Campus Gets New Fraternity, A.K. Psi

National A. K. Psi President William F. Weinheimer addresses members of the 164th chapter, Eta Omega, at the Sunday installation ceremony.

The Eta Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity became an official chapter of the national business fraternity at an initiation and installation ceremony and luncheon on February 11, which was attended by representatives from chapters at several colleges in North Carolina and many other states.

Mr. William F. Weinheimer, national president of Alpha Kappa Psi, was present to deliver the main address.

In giving some background information on the growth of Alpha Kappa Psi nationally, Weinheimer stated that the fraternity had been expanding at the rate of five to six new chapters per year. He added that the fraternity now has 144 fully active college chapters and thirty-five alumni chapters.

Mr. Weinheimer attributed this growth to the fact that the fraternity has something to offer. "And what we have to offer is a high standard," he continued.

Weinheimer, who was seated next to Chancellor D. W. Colvard at the head table, suggested to students that if "you ever get depressed about the future, go and spend fifteen minutes in Dr. Colvard's office. . . His enthusiasm is wonderful!"

In his remarks, Chancellor Colvard stated that he was personally very happy to see this fraternity organized on campus because of the leadership opportunity afforded by such organizations. He indicated that he felt a great sense of pride in seeing this chapter develop on campus.

Dr. Colvard went on to say that if there is any place where a business program is meant to develop, it is here. He feels that the business climate in Charlotte, plus the development of the University Research Park and the desire of this institution to move into urban affairs are conducive to a flourishing business program.

Toastmaster for the installation program was Edwin J. Feulner, Jr., mid-east district chairman for Virginia. He complimented the men on the impressive petition which they submitted to the national board and informed them that the petition was passed unanimously.

Dr. Frank DeFelice, of the Department of Economics and Business Administration, commented that he was pleased to see organizations of this type formed on campus because they enable the "individual to acquire certain skills that he may not otherwise learn without fraternities." He added that he felt this to be another step toward full University status.

Speaking on behalf of all thirty-four members of the fraternity, David Herman, Eta Omega president, said, "This is indeed an occasion the members have waited for and will long remember."

Roundballers Wind Up Season With 5-6 Overall Record

By RODNEY SMITH

The UNC-C 49'er basketball team wound up their season last week with two home victories and two road defeats in four consecutive nights. All four games were against conference and a 5-16 mark overall. The team has been hitting the courts with a new offensive alignment and a spirit of determination seldom exhibited by a team with so far to go. Nevertheless, the boys had some rough breaks last week and found the road trips a little more laborious than usual.

Ben Basinger, Gary Cress, and Pete Donahue have gained consistency of late to join Jerry Anthony, Bob Lemmond, and Robbie Snipes as mature ball handlers, shooters, and rebounders. Anthony was third in conference in scoring last week has fit into the guard position and added a flair to the team with his ball handling feats and numerous assists to Donahue, who has really come into his own lately.

The squad opens in the D.I.A.C. Tournament next Thursday against Lynchburg, North Carolina Methodist, or St. Andrews on St. Andrews' home court in Lauringbur, North Carolina. The pairings for the tournament had not been determined at the time of publication. The 49'ers defeated both Lynchburg and Methodist last week but lost both games against St. Andrews this year.

The team is fired up and the boys really believe that they can win the tournament if they play their best. The team cannot, however, play in the N.A.I.A. District Tournament because the regular season champion, in this case, Greensboro College, always represents the Dixie Conference in post season play. However, the team would like to take the tournament trophy home as a preview of next year, as Snipes is the only graduating member of the team.

The boys would play much more relaxed if they could find some friendly faces in the crowd next Thursday. A car caravan will leave the school Thursday. For those who are constantly criticizing the team, here's your chance to do something about it. They will play better if some Charlotte fans attend.

Bicentennial Auto Tags Available From Circle K

In honor of the Bicentennial Celebration which Charlotte is having this year, the Circle K club on campus is offering bicentennial auto tags on behalf of the American Association of University Women, who are selling the tags city-wide. Miss Jane Starr, accountant in the business office, is president of the AAUW.

The sale starts today and attractive red and white tags may be purchased from any Circle K member during the sale.

Students interested in ordering a tag should fill in the following and leave it in the Circle K mail box at the Union desk.

The money from the sale will be presented to the Bicentennial Committee to be used for promotion of the Bicentennial Celebration. The tags are $1.00 a piece, and if ordered through the coupon may be picked up at the Union desk.

Informal Initiation Brings Ten Pledges Into A.P.O.

This campus' Sigma Upsilon chapter of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity brought ten pledges into brotherhood during informal initiation ceremonies last Friday night.

The informal initiation was divided into two distinct portions. The first part took place on campus and the second at brother Mike Wood's home.

The new brothers still must undergo formal initiation procedures which are planned for the very near future.

Secretary Of Israeli Embassy To Visit

The man who has been First Secretary at the Embassy of Israel in Washington, D. C., since July 1966 will speak on campus next Wednesday, February 21, in the Parquet Room of the Union at 11:30 a.m.

Mr. Benad Avital served in the British Army in World War II and with the Israeli Army in the Sinai Campaign. After the war he entered motion picture production. In 1951 he settled on a kibbutz near Jerusalem.

In 1954, Mr. Avital returned to movie making and has produced, directed and written numerous films and television programs. Mr. Avital joined the Prime Minister's Office as Chief Liaison Officer to foreign press and television in 1956.

He served as Consul to the Western United States, at Los Angeles, from 1963 until his present appointment. He and his wife have two sons.

Mr. Avital will speak on The Middle East Crisis.

'All-American' Green Garter Coffee House Due Next Week

By CAROLE CANADY

Food, entertainment, and a great time are guaranteed for everyone at the February 19 through February 24 Green Garter Coffee House. For this Green Garter, the entertainment will be provided by a group of "All American" young men, the Grimm Brothers. The Grimm Brothers will give a preview of their performance Monday, February 19 in the cafeteria at 12:00 p.m.

The Green Garter officially opens on Tuesday, February 20. Tuesday and Wednesday the Garter will be open at 11:30. Everyone is invited to come in the gym for lunch and to enjoy the fine entertainment. The cover charge for the daytime shows will be twenty-five cents per person.

The Grimm Brothers will give night performances starting at 8:00 p.m. on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday night. There will be no reservations taken to hold tables for couples at this Green Garter and therefore the policy will be "first come - first served".
