Campaigns For Union Offices Begin Today

BY GAYLE WATTS

Candidate for the University Union Executive Committee positions will begin campaigning today at 1:00 p. m. and continue their bids for votes until 9:00 p. m. Thursday, March 23.

The chairmanship is being sought by Nick Stavrakas and Dwayne Spitzer, the vice - chairmanship by John Lafferty, the secretary's position by Kay Watson, and the treasurer's position by Bobbe Berry.

"There are a number of things I would like to see started," says Stavrakas, candidate for chairman, "one of which is a basketball homecoming game. Also, I would like to have more publicity for things sponsored by the union."

Because of the expense involved, Stavrakas feels that "events should be held at the college instead of at Ovens Auditorium, unless the event is being sponsored in cooperation with other schools."

"I think this school is still small enough to schedule programs so that students have the greatest possibility of seeing the greatest number of events," he continues.

"I would like to see more continuity of programs at the Union," says Stavrakas. As an example of such continuity, he mentioned that as a complement to the tea held in honor of George Washington last month he would have tried to schedule a speaker on early American history.

Stavrakas would like to get some faculty members on the union committees. "They have seen what is happening at other schools and have contacts that students do not have," he explains.

An additional function Stavrakas would like to see the Union "sponsor something so that the alumni could be brought on campus."

"It is important that we keep in touch with our alumni and the union provides an ideal place for this purpose," he adds.

Stavrakas says that the Union is "both a building and an organization" and he feels that its purpose is education outside the classroom.

"Frank Jones (present University Union chairman) has done a marvelous job this year and has made the union what it is now," says Stavrakas.

"I would like to maintain the fruitful relationship between the student government and the University Union," he concludes.

Hildreth Leads List Of Faculty Additions

Dr. Phillip Elwin Hildreth, a geneticist at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory of the University of California at Berkeley, has been named this institution's first distinguished professor and chairman of the Biology Department.

Dr. Herbert Hechenbleikner, well known Charlottean who has been chairman of the Biology Department, will turn more of his attention and talent to positions as professor of biology and director of gardens and grounds. Already "Dr. Heck" has developed a lakeside planting of exotic plants, a rhododendron garden, and a main entrance planting of Japanese cherry trees and other ornamentals.

Dr. Hildreth's appointment, the appointment of four other faculty members, and two promotions were approved Friday by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina.

Dr. Hildreth has been doing research on the genetic (hereditary) effects of radiation in Drosophila (fruit flies). He has research underway on the effect of age and temperature on mutation rates, the time of gene action, and the effect of x-rays and temperature on development.

A student under Dr. Curt Stern, one of the outstanding geneticists of the United States, Dr. Hildreth has published widely in the journal of the National Academy of Science and the Journal of Genetics.

A native of Marlboro, New Hampshire, Dr. Hildreth received his AB in 1947 from Dartmouth, his MA in 1950 and his Ph.D. in 1955 from the University of California at Berkeley.

He has been a teaching fellow at Dartmouth, a teaching assistant at Berkeley, and assistant professor of biology at Long Beach State College of Long Beach, California in addition to his service at two different periods at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory. He is a member of Sigma Xi, the American Academy of Science and the Genetics Society of America.

Dr. Norman Willard Schul, acting head of the department of Geography at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, was named associate professor of geography. He will have leadership responsibility in the area of geography and geology during the coming year. He received his BS and MA degrees from Miami (Ohio) University and his Ph. D. from Syracuse.

Committee Conducts First Of Monthly Gripe Sessions

BY LOUISE NAPOLITANO

The Ways and Means Committee held its first official open meeting on Wednesday, March 8. The purpose of this committee of the student legislature is to give the students a chance to voice their opinions, gripes, and compliments about anything concerning the school.

The committee will find the answers to any questions it is unable to answer during the meeting, and report its findings at the following meeting. This new committee, of which Mr. Larry McAfee is the chairman, consists of two freshmen, two sophomores, two juniors, and one senior.

Various questions were brought up and discussed at the meeting last Wednesday. Bud Stokely inquired as to why it is so hard to find people to run for editor of the newspaper and annual. He also wondered if the requirements for an editor of these publications may be too strict.

The basis for his question is the fact that only one person has run for editor of the annual or for editor of the newspaper in the last two years, thus the student body has no real choice.

Mr. Bob Giddings pointed out that since the position as editor of the annual is such a complicated one, a person should have at least one year of experience working on the annual before running for editor. The committee will investigate this matter and report on it at the next meeting.

Mr. Stidman expressed his opinion that the student government disengages itself from the student body by holding night meetings, and asked why this was done.

Dianne Hargett pointed out that an open meeting had been held during the day and that all legislature meetings are opened to the student body. Mr. Stokely reported that it would be impossible to get all of the day student representatives together at a day meeting, and that night student representatives could not attend such sessions of the legislature. Monday nights are most convenient for the members of the legislature.

Tim Britton mentioned that, at times, the meetings run as long as three hours. Such meetings could not possibly be held during the day. Mr. Stidman asked why this school seems to have such trouble carrying out an election smoothly, and wondered whether there are any proper and effective election rules.

Chairman McAfee said that at the March 6 meeting of the legislature strong election rules were passed. These rules will be much more effective than those for previous elections, he said.

Bill Shuford asked if the proposed Tuesday and Thursday breaks (to replace the one Wednesday break) would bring in Saturday classes.

Mr. Britton explained that this measure is not under consideration, and that the board which must make the decision knows how the students feel about Saturday classes.

It was brought up that students are not upholding the parking regulations. Some students do not have stickers for their cars and are parking in the area for professor's cars.

Ravenetts And Martiniques To Appear Here Friday Night To Make Up For Canceled Date

BY SALLY HAGOOD

The Ravenetts and the Martiniques, two groups from Atlanta, Georgia, will appear on this campus on Friday, March 17 from 9:00 until 1:00 p. m. in the Union Cafeteria.

These groups were scheduled to appear on campus during Schwingfest in February but due to the snow were rescheduled for this weekend. The two groups consist of four female singers and a back-up band with five members.

The Ravenetts were well received at Georgia Tech last fall for their Homecoming and are presently very popular in Atlanta and throughout the South. The group records for Shurfine and Moon Recording Companies and has disks "Too Young To Know" and "Misery" out on the Moon label.

The charge for students will be $1.00 per student and $2.00 for others. All students and the public are cordially invited to attend.
