerous occasions.

She said she was the guest of Mrs. Gould in Cairo, Egypt in 1902, when the party visited Khedive's palace and described Mrs. Gould's conduct as "Lady like and above reproach." She also said her conduct on the yacht from Cairo to Alexandria was "perfect and beyond criticism."

According to Mrs. Bankhead, Mrs. Gould was never intoxicated on this trip. She also deposed that she had never seen Mrs. Gould intoxicated at Castle Gould or Hotel St. Regis during her visits there.

She never heard her swear or use improper language. New York, June 21.—Mrs. Katherine Clemmons Gould, who is suing her husband for separation and alimony, said today that she had obtained evidence to refute the testimony of employees of the Hotel Bellevue-Stratford, who testified that they saw Dustin Farnum leave her apartments one morning, during her stay at the Philadelphia hotel in 1906.

The defense continued to call witnesses to show the plaintiff's alleged misconduct, in support of their contention that Howard Gould was justified in living apart from his wife since July 1st, 1906.

Lieutenant Bankhead Good Witness. Mrs. Gould's counsel read deposition of Lieutenant Bankhead, who said he was the son of Senator Bankhead, of Alabama. That he had never seen Mrs. Gould intoxicated or observed that her conduct was indecorous or unladylike during the visits of himself and wife to the Gould estates and at the hotels here.

SENATOR WARREN SAYS SENATE HAS BEEN INSULTED

Washington, June 21.—Continuing his advocacy of the tariff on hides, when the tariff bill was taken up at the beginning in the senate, Senator Warren, of Wyoming, declared the senate had been "injured and insulted" by the man who is seeking free hides, had declared that the duty on hides had been put in the Dingley bill by some "midnight" process. He proceeded to present the facts intended to show the value of hides and to prove that the duty on that part of the Bovine would be of material benefit to the farmers.
