procedure for approving local fraternities and sororities be streamlined.

The Legislature unanimously recommended the Constitution of Sigma Tau Fraternity to the Student Activities Committee. Sigma Tau is not a new fraternity, it was formerly Kappa Phi.

The S.G.A. Budget of $8,640.00 was also approved unanimously.

The major change from last year's budget is that the S.G.A. Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and the Recording Secretary of the Legislature are to receive grants-in-aid. In previous years, only the S.G.A. President received money.

The Vice-President will receive $250.00 per semester with the remaining officers receiving $50.00 each per semester.

S.G.A. Pres. F.N. Stewart felt the officers deserved the grants-in-aid because they "perform a thankless job which is time-consuming, tedious, and often boring".

An affiliation with the Association of Student Governments (A.S.G.) was approved after several weeks of inquiry. An ad hoc committee of the Legislature had researched both the A.S.G. and the National Student Association (N.S.A.) to determine which was better for the UNCC campus.

Many Legislators felt the N.S.A. was too politically orientated.

In other actions, the Legislature voted in favor of permanently deleting the 2.00 grade average requirement for the offices of Attorney General, Assistant Attorney General, and Student Defense Agent.

Wayne Green was appointed to the Student Court as a result of the resignation of Lieutenant Justice Arthur Williams.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Legislature will be on Wed., Dec. 17, at 11:30 A.M. in U209-210.

UNCC

The administration at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte agrees with a group of students who want to drop the hyphen from UNC-C, the University's abbreviation.

In fact, Ken Sanford, director of information, said that the administration has been concerned with the same problem of institutional identity the students are concerned with. The result is a new University logotype (symbol) without the hyphen, and Sanford said students are welcome to use it.

Sanford and UNCC Chancellor D. W. Colvard had been discussing the need for a unique symbol for some time. Sanford sought the advice of Jack Pentes of Pentes Design. It turned out that Pentes' firm sometimes does a public service project for a non-profit organization; and he volunteered to work on a symbol for UNCC.

The logotype is an unusual symbol in that it uses only one design element. But turned three different ways it makes UNCC without the hyphen.

"The symbol is so simple, I don't see why I didn't think of it myself," Dr. Colvard said, "But that's what makes it good design."

Sanford said that the new logotype is now being used to convey the image of an innovative and contemporary university on letterheads, the catalogue and brochures.

He said that he has given the symbol to the University bookstore so that suppliers of T-shirts, bookcovers, decals, mugs and other student items can use the design. It will also be used on a new decal to be given to paying members of the University Alumni Association.
