

THE CAROLINA JOURNAL

Student Publication Of The University Of North Carolina At Charlotte

VOL. 2

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1966

NO. 12

New Minimum Rules

The new rules for satisfactory progress for continued enrollment are as follows:

Hours of credit earned, including transfer credit:	Minimum Grade Point Average to Continue:
0 - 29	1.10
30 - 59	1.30
60 - 89	1.60
90 - 109	1.80
110 and over	1.90

Standards Change Puts Policies Here In Line

The faculty has approved an adjustment of its continued enrollment and readmission policies which places them more in line with other campuses of the University and other institutions of higher education.

The change is directed toward giving students who are performing well a continued opportunity. At the same time the standards are equally as high as other campuses of the University of North Carolina.

The new policy assures that any new student who attends the University may remain for two full semesters or until 30 semester hours have been attempted, whichever happens last.

Another change is that as a general rule, the summer session shall be open to all students previously enrolled at UNC-C, including students academically ineligible to continue during the regular academic year.

After the student has earned 60 semester hours, he is expected to make at least a 2.0 quality point ratio for each semester. A student at this level who makes less than a 2.0 ratio in any given semester will be placed on academic probation. A student on academic probation shall be limited to a maximum of 15 hours attempted in a semester.

A student's quality point ratio will be computed on the basis of hours attempted at the University of North Carolina, except that no more hours of "F" than hours of credit for a course will be used in ascertaining the quality point ratio. In other words a student will only be penalized for the first "F" if he takes a course more than once and fails it more than once.

No student will be suspended at the end of any semester for which his quality point ratio is at least 2.20.

The new readmission policy allows a student to re-enter, if he has been suspended by reason of failure to satisfy the requirements for continued enrollment, after the expiration of the next semester following his suspension (except that he will be permitted to enroll in the summer session) or when he meets the requirements for continued enrollment.

To re-enter after suspension a second time he must have the quality point average made up by summer school or by correspondence courses. These may be taken at any campus of the University of North Carolina in which the student is eligible to enroll.

If a student attends another institution after suspension here, he may be readmitted, provided that he presents a minimum of 24 credit hours of acceptable work from that institution. In this case, he will be accepted as a transfer student and must satisfy the requirements for continued enrollment.

Under extenuating circumstances and upon the recommendation of the student's academic dean, an appeal for readmission may be considered by the appropriate admission committee.

3 Seniors Get Fulbright Nominations

BY SANDY CAUDLE

Three seniors have been nominated for the Fulbright-Hays Fellowship by the University Fulbright Committee, announced Dr. Robert W. Rieke, Fulbright Program Advisor. They are Miss Betty Ann Craig, Mr. Charles Allen Honeycutt, and Miss Gloria E. Morrow.

The fellowship includes transportation, tuition, books, and maintenance for an academic year abroad.

"Miss Craig, who has a joint major in Spanish and Political Science, has applied to Latin America and indicated that she wishes to study in any one of three countries -- namely, Colombia, Ecuador, Venezuela. She wishes to make a study of University student federations," explained Dr. Rieke.

"Mr. Honeycutt, a French major, wishes to study in France, particularly Neo-Classic drama, emphasizing the tragedies of Racine.

"Miss Morrow, an English major, has applied to study at

Allen Honeycutt

Gloria Morrow

Betty Craig

the University of Sydney in Australia, where she plans to make a comparative study of American and Australian fiction of the late nineteenth - early twentieth centuries."

The Fulbright - Hays Scholarship was first established in 1946

by the Fulbright Act, which authorized the use of foreign credits and currencies accruing to the United States through the sale of surplus war properties abroad for the purpose of financing educational exchanges.

It also authorized the Secretary of State to encourage other countries to participate in the exchange program under the act.

The Fulbright - Hays Act of 1961 served to broaden the powers of this program.

Dr. Rieke concluded, "All three candidates have been strongly recommended by the University Fulbright Committee. The candidates will not know whether they have been selected or not until April or May, 1967, at which time the awards are announced."

Appointed Chairmen Meet, Start Revision Committee

BY GAYLE WATTS

The appointed committee chairmen of the student government met in the office of student body president Tim Britton on Wednesday, November 16.

In announcing the formation of a constitutional revision committee, of which he serves as non-voting chairman, Britton said that to "involve more students in student government" is an important goal of this committee.

As a means of acquainting students more closely with their student government, the Executive Council of the Student Government has plans to publish a guide to the government, to be available soon.

The possibility of holding an open legislature meeting was discussed. In this way, students could see first hand how the legislature carries on its business.

A referendum to determine the desire of the student body concerning a mascot name change was announced. Britton said the ballot would offer two choices, yes and no. A blank would also be provided for suggested names if the voter should be in favor of a change, he said. That referendum is being held today.

Preventive measures were discussed to reduce the great number of books which have disappeared from the library. These stolen books run into the thousands of dollars. Many times, such books are out of print and are very expensive to replace.

One plan advanced is to establish a book check at the doors of the library. The checkers would make sure that all library books being taken from the library had been properly checked out.

Problems surrounding this procedure are salaries for the extra employees involved and dissenting opinions as to the desirability of such a check on students.

The consensus opinion of the chairman concerning the honor code is that the campus should have such a code, but one more particular than the catch - all system which is now in effect.

An amendment to limit the number of night school representatives to the legislature to one representative for every seventy-five students has been proposed. In the past, the night school has had as many as eight positions available.

Chancellor Colvard Approves Student Publications Board

Chancellor D. W. Colvard established a Board of Student Publications in a memorandum on November 18. The board is to operate in accordance with the Constitution printed in the October 5 edition JOURNAL.

The Publications Board is to have 10 members. Of these, three will come from the faculty while students will fill the remaining seven positions.

Appointed to the Board already are faculty members Dr. Darryl McCall, Chairman, for a three-year term; Dr. Bonnie Cone, for a two-year term; and Miss Ann Foster, for a one-year term. Students appointed by Dr. Colvard are Ellison Clary, editor of the CAROLINA JOURNAL and Sandra Brantley, editor of the Nugget.

Mr. Kenneth Sanford was designated as an ex officio member "in order to assure the availability of public information through his office and any other benefits which naturally arise from that association."

The remaining five positions will be filled in the following manner: Both the JOURNAL and the Nugget are to choose one representative each to serve on the Board.

One student is to be elected to membership by the Student Legislature.

Two students - at - large shall be elected to membership by the student body.

Stories And Pictures On 3 Basketball Tilts On Page 4

Find out why the cheerleaders appear so sad during the opening basketball game on page 4. Picture by Nancy Kohler.