

Tickets: easier, faster this year

The Athletic Department has announced that UNCC students will be admitted to home games for the 1971-72 season upon presentation of their I.D. cards at the gate.

According to ticket and facilities manager Bill Hutchison, students may purchase general admission $1.00 tickets for their dates, allowing both the student and his date to sit in the UNCC student section. These tickets may be purchased on game day only after 5:00 p.m.

Hutchinson indicated that the above procedures would be followed for all 13 home games played on the UNCC campus.

For the four games played in the Charlotte Coliseum, a special section of circle and mezzanine seats has been set aside for UNCC students, faculty and staff. Regular $2.50 reserved seats to those games can be purchased at the athletic ticket office for $1.00 upon presentation of a valid UNCC I.D. card. There is no limit on the number of $1.00 tickets that can be purchased with one card.

Tickets for Coliseum games will be on sale the day prior to the game and on game day from 1:00 p.m. through 5:00 p.m. They must be purchased on the UNCC campus. No $1.00 seats will be available at the Coliseum. When a game date falls on a Saturday, the ticket office will be open on Thursday and Friday afternoons. When a game date falls on a Monday, the ticket office will be open on Friday and Monday afternoons.

potential, height

Frosh ready

by henry wilson

After Coach Bill Foster's first recruiting year at UNCC, the 49er freshman squad looks well-stocked with talent. Foster's drive to obtain some height on his team is evident. Five scholarship players on the freshman team were high school centers.

The freshman squad for 1971-72 consists of 7 players. Each of the five former centers will have to learn a new position and a new system of playing college basketball. The system is a controlled patterned offense and tough defense.

The biggest adjustment will have to be made by Will Barnes. The 6'2" jumper will have to switch to the point, which is the guard position that directs the offense.

Ben Ansley, Geoff Bommer, and Dave Poling will switch to wing positions, while 6'10" Rick Haneburg will remain at center. Tommy Whitten and Greg Ortiz are promising at the guard positions also and will be used mostly to break a pressing defense.

Since they have to become better oriented to their positions, the freshmen will improve week by week.

Also, their record will not indicate their future value to the varsity.

As Coach Foster explained, "All of these freshmen have the potential to be good varsity players. This is our first objective, to make them ready to play on the varsity squad. With their height, if we played a zone (defense) it would be hard for them to lose."

He went on to say, "When they get to the varsity, they'll have to play man-to-man defense, and many are going to play as sophomores so they have to be ready."

Out of the four freshmen graduating to the varsity from last year's squad, one will start for the varsity and the others will be spot starters and should see a great deal of action.

Of course, the freshmen want to win games. Their second objective is to win more games than last year's team (13). They have a tough 22-game schedule which includes the best freshman teams that Furman and Clemson have ever fielded.

With their height and enthusiasm, the 49er freshman squad looks like it's going to be a good complement to the varsity team.
