

ROYAL VISITORS MUCH IMPRESSED BY THEIR VISIT

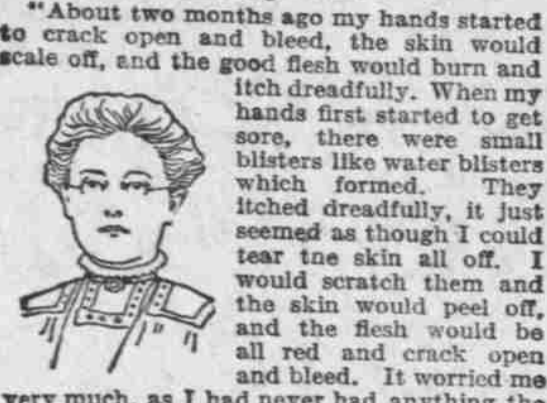

Associated Press. New York, Jan. 27.—As he boarded his private car at the Grand Central station last night to return to Ottawa for five days' entertainment in the United States, the Duke of Connaught, Governor general of Canada and uncle of King George V., turned to Ambassador Reid, who has his host here and said: "We were very much impressed at the hospitality of your people. We were treated royally by the press and public. The Duchess and myself are very grateful to the people of New York for the honor they have done us. We shall look forward with great pleasure to another visit. Our visit this time was too short."

The duke party arrived at the train station fifteen minutes before train time. A large crowd that had gathered together respectfully and the duke party had little trouble in controlling the crowd. Repeated cheers were given to the duke party and the Duke each time raised his hat in acknowledgement. As the train whistled for departure, the Duchess addressed her daughter, the "Princess Pat," each embraced the Duke and all the members of the party waved their hands as the train drew them out of the terminal at 7:40 p. m. The train is due in Ottawa at 11 o'clock this morning. Colonel Lowther sent out the following statement regarding the Duke's impression of Washington: "H. R. H. was much pleased by his visit to Washington and his reception by Mr. Taft. Speaking at the embassy dinner in response to Mr. Knox's toast of 'The King' last night H. R. H. replied as per the attached notes. Observe that at last visit attended the inspection of a body of artillery on the ground where the embassy now stands. Was impressed by the remarkable efficiency of the cavalry escort. Thanks to Mr. Taft for his words of welcome. Regret that second visit took place so long after first, forty weeks ago. Great admiration of the energy and progress on all sides. His brother, the late King Edward, often spoke with pleasure of his visit to the United States in 1860. His governor general of Canada, who says that whatever political changes may take place in the dominion, the sentiment of the Canadian people is now and always will be, one of kindness to the United States."

FIFTH DAY'S TESTIMONY OF PACKERS' CLERK. Associated Press. Chicago, Jan. 27.—Steiner G. Lang, margin clerk for the National Packing Company, began his fifth day as a witness stand when the packers' trial was resumed this morning. Attorney John Barton Payne continued his cross-examination of the witness. A man acquires a certain amount of wisdom by merely realizing his own foolishness.

HANDS WOULD CRACK OPEN AND BLEED

Blisters Formed, Skin Scaled Off, and Flesh Burned and Itched Dreadfully. Healed by Less Than One Cake of Cuticura Soap and One Box of Cuticura Ointment.

"About two months ago my hands started to crack open and bleed, the skin would scale off, and the good flesh would burn and itch dreadfully. When my hands first started to get sore, there were small blisters like water blisters which formed. They itched dreadfully, it just seemed as though I could tear the skin all off. I would scratch them and the skin would peel off, and the flesh would be all red and crack open and bleed. It worried me very much, as I had never had anything the matter with my skin. I was so afraid I would have to give up my employment. I consulted my doctor, and he said he didn't think it would amount to anything. But it kept getting worse. One day I saw a piece in one of the papers about a lady who had the same trouble with her hands. She had used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and was cured. I decided to try them, and my hands were all healed before I had used one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment. I am truly grateful for the good results from the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, for thanks to them I was cured, and did not have to lose a day from work. I have had no return of the skin trouble." (Signed) Mrs. Mary E. Breig, 2522 Brown Street, Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 12, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are for sale everywhere, but those who wish to try them without charge may do so by sending to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 6A, Boston, for a liberal sample of each, post-free, together with 32-p. book on the skin and scalp.

THIS COW EARNS MORE THAN THAN THE AVERAGE MAN.

(Atlanta Journal.) Zell Zobeda earned $105.32 in December, which was, on the whole, but an average month for her. Her board cost $12, leaving a net profit of $93.32, which beats the average man's earnings and profit considerably. Zell Zobeda is a cow and a mighty good cow. She lives at Ames, Iowa. Zell is a Holstein-Friesian, 7 years old, not one of those long pedigree animals, just an ordinary well-bred, and well-cared for cow. When Zell was a heifer, the Iowa state college bought her and trained her up the way good cows should go. Result: 2,106.4 pounds of milk in a month, 85.89 pounds of butter fat, 107 pounds of 80 per cent butter. Zell could keep a family on her earnings, and a few more like her would make a farmer weary carrying the money to the bank.

The unusual part about Zell is that she isn't an unusual cow. She is the sort of an animal any farmer can get if he handles his herd right, and feeds right. On the farm, of course, her profit would be figured on the butter fat and butter basis, but outside of that there would be thousands of quarts of the finest skim milk or feeding to chickens and pigs, which would in itself turn over a handsome yearly profit. Can you blame a widow for marrying again when she realizes that black is unbecoming to her?

CHRONOLOGICAL RECORD OF ALL ROOSEVELT TALK

Are you among those who believe Roosevelt is a candidate? If so, look below, and your belief will be fully verified.

Are you among those who believe he wouldn't get the nomination on a silver platter? If so, just look below, and you will find his own word for it.

Are you among those who don't know what to believe. Then, by all means, look below, and you will know less than you did before.

The New York Herald, with a satiric industry, has collected and strung together everything Roosevelt—and his friends have said on the subject since 1904.

The collaboration seems to have one chief virtue, and that is that you can prove anything by it. The friends of Mr. Roosevelt, according to the Herald's view, are showing by their actions that they take it to mean that Roosevelt is a candidate.

Here is the compendium: Night of election, 1904, Colonel Roosevelt said: "The wise custom which limits a president to two terms regards the substance and not the form and in no circumstances will I be a candidate or accept another nomination."

December 17, 1907 (after repeating the above quotation—"I have not changed and will not change the decision thus announced.")

May 13, 1910 (in Berlin)—Denies he has written to Mr. Taft saying he would not be a candidate.

June 25, 1910—Colonel Roosevelt:—"I am not prepared to endorse the Taft administration."

August 18, 1910—Reports from Oyster Bay are that Mr. Roosevelt will be candidate.

October 12, 1910—Report he is laying plans to defeat Mr. Taft.

October 21, 1910—Spurred Mr. Taft by failing to call on him while both were in New York.

November 9, 1910—Reliable sources say he will be a candidate.

March 15, 1911—"I will not take part in the republican campaign if Mr. Taft is renominated."

June 6, 1911—A close political friend of both the president and Colonel Roosevelt gave positive assurances, authorized, he said, that Mr. Roosevelt would not be a candidate.

June 7, 1911—Mr. Roosevelt denied he had expressed a preference for Mr. Taft or any one else.

November 26, 1911—Statement made that Mr. Roosevelt would support no one and would not be a candidate himself.

December 3, 1911—Governor Foss, of Massachusetts, says Mr. Roosevelt will be a candidate.

December 3, 1911—Senator J. K. Vardaman, of Mississippi, says he knows Mr. Roosevelt will be a candidate.

December 14, 1911—Positive declaration by persons who have talked with Colonel Roosevelt that he will be a candidate.

December 22, 1911—Senator Boies Penrose says he takes it for granted Mr. Roosevelt will not be a candidate.

December 26, 1911—Positive statement made that a country-wide cohesive movement under way for Mr. Roosevelt, presumably with Mr. Roosevelt's approval.

December 30, 1911—Col. Henry Waterson says Mr. Roosevelt would deny the presidency and Mexicanize the republic.

January 2, 1912—Mr. Roosevelt denies that Gifford Pinchot ever said that he (Roosevelt) would be a candidate.

January 2, 1912—Announcement made that a well stocked propaganda is working almost in the open for Mr. Roosevelt.

January 4, 1912—Lyman F. Abbott says Mr. Roosevelt is not a candidate.

January 7, 1912—Mr. Roosevelt chops wood.

January 10, 1912—Mr. Roosevelt denies he told Aldine Club he would be a candidate if it were forced on him.

January 11, 1912—Members of Aldine club say they thought Mr. Roosevelt said he would accept a nomination in certain circumstances.

January 12, 1912—President friends conclude that Mr. Roosevelt is actually a candidate and they begin an active campaign for delegates.

January 13, 1912—Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war, says Mr. Roosevelt will not declare himself as refusing a nomination if offered to him.

January 18, 1912—Governor Glasscock, of West Virginia, says his state will be for Mr. Roosevelt.

January 20, 1912—St. Louis city committee goes on record as favoring Mr. Roosevelt.

January 20, 1912—Two leaders in Illinois say their districts will be for Mr. Roosevelt.

January 21, 1912—Two Roosevelt men in western Pennsylvania start movement for him.

January 21, 1912—President is told by capinet members, fresh from Oyster Bay, that Colonel Roosevelt would not accept a nomination.

January 23, 1912—Reported in high circles that Roosevelt movement is growing all over the country.

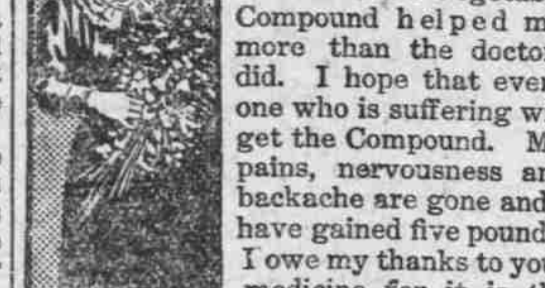

January 23, 1912—Colonel Roosevelt credited with saying to a close political friend he would "come to the rescue if needed." He denies the report.

"Wouldn't accept it!" exclaimed one of the republicans who reviewed the above record. "He'd shin up the Metropolitan tower to get it."

When a remedy has lived for over thirty years, steadily growing in popularity and influence, and thousands upon thousands of women declare they owe their very lives to it, is it not reasonable to believe that it is an article of great merit?

We challenge anyone to show any other one remedy for a special class of disease which has attained such an enormous demand and maintained it for so many years as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Battle Impressed Population. Special to The News. Paris, Jan. 26.—Correspondence from Tripoli declares the battle of Ghazirish January 18 profoundly impressed the population of Tripoli because the Italian troops, despite their superior numbers and the help of artillery, were forced to abandon the field to the Arabs.

At nightfall the Italian commander was ordered to return to Tripoli.

By this was removed all advantage gained during the engagement. The Italian army, the Arabs and Turis re-occupied Ghazirish, which is only two miles from outlying Italian defenses of Tripoli.

The Italian military aviators have been distributing proclamations signed by General Canova urging the Arabs to come into Tripoli and surrender. They are promised immunity from punishment and a gift of twenty francs while their political and religious chiefs will be recognized and paid by Italy.

Personal Magnetism. Everybody is carrying at atmosphere all his own, or her own. You have been in a gay circle of friends, when the door opens and a newcomer enters. All at once the temperature in the room seems to drop. Conversation begins to lag. The spirit of all seems to be stricken with a blight. Some one has brought a chilling atmosphere into the room, and all have felt its unpleasant influence. You can recall experiences of just the opposite kind. There are persons whose coming is always a signal for increased animation and good fellowship. No gasping, dull after they arrive. They are looked for to "break the ice." They diffuse warmth and gladness. They are the makers of joy who are blessing the world every step of their way.

A freezing atmosphere is to be shunned. It destroys the life of friendship and strikes inward, destroying the one who carries it. Cold formality, aloofness, lack of wholesome enthusiasm constitute an atmosphere of misery. "He that hath friends must show himself friendly." His friendliness must have initiative and a good hearty assertiveness. There must be about it a generous warmth that spreads it a generous glow around those who come within its influence.

It is necessary, with deliberate intention, to get out friendliness rather than to wait, expecting to receive it. Too many are willing to respond to friendly advances but are slow to make them. "If thy heart yearn for love, be loving, if thou wouldst free mankind, be free; if thou wouldst have a brother frank to thee, be frank to him."—The Christian Herald.

SLEEPERS WELCOME IN THIS CHURCH. Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 27.—Sleeping men are welcome at Union Congregational church, of which the Rev. Allan A. Stockdale is pastor. Dr. Stockdale says:

It isn't because men are afraid they will go to sleep in church that so many of them do not attend, but they hate to be nudged by their wives and are afraid of the consequences after they get home.

"Let them go to sleep if they want to. They are harmless when they are asleep. Do not poke or nudge or pinch them. Sleeping in church is a pious when I am preaching do not, they often cause me pleasure. The sleeping man can't find anything to complain about in my sermon or write indignant letters to me afterward."

"There are many reasons why men go to sleep. Many of them have been hustling during the week, and when they come into a warm church and restful pews they can't avoid sleeping. Heavy air and heavy sermons are also responsible. Them use is soothing, too. Let the man fall asleep. The rest will do him good, perhaps."

Comb Fires Woman's Hair. Itchen, N. Y., Jan. 27.—A coilnoid caught the hair of Mrs. George Wheaton of this city, caught fire while the woman was asleep in a chair with her back to the stove, and she awoke to find her head a mass of flames. She ran to the sink and ducked her head under the faucet, extinguishing the flames, albeit, though much of her hair was burned away and her scalp badly blistered.

HER PARENTS CAME FAR TO HEAR HER SING—AND SHE FAILED.

In the February Woman's Home Companion a professional opera singer writes a remarkable article, in which she tells the true story of the country girls who go to New York to study singing, and then make a failure of it. In one club that she tells about there were forty girls, only two of whom were daughters of rich parents, the remainder coming from middle class families. Following is the story of one of these girls:

"The first to go was the mine-owner's daughter. She had come to New York with a clear, high uncutivated soprano voice. After two years of study with a high-priced teacher, she had nothing to show but a few vocal tricks and many ungirlish mannerisms. Her tones were what we singers call 'white,' or colorless, and her singing lacked warmth, sincerity, and feeling. None of us took her very seriously until she gave a midwinter recital.

"Her teacher rented a fashionable hall and guaranteed the presence of critics. Her parents came from the far West to witness her triumphs. Her frock came from Paris. The tickets that would not sell were distributed among desirable people. We club girls, accompanied by the most presentable men we knew, were scattered through the hall. There were flowers and critics in plenty; but the recital was a hideous failure. The 'star' paled beside the three unimportant professionals hired by her teacher and manager to 'assist' her. The critics flayed her with allusions to her father's newly acquired wealth.

"The night she said good-bye to us is stamped so indelibly on my memory that I can recall her very words: 'Girls, you can call me a coward, but I'm going home. Money can't buy a career, and I'm going to give the best there is in me for one. I've been saying a man five dollars an hour to jolly me along in the belief that I have a voice. I haven't enough left to sing in a choir back home; but it doesn't matter. There's one man out there who doesn't care whether my voice goes or stays, and, thank Heaven, I found it out in time.'

MRS. FLORENCE KELLEY SPOKE AT LOUISVILLE

By Associated Press. Louisville, Ky., Jan. 27.—"The time will come when children will no longer engage in the street trades," said Mrs. Florence Kelley, of New York, general secretary of the national consumers' league, addressing the conference of the national child labor committee. "The selling of newspapers and all other similar avocations will be given over to adults who are prevented by physical or other disabilities from engaging in more active means of livelihood."

E. N. Clopper, of Chincinnati, secretary of the Mississippi Valley States for the child labor committee, recommended that the school authorities be empowered to say what children may and what children may not engage in gainful occupations while they are still of school age.

Miss Lillian A. Quinn, of Pittsburg, asserted that existing laws, if thoroughly administered by the juvenile court authorities, would in a large measure do away with many of the present abuses.

ENGLAND WANTS TO SEE ONE ROUND HOGAN. By Associated Press. San Francisco, Jan. 26.—England has heard of "One Round" Hogan and wants to see him in action. After he had taken them two days we could see a change and when he had taken two-thirds of a bottle he was cured. That is about six weeks ago, and he has not wet in bed since." Bowen's Drug Store.
