Senator Simmons Replies To Speech Of Gov. Kitchin

Reading Report of Mr. Kitchin's

I had heard that Governor Kitchin in his speech at Raleigh last night would charge that I had voted with Aldrich on the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill; that I as the woman who doesn't voted for subsidies, and that I was undemocratic and reactionary.

and Observer it was, there was mailed tre that you will be proud of. to the North Carolina papers last night tion as I see the News and Observer these latter speeches.

In 1902 we manufactured practically only high grade lumber such as Canada does not produce at all, and there Stock Subscribed was practically no competition between the two countries in the sale of this article. In 1908 we had largely used up our high grade lumber, and between 60 and 80 per cent of the lumber we were then and are now producing is almost identical in grade with that of Canada, and in the only market we

Mr. Kitchin says that on 43 roll calls voted 19 times against the majority did not tell his audience that he was referring to the 43 roll calls during the extra session of congress. Mr. Kitchin is mistaken in his figures. I have surplus of $600,000 to begin with. in my hand now Senate Document No. 275, being a compilation of all the record votes taken during the extra session. That shows that I voted on 43 foll calls with the republican majority only 11 times and against the republican majority 32 times, and that I voted fewer times with the republican majority during that session than any other democratic senator, excepting only three. It also shows that Senator day afternoon was one of the most Williams, on 35 roll calls, voted with he republican majority 24 times and that Senator Bacon on 45 of these roll calls, voted with the republican majority 28 times.

Mr. Kitchin says that I voted against reciprocity, and that reciprocity provided for reduced duties on farming implements, barbed wire fencing, etc., but Mr. Kitchin did not tell his audience suffering in China, and an offering of 7 rooms, modera 14 E. 4th St. . $25.00 that this treaty provided for a reduc- $3.30 was taken, which will support tion in duties on these articles of farm a family, or rather keep alive a consumption only when imported from Canada, and that Canada makes no presence of the full boy's orchestra

Now did he tell his audience, what is fact, that the farmers' free list bill, for which I voted, not only reduced but removed all duties upon farming implements, barbed wire, bagging and ties, etc., imported into this country from anywhere else in the world, and the reciprocity bill if this free list bill was added to it, by way of amendment, the one without the other; nor did he tell his audience that while I voted against President Taft's reciprocity reaty, which Senator La Follette, a strong tariff reformer, has character Jordan & Co. ## Think of This, Sam!

Charlotte is progressing, making wonderful strides, excelling all of her neighbors, and that's gratifying to you and to me, but are you doing anything for Sam as the wheel of fortune turns? That's the vital question for you. Are you forging ahead? Are you bettering your condition, or are you simply a hot air artist, hollering and bellowing every time tother fellow scoops in another thousand or so? Sam, old boy, you've been all sorts of a fool. NOW, LISTEN TO ME.

Holler once for Willie, but holler twice, and a "leetle louder" for Sam. If you don't do it, in the sweet by and by, tother fellow will forget you yelled for him, and may forget booster Sam. BUT, HOW CAN I DO IT, KEESLER?

Do it, Sam? Why it's dead easy. Build your own fences, not by graft, theft, or taking advantage of any mortal man, but by saving, by carrying more shares in the MUTUAL BILLY MALONE. That's a steady climb, and it's sure energize for Charlotte, but self-preservation is a good, common sense principle.

GET INTO THE MUTUAL with zeal and economy and a determination to win, and no human power can dethrone you. Thousands are traveling this road, and thousands are making good. You can do it today, and, believe me, you should.
