One of the most enjoyable dances given during the holiday season was the one last Friday evening, January 13th, at Eastfield Heights by Col. Bob Wallace.

Once a year and some times oftner the genial colonel has his young friends "Come over to a dance." And indeed the ones who are invited are fortunate. The dancing always begins just after dark and the first intermission is when the old hall clock peals out the mid-night hour. The doors of the dining room are thrown open and a genuine old time supper is to prevail in general business in the to the influence of activity in the in vestment market; most pronounced in bonds, with stocks following along pleasantly; because business itself has shown little, if anything, in the way of actual improvement, which could be called encouraging. The decision of the New England spinners to stop 2,-500,000 spindles shows perhaps the thus far, has been largely produced by the comparative etse in money and in the prospects for money. This is a circumstance which did not pertain to the attempt in October to push up prices, and as far as it goes, is of much assistance in the present movement. There had been some expecreduce its rate this week from 4 1-2 per cent. This expectation was framed on the easier situation in the London discount market, where a 3 per cent to 3 1-2 per cent rate prevailed. The bank, however, maintained the 4 1-2 per cent rate, but its weekly rerecording a reduction in loans of $3,-300,000, an increase in gold of nearly $9,000,000, and a proportion of reserves to liability of 51.23 per cent, which figures are higher for this period than at any time for eleven years. The French bank, also, showed improvement, as did the Bank of Germany, The currency tide from the west has southwest has added its part. Such output of new securities as has been made has been readily absorbed almost greedily. The evidence is for a very large amount of issues of all kinds, eager to take advantage of the tendency towards much easy money. While this lasts the activity engendered, will reflect itself in the security markets, with indications that the advance may continue for a time, at

By THOMAS C. SHOTWELL.

New York, Jan. 21.-Stocks were irregular throughout the session today, but the close was without pronounced weakness. Some of the fraders took Special to The Sunday profits, but the volume of business was such as to make it evident that no great liquidation was in progress. In season occurred Tuesda fact, some specialties advanced. The when Mrs. T. F. White en close was at about the low prices of her home on West Fron the session.

The bank statement showed an important gain in surplus, while deposits of Rock Hill, S. C. Four increased more than $30,000,000 in the thrown open to the guesis annual statement. Public realization of the world-wide ease in money was perhaps the most important feature of last week in financial circles. With this came announcement of the details of Senator Aldrich's plan for reforming the curproper lines, as worked out by the ex-Mr. Charles Cline, Miss Lila Cochrane perience of several nations, that it met at the home of the brid with almost universal approval.

Expectation is that with some minor intended as a surprise for changes in detail the plan will be accepted. It will take care of the pres-Miss Alice Ewart with Mr. Press ent currency and bond issues and will Watts. Mr. Jim Ohler, Miss Mamie Garrison made regarding restriction of production by the leather trust, the steel Mrs. Joe Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. trust, the copper trust and the spinning trust. The announcement by the last named, through the medium of the Arkwright Club, of Boston, was a most astonishing defiance of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The Arkwright Club states that its members have conspired to reduce urday afternoon by Mrs. D. S. Thomas their output 25 per cent, thus stop- at her spacious home on Harrill street ping 2,500,000 spindles. There had been no indictments on account of any of these conspiracies up to the close of business for the week. Official announcement was made that steel wages will stand so long as steel prices remain what they are.

Reargument of the cases of the Standard Oil and American Tobacco was finished before the supreme court, and decisions are expected not later than April. These decisions are believed in Wall Street to have been discounted in the stock market, but it Rice. is known that Standard Oil bankers are fearful that any break in the market accompanying them might be attributed to the trust. It is believed, therefore, that if Standard Oil does anything at all on that occasion in the stock market it will be in the way of preventing a break.

Reading stock was a pillar of strength throughout the week. Rumors that Canadian Pacific might increase its capital $20,000.000 caused a sharp advance in the price of that stock, a new high record being made. Norfolk & Western was another strong stock. It rose on rumors that a dividend would be guaranteed by the Pennsylvania, the latter taking a lease of the company. This is denied by interests identified with the Pennsylvania, who say Norfolk & Western is rising because of its intrinsic merit and not because anything would be done in the future to bring about a closer alliance with the Pennsylvania. Central Leather stockholders and those of the American Beet Sugar Co. have become impatient at the rich profits made by directors and officers of their companies in the stock market and are demanding that the rumors of dividends be stopped and that actual dividends take their place. Both companies are earning enough to pay dividends, the net profits of the sugar company being not less than 12 per cent on the common stock. Committees of stockholders in both these concerns will make formal demands in the near future for action on dividends. Directors of corporations are learning that it is no longer advisable to deprive the stockholder of a fair share of profits, whether these profits be derived from transactions in the business for which the corporation is organized or are made on the floor of the stock exchange. Accumulation of North American stock has been going on for several months, and the latest report is that the company will figure largely in the great copper merger, which is being held in abeyance until the supreme court renders decisions in the tobacco and oil cases.
