Unavoidable Necessity

of the immediate removal from the City by the owner of this HOME—not house—places it at our disposal for a short time at considerably less than its real value.
It is right new, has seven rooms, every convenience, beautifully finished, shady lot in the best part of Fourth Ward. One should be comfortable and happy in this place. It was built to please. Investigate it. Offers of this kind are getting rarer every day.

Good Roads Meetings Of Interest To North Carolina

The third annual convention of the Southern Appalachian Good Roads Association is to be held at Roanoke, Va., October 4 and 5. This meeting is of especial interest to North Carolinians, inasmuch as the whole of the western portion of the state is included within the region of the Southern Appalachians, and the association is doing a great deal toward stimulating an interest in the building of intercounty and interstate highways in this section. Special delegates will be appointed from the states of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky and West Virginia. These will be appointed by the chairmen of the boards of county commissioners to represent towns and cities, by boards of trade to represent their organizations, and by the various state, county, and township good roads associations and automobile associations to represent their organizations. The governors of several of the states interested are expected to attend and make addresses; also many of the congressmen and representatives of the engineering departments of the various universities and colleges which have road engineering courses. A most cordial invitation is extended, however, to any one interested in the good roads movement in this magnificent section of the United States to attend this convention and take part in its proceedings. An address will be made by Honorable Logan Waller Page, of the United States office of public roads, and by Mr. L. E. Johnson, president of the Norfolk & Western Railway. Other prominent men who will address the convention are the State Geologists of Georgia and Virginia; Mr. W. H. Aston, president of the Bristol-Washington Highway Association; Hon. P. St. J. Wilson, highway commissioner of Virginia; Hon. E. J. Watson, commissioner of the department of agriculture, commerce and industries of South Carolina; a representative of the American Association of Automobileists; and others.

The annual convention of the American Association for Highway Improvement. The annual convention of the American Association for Highway Improvement is to be held at Richmond, Va., November 20-24. President Taft will speak on the opening day of the convention. The president has repeatedly made the claim that he is heartily interested in the good roads movement of the United States, and that he is willing to do all in his power to further it. He is particularly enthusiastic over the work of correlation and co-ordination that is being done by the American Association for Highway Improvement, and has accepted a regular membership in that organization.

All the road associations in the United States and Canada which are affiliated with the American Association for Highway Improvement will take part in the convention which is to be held in Richmond, and automobile tours are being arranged under the direction of the Touring Club of America. Hundreds of manufacturers of road machinery and road materials have already put in their application for space at the hall where the exhibition feature of the convention is to be held, and the enthusiasm in the subject of improved highways in the preliminary arrangements makes it certain that the convention will be one of the largest ever held in this country.

Gen. T. Coleman Du Pont, who is financing a $2,000,000 boulevard across the state of Delaware, has accepted an invitation to be one of the speakers. Congressman J. Hampton Moore, of Pennsylvania, who previously has been mainly identified with the improvement of the waterways of the country, has been elected a director of the American Association for Highway Improvement and will devote considerable of his time to the cause of improving the public roads of the country. He will be one of the speakers at the Richmond convention.

Logan Waller Page, director of the government office of public roads, will make an address, as will also Senator Swanson, of Virginia. Senator Martin, of Virginia, minority leader of the senate, will likewise make an address. Other men of national prominence who have consented to address the gathering are Dr. Walter Page, editor and publisher; W. W. Finley, president Southern Railway Company; B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the Frisco Lines; W. C. Brown, president of the New York Central Lines; Herald Parker, chairman of the Massachusetts State Highway Commission, and most of the leading highway engineers of the country.

The fourth annual convention of the North Carolina Drainage Association is to be held at Elizabeth City, November 7 and 8. Since the formation of this association and the passage of the drainage law by the legislature of 1909, wonderful progress has been made in the drainage of the swamp and overflowed lands of North Carolina, reclaiming a vast amount of territory which, instead of being waste land and inimical to the health of the people in the surrounding territory, will become exceedingly fertile and a desirable region, which to live. The particulars of this convention will be sent to the press later.

But recently appropriated $50 per mile for the building of the road through this county; Rowan reports active progress in the construction of the highway; Iredell is constructing it out of the bond issue recently passed. Catawba has appropriated her $50 per mile for work on the highway; Burke is doing nothing; McDowell contributed free labor during Central Highway week and is working on the highway; Buncombe will have her portion of the road ready by the autumn test; Madison county is not making very rapid progress.

About twenty-five per cent of the highway will be newly located road. In connection with the highway a number of men and corporations have obligated to build a number of one-mile sections of road through the western part. In a number of counties the convicts are being used and private subscriptions are being made to provide for the maintenance of the road. The greater part of this highway will be sad-day, though there will be considerable stretches of macadam, especially in the piedmont section.—State Geologist.

BANANA CAUSED WATCH THEFT.
New York, Sept. 8.—"I slipped on a banana peel and was falling when I instinctively grabbed at the man for support and accidentally caught hold of his watch and chain."
This was the excuse given by Louis Stein, 25 years old, of No. 216 Forsythe street, when arraigned in Essex Market court this morning, accused of picking the pocket of Alexander Pesner, 70 years old of the Bronx. Stein failed to impress the court with the story and was held in $2,000 bail for the grand jury.
