

Atkins Library provides corrections

The Atkins Library would like to provide a correction to information which appeared in the article "Alternative Lifestyles on the UNCC Campus," in the April 15 Carolina Journal. All of the titles which were recommended by the student to supplement the library's collection of books on homosexuality are on order. The student had spoken with Susan Melson, head of the acquisitions department, who told him that the list would be reviewed, not that the materials would definitely be in the library by February. Because of special catch-funds added to the library budget this year, the book ordering process has been considerably slowed down.

The library already has one of the titles requested by the student: Martin Hoffman, The Gay World, 1968 (HQ 76 H635). Other titles we would recommend are: Laud Humphrey, Out of the Closets, the Sociology of Homosexual Liberation, 1972 (which includes the final report of the Task Force on Homosexuality of the National Institute of Mental Health) (HQ 76.8 U5 M33); Edwin Schur, Crimes Without Victims; Deviant Behavior and Public Policy (HV 6493 S3); and the Great Britain Committee on Homosexual Offences and Prostitution, The Wolfenden Report, 1963 (HQ 76 G7 1963). For additional information, see the bibliography on gay liberation literature in the library vertical file (under sex).

professional station in Salisbury. Each of the candidates was accepted 6-0 with one abstention.

Rally held at Tower

A state wide Rally against the proposed tuition hike was held Tuesday, April 22nd at the Belk Tower. It was decided on April 12 and 13 at the Union of Student Body Presidents that each of the sixteen state colleges in North Carolina would hold a rally on the 22nd. When asked if he though the rally would have any effect, Student Body President Jamie Stemple replied,

"Yes, I do. If nothing else, it will show that UNCC is not an apathetic campus.

It is better to do something and say you have tried to stop it than to do nothing at all. A committee from the Union of Student Body Presidents plan to speak in front of the North Carolina Legislature expressing the 90,80 students from the sixteen colleges opinions."

Additionally, the course will require a physical examination for all participants, at their personal expense. Equipment will be provided, but other expenses might include personal items such as hiking boots and proper clothing. Financial aid may be available in situations of need.

The Venture course is scheduled for July 26 through Aug. 10 during the second session of summer school.
