

SQUARE DANCE HUGE SUCCESS

Christmas Dance

Charlotte College will hold its annual Christmas Dance on Friday, December 16th from nine until one in the Central High Gymnasium. Music will be furnished by Carroll Dellinger and his Orchestra.

The announcement made today by Glenn Baughman and Earl Yandle, co-chairmen of the Dance Committee, states that the dance will be semi-formal.

A few bids will be available to those who wish to bring outside guests. Anyone desiring bids should get in contact with Earl Yandle, Glenn Baughman, Ralph Turner, Crayton Rowe, David Cash, or John Jamison, members of the Dance Committee.

Special invitations will be extended within the next few days to all our Alumni.

Plans for the Christmas Dance, which will be the first big dance of the year, have been moving forward rapidly. The Dance Committee would like to stress the fact that the success of this dance will greatly influence the future dances of the Charlotte College.

Choral Group Being Formed

The Central music building last Wednesday night was for the first time the scene of Charlotte College musical activity. There was a fine premiere turnout of students musically inclined and interested in becoming members of Charlotte College's first choral group. Sixteen souls appeared on the first night. Miss Rosemary Shingleton registered all interested and classified their voices according to range. According to the indications observed by this reporter, things should begin to hum smoothly in the not too distant future meetings of the group.

Miss Bonnie Cone visited the proceedings and wore a beaming smile of approval as she looked on with apparent delight that at least one of her endeavors was being supported by the student body. The sixteen who showed up last Wednesday are but a fraction of those whose names appeared on the bulletin board indicating that they would be interested in such a group; so we want to see all of you stragglers and any more who didn't sign the bulletin and are interested, down at the music building this week.

Woodworking Class Offered

A woodworking class will be offered to those interested beginning next quarter.

The course will offer basic instruction as well as advanced information in woodworking. It will teach the use and care of woodworking hand tools, woodworking machines; the types of finishing materials; methods of finishing and refinishing projects; and instruction in simple upholstery. Classes will be held in the shop located behind the main building at Central High School.

Added Curriculae

The following classes will definitely be offered next quarter: Typewriting 2, Shorthand 1, Advertising 1, and Economics of Marketing 1.

The Alumnus Of The Month

"Well, the bug bit me, and I stayed." So said George Stockbridge, when he was asked how he came to choose Hospital Administration as a career. The story goes back a bit, to August, 1948, when George was casting a keen glance around for a likely job which would afford him the price of food for his family, yet leave his afternoons and evenings free to continue his work at Charlotte College Center, UNC. As George looked for that job, Presbyterian Hospital looked for George. At least, the Hospital authorities had hopes of finding a brilliant young man with bright prospects for the future. The Hospital authorities called Miss Cone, Director of CCUNC, and stated their need. They were lucky, too, these authorities. They got George Stockbridge. He went to work in the Admissions Office at Presbyterian on a part-time basis, last year.

Even Stockbridge is somewhat surprised to find himself well on the way to becoming one of those new-fangled trouble shooters called Hospital Administrators. His objective in enrolling at CCUNC in 1947 was an eventual LLB degree, a dream that had been in the backroom of his mind during the long War years in the Pacific—maybe for a long while before that, during those far-off days when he trod the stage of the old College Auditorium with the illustrious Walter Spearman and his gallant Troopers. But that was long ago. Today, George is serving an "administrative residency," which is part of a two-year course of hospital and field training preparatory to entering the growing vocational field of Hospital Administration. So new is the idea of training experts in a practical, business-like management method for our great hospital plants, that the only source of such training to date has been the programs carried on by the hospitals themselves. Here in Charlotte, Presbyterian has trained three such men, with the aid and cooperation of Duke Endowment Foundation. However, according to Stockbridge, it seems unlikely that such training programs will be continued by the hospitals. Answering the increasing demand, ten or more of our larger colleges and universities have instituted complete training programs in the field of Hospital Administration, and one day soon the field will be flooded with young hopefuls clutching M. A. degrees in this newest of administrative vocations. Meanwhile, the go-getters with a head start are headed for the top of the heap, and not the least of these is "Our George."

Dr. Hoke Shows Versatility

Our well-liked psychology and philosophy professor, Dr. Hoke, has entered another field of endeavor.

He is now embarked upon a radio career. Each Saturday morning from 9:15 to 9:30, over Station WBT, Dr. Hoke delights his listeners with a discussion concerning personal problems and questions submitted to him for his expert advice and suggestions.

One wonders at Dr. Hoke's enormous capacity for work, as he writes a column on Psychology for The Charlotte Observer; lectures around and about the Carolinas; devotes much of the day to his psychological practice; and yet manages to conduct classes at Charlotte College that are always filled to capacity.

His teaching approach is novel, deeply interesting, and very educational. One learns something every day that not only stirs the imagination, but can be applied by the student to his own or

Student Activities

By BARBARA HOWELL

The Executive Council of the Student Body is composed of the four elected officers: Jim Kilgo, president; Deane Richardson, vice-president; Barbara Howell, secretary; and Louis Camp, treasurer. This group meets every Friday at 3:15 in the library to discuss plans to be submitted to the Student Council. Mrs. Winningham is the faculty member.

The Student Council, with Mrs. Winningham as advisor, consists of the Executive Council and the elected officers of the sophomore and freshman classes. The sophomore officers are Ray Kisiah, president; Paul Putnam, vice-president; Edith Blackwelder, secretary; and Wayne Hooks, treasurer. The freshman officers are Bill Prim, president; Jimmy James, vice-president; Tommy Peterson, secretary; and Harry Curtis, treasurer.

The following committees have been appointed by the Student Council and are now in operation: The Constitution Committee, with Paul Howell as chairman, Wilmoth Holmberg, John Rigsby, and Joan Cook as members, and Mrs. Winningham as advisor, is studying the constitutions of student governments from other schools and will soon be writing a constitution for our own student government.

Jim Potteat, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, has announced that plans are under way for the Christmas dance and for other activities for the next quarter. Members of this committee, advised by Mrs. Hoyle, are Mary Camp, Charles Hicks, Earl Yandle, Veneta Bell, Glenn Baughman, Carole Hinson, and John Jamison.

Mr. Harwood is advisor to the Finance Committee, which plans the school budget. The members are Louis Camp, elected treasurer of the Student Council;

Highlight Of Fall Quarter

By Carole Hinson

Highlighting the fall quarter of Charlotte College was a square dance held November 23 from 9 until 12 in the Central gymnasium. This was just about the most successful social event held at C. C. since the school was founded.

Mr. Frank Harwood, economics professor, started off a wonderful evening by announcing that the "extra-generous" campaign raised more than $300 in the week preceding the dance.

There was an attendance of about 150 people including twenty pretty and charming guests—student nurses at the Presbyterian Hospital.

Music was provided by the Square Dance Serenaders composed of Preston Grier, steel guitar; Johnny Kesiah, spish guitar; Luther Gibbs, mandolin; and Ruel Chapman, caller.

An informal air was established when the caller realized that everyone was willing to dance but that few were sure just how it was done; so with the aid of two couples he demonstrated the basic steps of square dancing.

There were many participants who proved themselves worthy of recognition. At least they seemed to be having a good time. Some of the notables were Mrs. Edyth Winningham and Grady Miller, Deane Richardson and Lewis Camp, and Betty Stimpson and Howard Huntley.

Faculty members present were Miss Bonnie Cone, Mrs. Edyth Winningham, Miss Mary Denny, Miss Lucille Puett, Miss Frances Hoyle, Miss Marian Fraser, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harwood.

Keymen Fraternity Now Numbers 15

The social fraternity, 'KEYMEN', of Charlotte College recently tapped the following students: Louis Camp, David Cash, Hugh Parker, Jim Kilgo, Walter Wright, Reggie Cook, Bill Ross, George Douglas, Wayne Hooks, Preston King, Harry Booker, and Harry Curtis.

Officers of the organization are: Ray Kisiah, president; Bob Lindsey, vice-president; and Paul Putnam, sec'y-treasurer.

Fraternity objectives are the promotion and support of educational, social, and athletic activities of Charlotte College and the creation of good fellowship among the students of this school.

Dr. Herbert Hechenbleikner, faculty adviser for the group, has been voted an honorary member. The constitution has been approved by school authorities.

Its first social activity will be held Saturday December 10. All members and their escorts will participate in an old-fashioned hayride, followed by a wiener roast.

Paul Putnam informs us that jackets and pins for members are expected this week.

Wayne Hooks, elected treasurer of the sophomore class; and Harry Curtis, elected treasurer of the freshman class.

The Publicity and Promotions Committee promotes publicity for all student activities. Hugh Par-
