ANOTHER GOOD MOVEMENT.

(Wilmington Dispatch.)
There is another movement that has started and being brought to the front and symbolized by a blue-button, a sort of badge of stimulation which bears the phrase "Everybody at Church." The idea is to get more people to the church, and thus benefit the world more. It is a worthy movement. Too many people who should attend church fail to do so. Unquestionably there are as good men outside the church as in it, and some of the worst of hypocrites are found in the church ranks but the church is not responsible for this latter condition and such should not be cited against it. The church itself is a noble institution and people who are not hypocritical should seek to cleanse the church of hypocrisy; not unless all other means fail, by throwing out the hypocrites, but by converting them.

The man outside the church may be the equal of the best man inside it, but it is the example he sets by staying away that does the harm. Men of weakness cite him as an example to follow, but not being possessed of the same strength of mind and force of character they fail to follow in his footsteps and they too, often fall. They need the support, the influence of the church. And these are the people, too, the church should seek. Find them and take them kindly by the hand. Don't stand afar and think that bitter denunciation can attract them. Remember, "the greatest of these is charity."

AMUSEMENTS

"A Modern Eve."

Mort H. Singer, the Chicago theatrical producer, has secured the best musical talent in the world. The two foremost composers of Berlin, where the art of light opera has reached its highest development, are contributing to entertainments which bear the Singer name this season. They are Victor Hollaender and Jean Gilbert, whose names are linked together on the program of "A Modern Eve." The Chicago run of this attraction has established it as the greatest musical comedy success of the decade.
Victor Hollaender has brought from Berlin by Mr. Singer last spring, under a special contract which guaranteed him weekly royalties far in excess of those he had been receiving in Germany. This was no trivial offer, it may be added, as for fifteen years Hollaender has been the most active and successful composer of light music in the German capital. He has resigned supreme at the Metropol theater, where the best musical comedies of Berlin are staged, and has written so many scores that he finds it hard to remember all their titles at one sitting. The incidental music to "Sumurun" and "San-Lin," the latter a grand opera recently produced in London, are also among his works.

In "A Modern Eve" Hollaender received his first commission from Mr. Singer, and it has proved so successful that he has taken up permanent residence in this country. Of the many melodious numbers which he has contributed to this musical comedy, "Is The Girl You Married Still The Girl You Love," stands out as the best ballad in this country in years.

Jean Gilbert is the most brilliant member of the younger Berlin composers, as Hollaender was, until he forsook Berlin for America. In "A Modern Eve" Gilbert is represented by the waltz, "Good-bye, Everybody," which is the song hit of the year, and "You're Such a Lonesome Moon Tonight," an entrancing love song. Waltzes are Gilbert's specialty, and in this form of composition, he has already surpassed Franz Lehar, as far as popularity in the Fatherland is concerned. "A Modern Eve" will be seen here at the Academy of Music today matinee and night.

Mattice Stock Company.

The Mattice Stock Company opens a five nights' engagement in this city next Monday night, presenting for the opening attraction, "A Cowboy's Girl," a melodrama which deals with life and conditions in the far West. This play is said to be an unusually interesting one and to be far different from any other Western play.

The Mattice Stock Company has been delighting capacity houses in Wilmington, Raleigh, Greensboro and other towns in this section and from all accounts, the show is sure to make a big hit here. There will be a change each night and matinees will be given on Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

Henrietta Crosman in "The Tongues of Men."

To a great comedienne like Henrietta Crosman, a brilliant comedy is an absolute necessity, and in "The Tongues of Men," by Edward Childs

Carpenter which comes to the Academy of Music next Saturday matinee and night she has the most notable vehicle that has been written for her in years. The theme which is the old battle between the Church and the Stage lends itself to attractive treatment at the hands of the dramatist, and in the role of an opera singer, Miss Crosman has the most charmingly bewitching part she has played in a long time. When "The Tongues of Men" was successfully produced this season at the Harris theater, New York, the critics were warm in praise of the star and play, and her many admirers flocked enthusiastically to her support. It is the general consensus of opinion, both of press and public that Miss Crosman is the leading comedienne of the country, and since "Miss Nell" she has never had a better opportunity to display her varied genius and charm.

Maurice Campbell has supplied a notable cast and production of notable metropolitan players, among whom are Frank Gilmore, Benton Grove, Homer Granville, Edward Lee, Laure McGivray, Katherine Presley, Sheridan Block, Paul Douse; and Mary Hitmann.

JAPAN STILL FRETTING.

(Charleston Post.)
The Japanese are not so entirely overwhelmed by the disasters that have fallen upon them in the eruption of a volcano and the hardships of cold and starvation that they have no time or spirit for international controversy. They are still dissatisfied with the United States treatment of the California land restriction act. The minister of foreign affairs says that some new proceeding is being prepared to bring the matter to an issue, though he refuses to say what this proceeding is. The opposition clamors for something more definite even than this statement.

The Japanese government doubts less has to tax its ingenuity to keep the exheremists within bounds in this matter, and so has to run somewhat over the rim of reason itself. Actually there is not the slightest hope of a modification of the American attitude upon the matter in dispute. The federal government may express regret at California's action, and has undertaken to persuade the state to modify its attitude but California has acted not merely within her rights, but in full accord with the national sentiment as expressed in the Mongolian exclusion policy, declared and enforced by the government. Unless, and until, the United States recedes from its long established position on this subject, there is not the slightest use to attempt any persuasion of individual states to extend to Orientals equal privileges with other aliens. They could not grant citizenship, because the United States refuses naturalization to the Mongolian race. If Japan is going to present a demand for repeal of the discrimination laws of the United States, that is quite another matter, but it is scarcely likely that such a hopeless and irritating proposition will be made. The Japanese government doubtless understands this question much better than would appear from its declarations and is merely doing what it is doing to satisfy the demands of the unreasonable masses who are doubtless very much like those of other nations.

ANTI-CATTLE TICK CAMPAIGN

(Mt. Olive Tribune.)
A number of interested citizens were present at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening of last week to hear the lecture on cattle tick eradication and the improvement of the livestock industry in this section, by Drs. Owen and Smith, experts of the United States department of agriculture, who are just now interesting themselves in this very important work in Wayne and adjoining counties. The lectures were splendidly illustrated by lantern slides, showing the ravages of the cattle tick and the possibilities of the livestock industry if the pest is eradicated. The lecturers were both interesting and instructive. The matter of cattle tick eradication in Wayne is to be taken up before the board of county commissioners the first Monday in February. The county will be asked to make a small appropriation to carry on the campaign, and all citizens interested in the matter are asked to attend the meeting and use their influence towards securing the appropriation.
