humanity brought to the Cuyahoga county jail. He had been convicted of the crime of cruelty to animals and there was no doubt in anybody's mind that he richly deserved the penalty inflicted. It is the custom to examine prisoners, however, before they are assigned to their cells. When this old reprobate was brought up the interrogation went thus. "What is your name?" "Budd Dobbs."

'What is your age?" 'Sixty-eight." 'What is your religion?" "Great snakes! Does a man hafter git religion before they'll let him inter jail in this county?"
