Wilmington Weddings

Wilmington, Nov. 26.—Wednesday afternoon at 6 o'clock one of the prettiest home weddings of the season took place when Miss Maria Burgwin, daughter of Mrs. Sarah Maffitt, became the bride of Mr. John J. Parker of Monroe, N. C. The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. E. H. Milton, D. D., rector of Saint Andrew's church at the home of the bride's mother, 327 South Fourth street, which was beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums and candles. The wedding cake was rendered by Miss Julia Hill to the strains of which the bride entered the parlor where the ceremony was performed.

The bride was very becomingly dressed in white messaline trimmed with pearls, her veil caught up with white ribbons. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, Miss Sara Maffitt, sister of the bride, wore a gown of pink and carried pink carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Caroline Pender, sister of the groom, wore white and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The groom, Mr. L. L. Parker, a cousin of the bride, was best man, and the groomsmen were Mr. C. F. Dexter, of Hampton, Va.

Following the ceremony a reception was given the bridal party at the home of the bride's mother and was a delightful event. Mr. and Mrs. Parker left on the evening train for a bridal tour to Florida in the north and upon their return will be at home in Monroe, La.

Kenly-Humphreys.
One of the prettiest weddings of the season was that of Mr. Raymond Humphreys to Miss Lillian Kenly. Both prominent in social circles here. They left for a bridal tour in Cuba.

Canady-Woodville.
Many friends will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Rosa Lee Canady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Canady, of Scott's Hill and Mr. G. H. Woodville, a prominent business man of that community, which was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, at 8 O'Connell Wednesday night, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Mr. Rogers, the bride's pastor. It was a very quiet home affair and the ceremony was witnessed by only a few relatives and intimate friends. Mr. and Mrs. Woodville will reside at Scott's Hill where they are very popular in wide circles of friends, who extend congratulations and best wishes.

Meier-Gallagher.
To the presence of a number of relatives and friends Miss Maria Louise Meier, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meier, and Mr. Fred Meier, Mercer Gallagher, a well known young man of this city, were happily united in marriage at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. The ceremony was

Gaffney

Gaffney, Nov. 26.—Thanksgiving in Gaffney was a rather lively affair as far as the social part of the city was concerned. There were a large number of dinners and dances given by different people.

The young men of the city tendered a delightful ball to the young ladies and the visitors at the ball room over the National bank on Thanksgiving evening. The affair was most pleasant and lasted into the wee small hours of the morning. The ball room was prettily decorated for the occasion and delicious refreshment stands were placed in cozy nooks and corners. The music for the occasion was furnished by the Gaffney orchestra.

Pace-Taylor.
Wilson, Nov. 26.—A wedding of interest to the people in this part of the state was solemnized in St. Timothy's church Wednesday at high noon. Mr. William Easley Pace and Miss Mildred R. Taylor, well known and popular young people of this city, were married by Rev. Evan Alexander Edwards, rector of St. Timothy's. The groom, who is a son of Mrs. E. M. Pace, is connected with the Branch Packing Company, and is a promising and popular business man. The bride is a sister of Mr. W. R. Taylor and of Mrs. S. W. Smith, and a daughter of the late M. R. Taylor, of Oxford. Both are members of St. Timothy's choir.

Miss Millie S. Beard, of Raleigh, a friend of the bride, was organist, Miss May White, of Oxford, was maid of honor. The ushers were Messrs. E. T. Barnes, S. W. Smith and B. T. Smith, of Wilson, and Mr. A. H. Taylor, of Oxford, the latter being a brother of the bride.

The church was filled with friends and relatives of the contracting parties, and the altar was ablaze with candles, while white chrysanthemums were placed in the sanctuary. After the betrothal, which took place at the chancel steps, the clergyman and wedding party, preceded by the acolytes, proceeded to the altar steps, where the remainder of the service was said. After a week in New York, Mr. and Mrs. Pace will be in Wilson.

BRIEFS.
—Tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock the Young People's Society of St. Mark's Lutheran church will have their Thanksgiving service. Rev. R. A. Goodman, of Spencer, will deliver their principal address. An exceedingly interesting and profitable evening is expected. Everybody welcome.

—Messrs. Knox Phagan and W. C. Shurley, of the Union National Bank, of Rock Hill, were intown yesterday. They came to witness the Wake Forest Davidson football game and will return to Rock Hill tonight.

—No young man believes he shall ever die.—John Hazlett.

Shot A Man Accidentally

Spartanburg, S. C., Nov. 26.—Three negroes were walking single file in a narrow path today when the one in the rear sought to frighten the other two by pulling the trigger of the rifle which the one in the center carried. He scared them both for proper.

The gun was discharged and the ball struck the front negro in the shoulder inflicting a very painful wound while the weapon was knocked from the hands of the middle negro. Willie Sheppard was the one shot, but physicians were summoned to the scene and removed the bullet. Willie will be well in a short time, but the other negro, it is not thought, will play any such jokes again.

Wed Beside the Dead.

Bath, Pa., Nov. 26.—Rather than postpone their wedding the third time, Sylvanus J. Fehnel and Hattie M. Abel were married beside the coffin of the former's mother at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening.

The bride's prior attack of typhoid fever and the death of Fehnel's mother previously postponed the nuptials.

Quaker Gowns Coming Style

London, Nov. 26.—"Quaker" gowns are the coming vogue among fashionable women here. The mode has been started by the charming costumes worn in the new musical comedy "The Quaker Girl" at the Adelphi theatre. In the play a French modiste, lighting upon the Quaker dress in an English village, vows that she will make it the rage in Paris. In the second act which takes place in the French capital, she shows how she has kept her word.

The gowns worn are mercerized Quaker dresses, and, as they are not extravagantly designed, the girl of today could wear them without attracting undue notice. They are a beautiful shade of gray, trimmed with real lace and the aprons are of chiffon, edged with lace. The caps, too, are of lace, and over them are worn the typical Quaker hats. The big lace collars lend a touch of picturesqueness to the costumes, which are calculated to prolong the life of the hobble skirt rather than otherwise.

The Churches and World Peace.

It has been well said that if the so-called "Christian Powers" were to determine upon world-peace, there would be an end of war. The churches are taking up the question of arbitration in earnest. At the Interdenominational Ministerial Conference held in the Marble Collegiate Church in New York City, a few days ago, resolutions were adopted urging a concerted movement among Christians everywhere for world-peace. Secretary Knox, of the war and the establishment of an Arbitral Court of Nations with power to enforce its decisions. It is suggested that this should be the theme of their sermons on Christmas Sunday, and we heartily approve the proposition. There could be no more fitting time for this than on the world's gladdest day—the anniversary of the birth of the Prince of Peace.—Geo. H. Sandison, in The Christian Herald.

Plays His Annual Game of Pool.

Panthersboro, N. J., Nov. 26.—Charles Cowgill played his annual game of pool Wednesday. He is nearing his 85th birthday and has kept up the practice of playing one game a year for 25 years. In his younger days he used to pitch one game of quarts a year.

The forger can't say that he doesn't know write from wrong.

MRS. G. S. MULLINER.

Mrs. Gabrielle Stewart Mulliner, lawyer, officer of many women's clubs, and author of the movement which resulted in a separate court for women. In court recently Mrs. Mulliner, in arguing her clients case told the judge that she believed that when a woman takes a husband for better or worse she should be willing to accept the worst if it comes. She explained that her client had been sick and out of work and that every time he got a job his wife hailed him before a magistrate which resulted in his losing the position.

"This woman married my client and vowed to stand by him for better or worse. If she was still living with him and he had no money she'd have to make the best of it. She'd have to share her part of the burden. Now that she is separated from him it seems that the law says she may sit by and do nothing while he must pay for her support, whether he can or not. Will your honor permit such a law to send a man to jail?"

The justice told her he was powerless to order the alimony discontinued and adjourned the motion until a later date.

Killed Standing by Wreck.

Pittsburg, Nov. 26.—One man was killed and two seriously scalded as the result of an accident to a freight train on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Manor Thursday.

The crown sheet of a freight locomotive blew out and seriously scalded J. O. Griffith, 29 years old, fireman, of Altoona, and J. E. McSeaders, 44 years old, engineer, of Altoona.

While standing near the wreckage A. E. Roche, a brakeman of the freight train, was struck and killed by a passenger train.

Queen Killed by Poison.

New York, Nov. 26.—"Queen," the oldest elephant in captivity, aged 87, was executed in Jersey City yesterday afternoon. She was put to death by cyanide of potassium, administered in a big red apple which Queen ate with apparent relish. Death was almost instantaneous and the audience of 100 was given neither thrills nor pangs of horror.

Queen was the second largest elephant in captivity. She had long had a bad reputation and when on October 20 she took Keeper Robert Shields up in her trunk and battered his brains out against the wall of her stall, afterward kneeling on the body and crushing it, her owner, Frank A. Robbins, the circus man, decreed her death. The execution took place on the Bartel Wild Animal Farm in Jersey City.

White Slavers Convicted.

Pittsburg, Nov. 26.—Jesse Bluestone, former state legislator, and Samuel Mosenson were yesterday found guilty in the criminal court of conspiracy to violate the state "white slave" law.

Sentence was postponed by the court. The charges on which the men were convicted were by Abe Weiner, brother of 18-year-old Rachel Weiner.

Discover Loved One Was Burglar.

Jersey City, Nov. 26.—When Charles W. Meyer kissed his young wife and mother each evening a she went to work they thought he was going to a glass factory in New York to work, but yesterday the police told them that his work was robbery. The news of his arrest prostrated both women, and his wife, to whom he was married a short time ago, is hysterical. The police have a suitcase full of jewelry which they say Myers stole from several Jersey City homes.

Gold Book in His Watch.

Allentown, Pa., Nov. 26.—At a Thanksgiving eve celebration by Ralph Temple, Knights of the Mystic Shrine, at Reading, a surprise was sprung on illustrious Potentate A. L. Reichenbach, City Treasurer of Allentown, through the presentation of a costly gold watch. His Masonic record is inscribed on leaves of gold, which fold like a book inside the timepiece. His chapter work is on the face and on the reverse is the thirty-second degree aegis. The presentation speech was made by J. Lew Take.

Mr. W. D. Gaster III.
Fayetteville, Nov. 26.—Mr. W. D. Gaster was taken ill at his farm near Jonesboro and Mr. David Gaster and Miss Katie Gaster have hurried to him.
