Homecoming festivities begin Jan. 8

Miss Brenda Glenn will be crowned Miss Black Student Union 1971, Friday, Jan. 8, by Miss BSU 1970, Miss Octavia Walker.

by james cuthbertson

From College Station, Texas on January 9th, we will await the arrival of the Aggies of Texas A&M University who will participate in our homecoming festivities. Also on the day of the 49er-Aggie struggle, our Homecoming Queen of 1970: Miss Beth Timanus will crown Miss Homecoming 1971.

Miss Homecoming candidates were sponsored by the basketball team and managers. The candidates for Miss Homecoming 1971 are: Miss Dorothy Elizabeth Burgess, Miss Anna Fasul, Miss Beverly Maceon Harrison, Miss Wyietta Gail Knight, Miss Winnie McNeely, Miss Gail Meekhins, Miss Cora Pearson, Miss Marcia Ross, Miss Donna Lee Stewart, Miss Dee Dee Vaughan, Miss Karen Weaver, and Miss Melanie Wilson.

Voting will take place on Jan. 6,7,8 in the Student Union with the Court being presented and the winner announced during halftime festivities of the ball game. Who will be Miss Homecoming 1971? Only you know, because it's your vote that will count.

Course evaluation underway

Profiles on all UNCC professors will be available in booklet form the first of April according to Course Evaluation Committee chairman, Ed Wayson.

This past week the course evaluation forms were distributed in 200 sections of the majority of courses taught at UNCC. The students were instructed to return the forms the day after receiving them with all questions answered.

The questions inquired into the daily presentation of the course and its major objectives, the professor's knowledge, enthusiasm, and tolerance in the classroom, and his helpfulness (in class and out), confidence, and speaking ability - to mention just a few. The questions also covered the important area of testing and grading.

When asked to what extent the students were responding to this survey, Ed Wayson reported that response was poor due to bad co-ordination of the survey.

The survey is not aimed for coverage of all courses taught at UNCC, but rather to present a profile on all instructors at UNCC by surveying the students in some of the courses he teaches.

BSU names queen

On Friday January 8, 1971, many homecoming festivities will be taking place on our campus. At 8:15, in an African styled Parquet Room, Miss Black Student Union 1971 will be crowned by Miss BSU 1970; Miss Evelyn Octavia Walker Caldwell and her attendant Miss Deborah McDowell Ardrey.

During the next two hours and the year 1971, Miss Black Student Union 1971; Miss Brenda Kay Glenn and her two attendants Miss Marva Pickett and Miss Margaret Douglass will reign amidst the African splendor that has been designed to salute them. See you there, as Africa comes to UNCC to coronate Miss Black Student Union 1971 on January 8, 1971.

Students can pick up exam schedules at the Information Desk in the Union.

New population control group formed in Charlotte

by dean duncan

What kind of world will our children live in if population growth continues?

"In 10 years...there will be 30 million people in the U.S.--an increase of 15%." Will this make our country a nice place to live in for our children?

"In 15 years...some experts claim there will be a world-wide food shortage with massive famine throughout the world." What hope is there that the children of today will grow up in a stable and peaceful environment?

"In 20 years...there will be twice as many people in underdeveloped countries as there are today." Malnourished people are poorly motivated, do not think clearly, and are more susceptible to propaganda." Will there be much hope for political stability in such a world?

"In 35 years...there will be 100 million more people in the U.S.--an increase of 50% from 1970." Do we want our children to grow up in a world of 50% more pollution, smog, houses, freeways, parking lots and crowding, with less parks, open spaces, and wildlife?

Is this the kind of world we want to live in and leave for our children? Are there answers to such pressing problems?

Some local citizens think so. They organized a chapter of Zero Population Growth, Inc., aimed at stabilizing the U.S. population by 1980. Its major thrust is in political action and public education.

The first meeting in the Charlotte area was held Monday, December 4, in the home of Mrs. Pat Whitfield. Brad Page accepted the post of co-ordinator of the local chapter.

"The chapter plans to support environmental quality efforts, maintain a speakers bureau to educate the public about population, and help stage major anti-pollution coalitions, Page said.

Zero Population Growth, Inc. is a non-partisan group aimed at lobbying on national and state levels for the repeal of all anti-contraception and anti-abortion laws and supporting political candidates with similar goals.

The nationwide non-profit organization was formed in 1968 by Dr. Paul Ehrlich with one purpose: to stop the population explosion.

Ehrlich is a crusading biologist and author of THE POPULATION BOMB.

Anyone interested in forming a chapter of Zero Population Growth at UNCC should contact Dean Duncan, 308 Moore Hall, ext. 455.
