Briefs

A memorial fund is being established for Cindy Holmes a UNCC student who passed away in January. Contributions to this fund will be used either to furnish a room in the addition to the Student Union or to purchase artwork or something of this nature depending on the amount of money contributed. Those interested may make checks or money orders payable to the Cynthia Holmes Memorial Fund c/o Susan Regan, Post Office Box 191, Newell, North Carolina, 28126.

The Charlotte Mothers for Peace will be holding a public meeting on Friday, April 19 at 8:15 p.m. at Myers Park Methodist Church in the fellowship hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Traveia of Fellowship for Reconciliation from New York City will be speaking on the draft, military veteran counseling, and amnesty, which will be reconsidered in the next session of Congress.

Students are asked to bring pro and con questions to the meeting. The church is located at the corner of Queens and Providence.

Censorship

(CPS) -- The US Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled that a university may not censor a student-run publication simply because it is financed by the school.

The case involved the University of Mississippi, which was enjoined from censoring the Daily Mississippian. The court ruled that once the university decided to support the newspaper, it could not set unconstitutional conditions - such as surrender of First Amendment rights - as conditions for that support.

The university has appealed the case to the US Supreme Court.

The efforts of fielding a club football team here at UNCC began to pay off in a hard fought 9-9 tie against UNC-Chapel Hill on March 30 and a 14-13 victory by the 49ers over Central Piedmont on Saturday 06 April. The deadlock (against Chapel Hill), played on a rain drenched field, was the team's second contest of the spring season..Duke University squeezed past the 49ers by 6-3 in the March 22 game.

The encounter with UNC was a rematch from the fall season. The 49ers almost avenged the ball defeat to UNC but victory escaped them in the final minutes of the game. A pair of missed field goal tries and a goal line stand by the Tar Heels prevented a UNCC victory. Trailing 9-7 with time running out, the UNCC defense trapped the Tar Heels for a safety to tie the score. The game saving safety was indicative of the 49er defense plays all afternoon.

The defense of UNCC was also the shining light against Duke. The home standing Blue Devils were held to only 9 first downs and 166 total yards. In both spring games, penalties have hampered the 49ers. Co-ordination of offensive patterns has been slow in developing but the future is bright. Students have responded to the chance to play and the enthusiasm has been encouraging to all involved with the program.

In addition to increased student participation on the field, the club football program has benefitted from other kinds of help. A newly formed booster club is presently engaged in such fund raising activities as selling programs, cleaning rooms, sponsoring dances, holding benefit games and selling various goods to students.

Such work on and off the field has solidly established the 49ers in the Western Division of the area Club Football setup. Continued efforts should result in an even brighter future for the program, both financially and on the playing field.

The UNCC Golf Team is sporting a respectable 6-1 record with four matches remaining. The 49er squad, coached by Floyd Kerr, has steadily improved over the past few seasons.

The first five men on the six man team are: John Fellenz, senior; Chuck Little, senior; Larry Wilson, senior; Sam Spear, junior; and Banks Wood, sophomore. Three golfers rotate the sixth position. They are Davis Trotter, sophomore; Willie Bisette, junior; and Van Southard, sophomore.

The team's only loss came at the hands of the University of South Carolina. The 49ers lost on the Gamecocks' home course, the Country Club of South Carolina at Columbia.

In the University of Miami Invitational Tournament, the golf team finished twelfth out of 43 teams, including the top rated University of Miami team, one of the best in the nation. Fellenz trailed by one shot after 54 holes of play in the individual competition at Miami. UNCC's four man team posted a 299 for that tournament.

The 49ers play their home matches on the Forest Pawtucket Country Club course. It is a demanding 6,752 yard layout on the south side of Charlotte.

Candy

On Saturday 27 April, the Charlotte Choral Society, under the direction of Alice Berman, will offer Charlotte and the Metrolina area its first POPS concert.

Starring Elizabeth Tanner, lyric soprano, and Rene Netto and the "Sounds of New Orleans," the 100 voice chorus will present an evening of gala musical entertainment.

All seats at Pops '74 are $5. You can buy a table seating 6 people, for yourself and your friends or individual seats at the POPS tables.

Tickets will be on sale at the Cone University Center Information Desk on Friday 19 April from 9 until 1, or mail your check -- payable to Pops '74 -- to Pops '74, 511 East Morehead Street, Charlotte. Please enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Wear good time clothes -- jeans or black tie.

Pops '74 -- at the Civic Center --

(CPS) -- Chocolate Easter bunnies, eggs, ducks, Christmas balls and Santas are the subject of the latest recall by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

The FDA has recalled all chocolate products made at the St. Hyacinthe, Quebec, Canada plant of Regent Chocolate, Ltd. because it may contain salmonella organisms which can cause intestinal illness.

All the candy being recalled is labeled "made in Canada," but several US distributors use different labels for the Regent chocolate. Labels to avoid are: Frankford, Woodbine, Murray, Allen, Loft, Berricini, Regent, World Candy, Holiday Candy, Eljay, Shari, Zachary, Mayfair, Holiday Inn, Vanhouten, Family Treats and Mr. Milky.

So far six families in Wisconsin have been involved in the salmonella outbreak believed to be caused by the candy.

Salmonella illness is characterized by fever, nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea. It usually lasts from 24 to 48 hours.

The National Science Foundation will sponsor a number of projects run by university students during twelve weeks of the summer of 1975. Interested individuals should call Carlos Bell, Chairman Urban and Environmental Engineering at 597-2304 or drop by his office (Smith 220). Twelve students are needed to apply for these positions. There is no restriction on academic major. Pay has previously been $80 per week.
