Parking Meters to be installed

A student petition bearing the names of fifty-two individuals was considered by the Traffic and Parking Committee on Friday, February 6, 1970. Complaints were heard from residents of Moore and Sanford Halls concerning parking restrictions and completion of sidewalks and lighting around the dormitories.

Completion of the roadway, walks, lighting, and land-scaping has been delayed by weather conditions and other complications. These conditions should be sharply improved within the next few weeks. The unpaved section of the street will be paved in early March, and the installation of lighting and sidewalks between the parking lot and the dormitories should begin about the same date. In addition, plans are now proceeding for early landscaping and beautification of the areas around the dormitories, the cafeteria, and the parking lot.

The student petition also requested that dormitory students be allowed to use parking spaces assigned to commuting students. However, there is a shortage of parking spaces for visitors, faculty, staff, and commuting students, many of whom are forced to use the temporary lot near the Smith Building. The Traffic and Parking Committee, therefore, will be unable to authorize the use of these parking areas by dormitory students.

However, the Committee has recommended some changes that may alleviate some of the parking problems for the dormitory students. The Committee has recommended that parking meters be installed as follows: main parking lot, 36 meters; Smith Building area, 5 meters; union parking lot, 24 meters; and the dormitory "U" lot, 29 meters.

These meters may be used by anyone under thefollowing conditions: (1) Meters in the Main, Smith, and Union Parking Lots will be set for a minimum of one hour and a maximum of three hours and at a charge of 10c per hour. These meters will be policed from 7:00 A.M. to 9:00 P.M. except on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays. (2) Meters in the Dormitory "U" lot will be set for a minimum of thirty minutes and a maximum of one hour and at a charge of 10c per thirty minutes. These meters will be policed twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week except that the Security Force may exercise their discretion during late hours and on special occasions. (3) Users may "re-feed" the meters so as to purchase additional time.

These new recommendations would allow students, faculty, and visitors the option of buying or not buring a decal. For example, students with as few as one class per week would financially benefit from using the metered spaces rather than pruchasing the more expensive parking decal.

Metered parking spaces will have to accommodate visitors (including By Joe H. McCorkle Legislature amended a previously adopted parents and friends). These parking spaces should not be monopolized.

No Exit From Hell

The doors to the Parquet Room were locked, the lights dimmed and the temperature began to rise. Suddenly there was "No Exit" from hell. The play was off and running in the first five minutes, when two women and a bearded man (resembling old Lucifer himself) were cast, not into the hell fire and brimstone of Milton's hell, but rather into a

A satanic bellboy, minus horns and a pitchfork, but wearing metal-rimmed sunglasses, escorted the doomed victims to the tage. A fox which symbolizes sex before watchful eyes, and the lone backdrop, a bellcord that symbolized the character's

So, there they were with no thumbscrews, mirrors, or eyelids for the unfortunates. With nothing to fear, what could possibly make the deceased sinners suffer? And the answer: themselves!

The University Union presented the Pacific Repretory Company in "No Exit" last Friday afternoon to a near-capacity audience. Though the setting was not elaborate, the four actors in the cast offset the sparse number of props by superb performances. The Pacific Repretory Company also presented "Taming of the Shrew" and "Cyrano de Bergerac".

In a special meeting the UNCC Student motion which concerned-in part- a $100 contribution to the Dave Blevins Legal Defense Fund.

The original motion, introduced by Sophomore Representative Ed Wayson, had been approved at a February 15 meeting by a margin of 6 to 5. It reads as follows in unamended form:

"I (Ed Wayson) propose,

That the Student Legislature of UNCC support faculty action through the AAUP (American Association of Professors) and other University appropriate faculty bodies to change the University's hastily adopted policy on

2. We feel that Dave Blevins'es decision to test the University's action in his case to the full extent of the law represents an important additional avenue of redress.

3. In order to show our support of the AAUP in testing the constitutionality of the present University's disruption policy the Student Legislature grants $100 to the Dave Blevins Legal Defense Fund."

On Friday February 20, the Legislature met in special session and amended the motion by deleting certain sections and phrases. The entire motion now reads: "I propose, 1. That the Student Legislature of UNCC support faculty action through the AAUP and other appropriate faculty bodies to change the University's policy on Disruption."

The original motion had been debated considerably with the chief points of argument being the use of student funds to provide for Blevins'es legal fees, and the "point" of the motion itself.

According to Ed Wayson, "The point is that Mr. Blevins was treated as being guilty before the outcome of his trial. The School of Social Work at Chapel Hill would not consider his application for the spring semester because of his 'involvement' in the case". (Blevins was under a semester contract.

Wayson went on to say that the $100 was a "token gesture to show our support in his appeal to the courts."

Opponents felt that the University had the right to refuse to rehire Blevins and/or that the donating of $100 for Blevins's legal fees was a misuse of

After the initial passage of the motion, news of the Legislature's donation spread via students, newspapers, and even T. V. There was much reaction» among community and campus, especially from the 9 Legislature members who had been bsent when the motion was voted on.

As a result of the controversy surrounding the motion, the special meeting was called which allowed for a reconsideration and an amendment.

S.G.A. President F. N. Stewart was present at the special meeting and offered suggestions. He felt that instead of focusing on Blevins, the Legislature should support an alteration of the disruption policy.

AAUP The has recommendations for altering the policy on disruption and the Legislature should support them. This is really what Blevins is seeking to do."

Stewart referred to the disruption policy as being "too strict and in need of change."

Blevins was brought before the University Hearings Committee at Chapel Hill for dismissing his class during the Viet Nam War Moratorium of October 15. The Committee, by a vote of 4 to 3, found him guilty of violating the disruption policy.

His case is now before the Middle District Court in Greensboro, N. C. where the constitutionality of his dismissal is being questioned.

UNCC Soon To Have Chaplain

A full-time minister on campus is becoming a reality. The United Methodist Church and the Presbyterian Church now collectively have funds to hire a University Chaplain.

Dr. Loy Witherspoon, Director of the United Religious Ministry at UNCC, explained that desire for such a minister began two years ago when the Methodists, Presbyterians, and Baptists joined in an effort to obtain a chaplain to organize religious activities on campus.

Mr. Ray Cunningham, the Presbyterian representative and Chairman of the United Religious Ministry Board; and Dr. Jay Ostwalt, Methodist representative and vice chairman of the URM, are receiving many applications for the new position.

Such a University Chaplain would be responsible for organizing groups for study, action, and service in connection with a Christian-Campus Ministry.

Although he would reside off campus, he would have offices in the dormitories and would spend most of each day on campus so that he would be available to the students.

Plans for a religious life center are now under consideration too. Rather than a chapel restricted to worship services, the religious life center would be used for coffeehouses, movies, play readings, and other forms of a full religious life.
