Divisions become colleges

Carolina at Charlotte is now comprised of eight colleges. The Executive Committee of Board of Trustees Friday approved the change in designation of the institution's eight divisions into colleges.
The colleges are: the College of Business Administration, the College of Human Development College of Human Development and Learning (formerly the and Learning (formerly the Division of Education), the Division of Education), the College of Humanities, the College College of Humanities, the College of Engineering, the College of Nursing, the College of Sciences and Mathematics, the College of Social and Behavorial Sciences, and the College of Architecture. The heads of the colleges will now be known as deans. They are Dr. Allan Palmer, Business Administration; Dr. John B. Chase, Jr., Human Development and Learning; Dr. William S. Mathis, Humanities; Dr. Newton H. Barnette, Engineering; Mrs Edith Brocker, Nursing; Dr. Philip E. Hildreth, Science and Schul, Social and Behavorial Sciences; and Robert Anderson Architecture.
Chancellor D.W. Colvard said that the designation of colleges represents another step in the development of the University
The designation of divisons was an interim stage, he said. A ivisional chairman had no counterpart in the academic world. They were neither department chairman nor deans, the usual designations
"We now have the frame work for the continuing development of ${ }^{\text {a }}$ full blown university," Dr. Colvard said. "This point marks a stage of maturity for us.
In addition to education, the College of Human Development and Learning includes the Department of Health and Physical Education. The College of Humanities includes the Departments of English, Creative Arts, Foreign Languages, History and Philosophy and Religion.
The College of Engineering includes the Department of Engineering Technology in addition to Engineering. The Mathematics science and Marmatics includes the departments of Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics and hys. The College of Social and Behavioral Science includes the departments of Geography and Geology, Political Science, Psychology and Sociology.
A change in the name of the Department of Fine Arts to the Department of Creative Arts was announced Friday also.

Radiating from a central hub, UNCC grows outward with eight separate colleges of study, as announced recently by The Board of Trustees. (photo by tom alsop)

Legislature

nominates senators

by charlie peek

A lengthy debate concerning the legislature's role in nominations for the new student Senate consumed most of the time in their open session last Monday. Also the constitution for the newly organized UNCC Writer's Club was passed and several backwash items of the budget were rehashed.
Gary Lane was appointed by Chairman Rick Norton to be the Parlimentarian for future SGA meetings. President Hickok announced that consideration of the Housing Act previously passed by the legislature was now in the hands of the House presidents.
The Writer's Club was the chartered by the SGA. This club, open to all UNCC students has as its purpose to promote study and appreciation of the art and craft of writing. They hope, in the future, to bring prominent authors on campus to speak.
The Baptist Student Union received $$ 175$ of the budget in order to present several this year. On the other programs economic stick, David Thomas chairman of the Finance Committee, recommended that the Young Democrat's Club not be given any funds for the coming year. The legislature was also informed that the cheerleaders have abandoned one trip (Tennessee) on their itinerary, thereby saving $$ 320$ from their proposed expenses.

The floor was then open for nominations for the University Senate. Marlene Whitley, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee presented them. Those people "approved" by the committee were Barbara Best, Charles Kelly, Barbara Ann Smith, Humphrey Cummings, Charles Spriggs, Charles Peek, Stan Patterson, Lloyd Rose, Ellen Whitter, Phil Nesbitt, Bill Sigmon, and Phil Deberry.
Other nominees, also accepted by the legislature were Sammie McGriff, Ed Bernson, Dean Duncan, Vickie Hinson, LaVera Farnsworth, Sally Garr, Steve Ritch, Chip Golding, and Reginald Smith.
(continued on page 4)

Dorms get mailboxes

Dorm students, listen good.

You got mail boxes. Yeah, in the dorms. A mail chute, painted blue that empties into a box in the mail room.
That's right, and those boxes will be emptied daily by the UNCC post man.
All this means is no more trips in the cold, windy, wet night time to mail a letter. Just drop in the chute, and leave the mailing to the post office.

Rash takes over as dean

A young Charlotte attorney has been appointed Dean of Students at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte.
He is James Dennis Rash of the firm of Moore and Van Allen. Besid he position of dean, Rash will also hold the position of instructor in The 30 of Business Administration at UNCC
The 30-year-old Rash was an outstanding student at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. A Morehead scholar, he also was member of the Order of the Golden Fleece, Order of the Grail, and Order of the Old Well, top recognition societies at UNC-CH.
In addition to the B.A. degree from UNC-CH, Rash holds the LL.B. degree from the University of Virginia Law School.
Before joining the Charlotte law firm, Rash was administrative intern and legal assistant to the Director of Prisons of the North Carolina Department of Prisons in the summer of 1963.
His community activities include serving as youth advisor to senior high school students at First Presbyterian Church, on the Mecklenburg County Selection Committee for the Morehead Award Program, as counselor for Project Spear, and on the executive committee of the Democratic Party Campaign Organization in 1968

Former Dean of Students, Donald M. McKay
Poly Sci department

Majors

by linda mccarley

A new twist in student-faculty in elations at UNCC has turned up department. That departmence just adopted a policy whereby representatives of the whereby science majors will sit in political vote at departmental Dr. Schley Lyons, heedings. political science, head of the presented science department departmental idea at the firs unanimously decided to it was students sranize the have the Letters were semelves
Letters were sent out to all 102 majors to invite them to a meeting on November 4. About half showed up and they were enthusiastic about the idea. The plan was presented that the students select a delegate and alternate delegate to participate in discussions on curriculum. The delegate has one vote, equal to that of each of the faculty members' votes. The alternate doesn't vote unless the regular delegate is absent.
Aking care prenting the plan and taking care of other business the Rash, who grew up in Lenoir, is married to Marsha Ray Rash, and they have a two-year-old daughter.

The new dean replaces Donald M. MacKay who will take over the direction of the University's auxiliary enterprises which include the bookstore and the food catering service.

The appointment of the new dean was approved Friday by the Executive Committee of th University of North Carolina Trustees.

In other personnel action Walter John Roth was promoted from instructor to assistant professor of mathematics upon completion of his Ph.D. degree at the University of New Mexico

get vote

faculty left and the students got to work. Bill Sigmon, a junior was selected as the delegate and senior Ken Foster delegate and Students brought as alternate. that they brought up the issues In they wanted a voice in. In an interview, Dr. Lyons said honorary and positions are not would have to work students educate themselves in hard to make the necessary order to "The department is oftecisions on important and important curriculum issues and you might say that the students now hold the balance of power in the voting.'
The first department meeting under the new system on November 13 bore out the prophetic words of Dr. Lyons. The faculty was divided 4 to 3 in favor of requiring statistic courses for majors. Representing the wishes of the students, delegate Bill Sigmon, who felt that this would limit their freedom in choosing courses, voted against the proposal A substitute proposal was then agreed upon by
(continued on page 4)

