

49ers launch tennis with ten game slate

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte will inaugurate its first tennis team with a ten-game schedule this spring.

Coach Joe Kingery is faced with what he calls "a small schedule and a small squad, but with hope that in the future both will grow."

The 49ers will play their home matches on the new all-weather courts at UNCC which, according to Kingery, are among the finest in the Charlotte area. "We're playing in a hotbed of tennis interest in Charlotte," said Kingery, "and we feel that the program cannot miss being a success in the future."
