Ramsey Clark talks with students and visitors after his speech last Wednesday night. Clark, former Attorney General under Johnson's administration, was the first annual Harry Golden lecturer brought to UNCC.

Former Attorney Gen

Clark Urges FBI To 'To Purge Itself'

by charlie peek

Former Attorney General Ramsey Clark stated that the FBI "needs to purge itself of some of the ideologies which it now has. We need an elderly statesman-type to succeed J. Edgar Hoover for a transitional period," said Clark.

Clark made these statements in a press conference preceding his address in the first annual Harry Golden lecture held last week.

"It's been too long and that's been the problem," said Clark of the FBI and its work. The former Attorney General (under the Johnson Administration) has had a running feud with the FBI director since Hoover referred to him as a "jellyfish" after reading Clark's book Crime in America.

Ramsey Clark also talked about the recent Washington demonstrations. "I am much disturbed about what I hear. It is absolutely impermissible to take into custody without charging them formally. You're going to destroy any residual confidence that the people have in our government."

"Anti-riot statutes have been born out of fear," said Clark, "these have a chilling effect on free speech." Military surveillance also "is impermissible in a democratic society," he said. When asked about the possibility of such surveillance during the Johnson administration, Clark answered, "I never knew about any military surveillance."

Clark, an advocate of the abolition of the Death Penalty in the U.S., said of the recent Supreme Court decision upholding the penalty, "It is critically important that we stand for life in this country." Such abolition of the death penalty "could come through Congress, but the possibility of that is not high," said Clark, "Besides, I'm not sure if they have the constitutional power." He stressed that it would take the will and the commitment of the people to bring this about.

Delta Delta Joins National Sorority

by michael mcculley

After waiting over a month for "administrative approval," Delta Delta President Peggy Caldwell was notified on Tuesday, May 11, that Chancellor Colvard had signed the constitution of Delta Delta national sorority, approving it.

The action allows the national group to locate a chapter at UNCC. Present President Caldwell was "extremely pleased" by the decision to allow Delta Delta to come to UNCC. She said she contacted the Tri-Delta Extension Director, Mrs. Holden, and reportedly the national sorority was also very happy with the new affiliation.

The announcement Tuesday culminates efforts begun last year, in January, by the local sorority after their charter was approved.

All campus sororities now have national affiliation, except Soul Phi Soul, which is reportedly examining the possibility of affiliating with a national sorority.

Miss Caldwell stated: "We will hopefully be pledged to the national by the end of the month. We'd like to thank Dr. Colvard, Miss Cone, and all sisters and pledges who helped in this effort. We're very pleased to be associated with Delta Delta Delta."

Servomation Gets Cafeteria

by charlie peek

UNCC has worked out a contract with Servomation, Inc., to handle the food service in the University Center, starting this summer, Donald MacKay disclosed Wednesday. SAGA will continue to handle food service in the Residence Hall cafeteria.

In a meeting of the Food Service Committee, MacKay outlined changes that will be implemented in the University Center. Grill service will continue as before. In addition, vending machines will be placed in the area where the hot-foods section is situated now. The hot-foods' steam tables will be moved into the old residence cafeteria room.

The vending machines will be available for use anytime that the University Center cafeteria doors are open. This is hoped to alleviate the problem of obtaining food after the grill and steam tables close down for the day.

A microwave oven will also be available in this vending area so that foods may be heated.

Catering jobs, in the University Center, will be handled by Servomation also. SAGA will do the catering for any event in the Residence Hall cafeteria. When asked about catering in the conference room of the new library MacKay said, "we will assume that Servomation will do this."

Another innovation that will be added to the Center cafeteria will be portable room dividers. A section of the cafeteria space will be partitioned off for a "hang-out" area housing the juke box and any decorations that the students might want to add.

Other parts of the room will be used for "secluded dining" with a little more reserved decor and lighting, said MacKay.

'Bikini Wahine Contest', Myrtle Beach, June 10-13

A "Bikini Wahine" beauty contest at the 20th Annual Sun Fun Festival on June 10-13, 1971, will feature bikini-clad contestants from southern colleges and universities, according to a Myrtle Beach Chamber of Commerce news release.

The bikini beauty pageant is scheduled on Saturday, June 12, at 3 p.m. on the oceanfront at the Myrtle Beach Pavilion, it was announced by James P. Creel, General Chairman of the Sun Fun Festival.

Contestants will be competing against representatives from colleges in the Carolinas, Virginia, Georgia, and Tennessee. They will be guests of the Greater Myrtle Beach Chamber of Commerce and the Sun Fun Festival on June 10 and 11.

The "Miss Bikini Wahine" contest is being co-sponsored by the Tanya Hawaii Corporation.

Grand prize for "Miss Bikini Wahine" will be a week's trip for two to Hawaii. Judging of the winners will be based on poise, appearance, and personality.

Wahine, pronounced "waheenee", is Hawaiian for "sweetheart". The fraternity or organization sponsoring the winning "Miss Bikini Wahine" will receive a trophy and cash prize from the Tanya Hawaii Corporation. Contest entry forms are available from Sun Fun Festival Headquarters at the Greater Myrtle Beach Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 1326, Myrtle Beach, S. C. 29577. Rumors are starting around campus that several UNCC co-eds will be sponsored in the event by an unidentified fraternity.

Many other festivities will be featured during the 20th anniversary celebration of Sun Fun. A schedule of Festival activities may be obtained from the Chamber of Commerce.

Sutton: 'SGA Slots Open'

from Journal News Desk

Charlie Sutton, new Student Body President and head of the SGA, announced today that he is willing to accept any and all applications for SGA-appointed positions.

"All students interested in working on any SGA agencies, Boards, committees, Chancellor's committees, etc.," Sutton noted, "should apply before school ends this semester, at which time all such slots will be vacant."

Interested students should leave their applications at the SGA Office, Main Floor, University Center.

Senators Caucus

The first meeting of the Student Senators of the UNCC Senate was called to order by SGA President Charlie Sutton on May 5.

Rising senior Ed Wayson was elected Minority Leader by acclamation.

Representation through colleges and expansion of the number of students on the Senate were topics for discussion. Ed Wayson also brought up the question of permanent office space and a permanent, paid secretary for the Student Senators.

The problem of excessive absenteeism was discussed, having been brought to the attention of the senators by Ed Wayson. Humphrey Cummings suggested that the policy be left as it is, utilizing personal coercion to encourage attendance.

Dean Duncan was the only student senator absent from the caucus.

Bust Fails

by michael mcculley

On Tuesday morning at 12:10 p.m., May 11, three State Bureau of Investigations agents from Raleigh searched a room in Moore Hall for over an hour and then departed, empty-handed.

The agents, accompanied by Chief of Security Jerry Hudson, were acting under authority of a search warrant obtained from a local court. The specific nature of the "probable cause" information which led to the warrant could not be determined.

The room, listed as 519, is assigned to Gary Carpenter.

No other details concerning the SBI actions was revealed through inquiry and checks with dorm residents.

Because of severe difficulties in accumulating the needed factual data on Crowder's Creek polluters, Journal Reporter Doug Munroe could not meet this last issue's deadline. The results of his investigation will be released to conservation officials and, possibly, printed in the summer Journal issues. Not only has Munroe been cut and scraped in pursuit of his story, he developed dysentery, a co-worker was bitten by a copperhead, and "I'm just about certain I'll never be able to eat fish again as long as I live."
