Special Activities Committee

The Special Activities Committee needs talented people to help organize and plan their program for this year.

Among the activities to be sponsored by the committee are a monthly series of informal gatherings called "Tea and Crumpets Hours," the Holiday Dance and Holiday Queen Contest, one-day trips to football games, and a talent show in April. Some of the other activities sponsored by the Special Activities Committee are the Miss UNC-C Contest, dinner raffles, and seasonal decorations for the union lobby.

If you are interested in helping in any of these activities, your talents are needed. Leave your name at the information desk or with one of the committee members.

True Liberal

What is a true liberal? A true liberal is trustworthy, loyal, helpful, courteous, kind, cheerful, thrifty and brave.

A liberal is trustworthy. He is a man that you can put your trust into and he never stabs you in the back.

A liberal is loyal to a cause that he believes in and stays firmly with it.

A liberal is helpful. He lives by helping others and is seldom selfish.

A liberal is courteous. He respects others and lets them form their own opinions.

A liberal is cheerful.

Even when times are good, a liberal is thrifty. He spends his money wisely and makes sure it is used perfectly.

A liberal is brave. He goes into the dark woods of despair in search of his friend Hope.

A true liberal is all these things. Of course there are no true liberals, but there are many people who deserve to be called liberal because they adhere to a combination of the basic values described above. A liberal is a man; a man who is considerate of others and a man who looks at the world through glasses that distinguish no colors.
