A primary object of the association is to look after the aesthetic side of bill posting and to frown upon the placing of unsightly and glaring posters.

The Middle Atlantic states branch of the association was organized at Jamestown, Va., during the exposition there in 1907. The national association has a membership of about 3,500 members. The Middle Atlantic states division has 337 members and represents 150 towns.

Jelly and Pickle Shower.

A bride of this month had a most practical and acceptable shower given her. The guests each brought either a glass or a jar of some kind of pickles or relish; recipes for each accompanied the gift and the hostess presented an aluminum preserving kettle with a spoon of the same material. Hot buttered toast, orange marmalade and tea was served, with candied ginger and peppermints. The room was decorated with nasturtiums.

Bath and Laundry Shower.

A much feted bride had been seemingly every kind of a shower, finally a clever young matron proposed a "bath and laundry" affair and it was a great success.

The twenty guests consulted beforehand, so there were no duplicates. Here is a partial list of the gifts: Clothes line, 7 dozen clothes pins, a bag of same made of denim, the name nearly outlined in red, all kinds of starch, a hamper for soiled linen, laundry and bath soap, bath towels, a dozen wash cloths, bath brush, an ironing board, white felt to cover it, several laundry bags for handkerchiefs and collars and cuffs; these were being worked in colors. An electric iron would be a fine addition if the expense is not too much, also a good sized clothes basket, and an apron of waterproof material. Oh, yes, I forgot, bath ball and bottle bluing, ironing holders, irons, rest and wax.

New Animal Party.

There were only fifteen guests, but from the hilarity, one would think

A "Five and Ten Cent" Shower.

Encountering a bevy of girls the other day with "Polly" at their head, all giggling and fairly bubbling over with suppressed excitement, I headed off the procession to be literally run into by the same number of boys. It seems that "one of the girls" who is to be a June bride objected seriously to "showers" as she feared to tax the pocketbooks of her friends, so she firmly declined to accept any. But "Polly," always in for a lark, had gathered the clan and they were all going to the "Five and Ten Cent" each selecting one article and then all were to go to the home of the bride-to-be and proceed to "shower" in the good old-fashioned way. An obliging friend was calling upon the unsuspecting victim and had promised to stay until "Polly" came. They had ordered refreshments sent from a nearby caterer and were just having the time of their lives, as one of the lads expressed it. I next saw the bunch loaded down with all sorts of parcels, including a sprinkling can, carpet beater, clothes line, clothes pins, tack hammer, soap dish, etc. As the young couple were going to housekeeping at once I am sure this shower was really most acceptable.

Novel Souvenirs for a Progressive Party.

At a recent bridge party, the hostess gave each guest a very pretty basket. For games won the players received articles for a work basket; there were bodkins, dainty thimbles, small embroidery scissors, wee pin-cushions, tape needles, tape measurers, needle books, needles, papers of needles, cards of hooks and eyes, ribbon runners, etc. There were no other prizes given. The idea is a good one. All the things were of fine quality; the thimbles had been picked up in Italy for a mere trifle, being of silver gilt set with various semi-precious stones. At another party this same hostess gave small one-penny books of Shakespeare bound in soft red leather. One set had a beautiful bag for each player, regardless of who won or lost.

A Garden Party.

The invitations were made in shape of vegetables, patterns being taken from seed catalogs, drawing paper was used, then they were tinted with water colors. When all arrived, cards numbered from one to twenty-five were passed with small pencils; the following questions were written on one side, opposite each number, all to be answered by the names of well known flowers:

1. A southern baby.
2. What the Scotch girl said when asked to walk the tight rope.
3. Why the young lady cried when her father removed the ladder from beneath her window.
4. What the woman said to the tramp.
5. The sunset.
6. A color.
7. Admired by all lovers.
8. Two girls.
9. Longing.
10. A cure for pain.
11. What single gentlemen need.
12. What Mrs. Taft used to call her sweetheart.
13. The nurse's delight.
14. A lively color.
15. A bunch of something children like.
16. What the teacher did when he sat on the tack in his chair.
17. A dignified plant.
18. Part of the wealth of Jacob.
19. What still remained to Job in his poverty.
20. The world.
21. What the toad will do when he sees the snake.
22. Wearing apparel for an animal.
23. Quite the opposite of delight.
24. A cause for tears.
25. Something very small.

ANSWERS.

1. Virginia creeper.
2. Canna.
3. Cantaloupe.
4. Begonia.
5. The morning glory.
6. Pink.
7. Moonflower.
8. Rosemary.
9. Pine.
10. Balsam.
11. Bachelor's buttons.
12. Sweet William.
13. Cyclamen.
14. Scarlet runner.
15. Candy tuft.
16. Rose.
17. Primrose.
18. Phlox.
19. Job's tears.
20. Cosmos.
21. Hop.
22. Furglove.
23. Peas.
24. Onion.
25. Mignonette.

there were twice that many. As they entered slips of paper bearing the name of an animal in large printed letters was pinned on the back and each had to ascertain "whd was who" by adroit questioning. This was loads of fun, then all went into a room over which was this sign: "To the Greatest Show on Earth." Arranged on tables were the following articles each representing an animal, the signs were numbered and the guests had to guess the creatures:

1. Kid (a kid glove.)
2. Lynx (some lynx on a chain.)
3. Rat (hair rat.)
4. Monkey (letters M O N and a door key.)
5. Chamois (a piece of chamois.)
6. Lion (a doll's pillow.)
7. Goat (a small piece of butter.)
8. Peacock (a dried pea and a toy rooster.)
9. Bear (a tiny undressed doll.)
10. Eagle (the letter E and a picture of a sea gull.)

The answers were written down opposite the corresponding numbers on slips of paper. Ice cream in shape of animals, animal crackers and cookies were served, also pink lemonade, peanuts and popcorn.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Ways to Earn Money.
I am in the last grade of school (A 8th), and we have a club and our teacher said she thought we ought all to earn our own dues. Can you suggest any nice way a girl (15 years) could earn from 15 cents to 20 cents a week?

Please tell us some good original class colors, too?

A POOR CHURCH MOUSE.

There are many ways you can earn the desired sum! If you have hens, get your father to allow you to sell a dozen eggs, or if you have a garden, you could supply a friend with fresh vegetables, or sell home-made candy or cookies. There is usually a demand for home-made things on Saturday. You might arrange to darn stockings or keep buttons sewed on. One girl made and sold dainty white aprons or you could hem dish towels for a mother too busy to do it.

Proper Way to Introduce.

Will you please tell me which is the proper way to introduce sixteen-year-old girls and boys. To say Mr. Brown or John Brown, etc? Is it alright to use white ink and blue stationery when writing to intimate girl friends? Must one rise when being introduced? When eating at a hotel is it proper to remove food from the side dishes on to the dinner plate? And if so should one remove it all at once or not? Should salad be eaten with a fork? What do you think of my writing? Should the fork be used in removing the food from the side dishes on to the plate? How should sweet corn be eaten? How should the knife, fork, and spoon be placed when the meal is over? At an opera, should the man or lady walk down the aisle first? When eating chicken should one cut the meat from the bone or should one eat it on the bone?

QUESTION BOX.

The accepted way of making introductions when girls and boys are still in school is to say "Mary Francis, I want you to meet 'Charles Francis, I 'Miss White' (if an older person) this is 'Jane Jones' and 'John Ball,' whom I have been wishing you could meet. White ink and blue stationery is a fad and not nearly so good form as plain cream, unruled paper with jet black ink. It is always polite to rise when being introduced unless you are ill or an invalid. It is perfectly proper to place food from the side dishes on the plate, as you wish to eat them. Salad is always eaten with a fork, and a fork or spoon is used according to whether the food is solid or liquid. Sweet corn is usually eaten from the cob; knife, fork and spoon are left side by side on the plate, lying across it. The lady follows the usher down the aisle. Chicken is cut from the bone and cut into bits, then eaten with the fork.

"B" is Right.

I will be very thankful to you if you will please answer the following questions: How long before commencement exercises should the invitations be sent out? I have a boy friend in the town in which I live, would it be proper to send him one? If a boy wants to correspond with a lady friend of his, is it his place to ask the girl's permission or wait for her to ask him to write? And if he wants to give her a commencement gift, what is proper for her to accept? When writing in the lady book supposed to take the man's arm, when going over a bad crossing, or should the man take the lady's arm? And if the girl thinks she would like to continue the walk, is it her place or the boy's to suggest it?

ANXIOUS.

Invitations for commencement are sent out at least two weeks before that; send your boy friend one if you want him to come, as I suppose you have a man ask permission to write and sends the first letter. Flowers, books, candy, magazine subscriptions and any impersonal gift may be accepted from boy friends at commencement time. If very dark or over a bad crossing, a man may take a woman's arm until the danger is past, if necessary to walk close together the woman takes the man's arm. A girl may suggest walking farther if he wishes her to, but circumstances always arise and it really is neither one's place, it is according to how both feel about it.

From "A Southern Girl."

When a gentleman calls on a young lady to escort her to theater or up town for a stroll, and the lady, having been taught it is correct that she should take the gentleman's arm, should she fall to do so—should he take hers? Is it perfectly correct that he should continue holding the lady's arm when they stroll down the main lighted thoroughfare of the town? Please tell me when and where this rule of etiquette should be observed and does it apply to a small town as well as a crowded city?

From "A Southern Girl."

Your letter is too long to print entirely as our space is so limited. Under the circumstances you mention, it is not necessary to take arms at all. This rule applies to town or country, viz., a woman takes a man's arm at night, if it is icy, or she is not strong; over an especially dangerous place the man may assist her by taking her for the moment; but it is not good form for a man to go walking along the street holding on to a woman as if he thought she was going to escape. Locking arms is decidedly contrived.

The Wedding Processional.

At a wedding where the bride will come into the church on the groom's arm and the bridesmaid with the groomsmen which couple precede?—Olive.

Concerning a Wedding.

Would you please tell me what are the duties of the matron of honor at a home wedding? Also what refreshments would be nice to serve after a 2 o'clock wedding? If bride is dressed in white should bridesmaids wear pink or white?—Mrs. A. C.

The matron of honor immediately precedes the bride, stands by her side, holds her bouquet, throws back the veil and follows her when she goes to change her gown. The bridesmaids may wear white, white over pink, or plain pink according to the wishes of the bride, who usually selects the colors she prefers. After a two o'clock wedding nothing takes the place of chicken salad, hot finger rolls or sandwiches, olives, salted nuts, coffee, ice cream and cakes. A bowl of frappe should be conveniently placed, easy of access to all.

I would like very much to have you settle an argument for me. A says that a felt hat (derby) is preferable to a straw hat after 8 o'clock in the evening for informal affairs. B says that a straw hat can be worn to any affair of wedding nothing takes the place of chicken salad, hot finger rolls or sandwiches, olives, salted nuts, coffee, ice cream and cakes. A bowl of frappe should be conveniently placed, easy of access to all.

"B" is Right.

Straw hats may be worn at any hour of the day or night, with any suit except full evening dress, so "B" is correct this time.

For a Parcel Shower.

Would you kindly print a few games and amusements that are suitable for a parcel shower to be given in the evening.—Alice R.

I have no especial games or amusements just for a parcel shower. You will find with opening and looking at the articles (which should be cleverly done up, each marked with name of donor and a sentiment to be read aloud), that you will have ample amusement. Music and dancing or a game that can be won at any affair are always enjoyable.
