

Filled your bag?

If someone asked you what your bag is, would you have an answer for them? Could you tell them what "your thing" is? Perhaps your bag might be helping some underprivileged children catch up in school or to assist the advanced children to achieve beyond the realm of their classroom study. The Charlotte-Mecklenburg school system has a definite need for your help. SNEA at UNC-Charlotte has organized a project in which you and all other interested students can have the chance to work with culturally and economically deprived children.

All around school on the bulletin boards are "Fill Your Bag" posters. That's what you can do by working in this project. A minimum of two hours a week on your part can mean a great deal this year to a child who cannot read, spell, or do any one of a number of other seemingly easy things. Anyone who is interested in teaching and anyone who would sincerely like to help these children should consider this project. You would work closely with a child or a small group of children assisting them to master things giving them trouble. These children need this individual attention which, in the average schoolroom situation, their own teacher cannot spare them.

This tutoring program will be functioning at Villa Heights Elementary School and at Piedmont Junior High. Also, help is needed at Bethlehem Center and at the Memorial Hospital Rehabilitation Center. Although this project gets under way this week, it is still not too late to get involved. You are needed. Try "filling your bag" by participating in this project now. For more information, contact the Education Office or the information tables in the Union. Your help in this project could change some child's life, and give more meaning to what is in "your bag."

New fraternity

--A first at UNC-C. Predominantly Black Fraternity.

The newly-formed Phi Nu Pi Chapter of the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity held its induction ceremonies Wednesday, October 8, 1969. At this session, eleven brothers were inducted into the scrollers club.

On Wednesday, October 15, the brotherhood held their second meeting of the semester in the Parquet Room. Present was Big Brother Sammie McGriff who was in charge of the scrollers. Dean Donald McKay welcomed the Fraternity to the University and expressed his desire to help in any way possible.

This marks the first predominantly black Fraternity on the campus of UNC-C. Even though this is a predominantly black fraternity, the Chapter here on campus is integrated. During the next few months, the scrollers club will be actively participating in activities of the Fraternity.

The members of the scrollers club are as follows: Stanley Graham, Spencer Singleton, Alpha Peace, Norris Dae, Paul Hemphill, Jerry Springs, Larry Miller, Ben Byers, Steve Browner, James Cuthbertson, Rick Norton, Toussaint Holland, Roland Swan.

There are many activities that are planned by the Fraternity for the months to come for the University.

Response

The mood was great. Everyone could listen, laugh, then almost cry. Everyone was together.

We all came out because we cared. We cared about a young G.I. dying lonely 13,000 miles from home. We cared about this parents losing a child that they had watched grow into a young man, only to have his horizons shattered. In short, we came out because we cared about our brothers.

To me, the harmony of those that participated in the moratorium was symbolic of the moratorium's cause.

We stood up for peace and brotherhood. We stood up together, in peace.
