

The Charlotte Collegian

VOL. 20, NUMBER 2

CHARLOTTE, NORTH CAROLINA

NOVEMBER 5, 1964

Obviously, it wasn't Vaughan and Hodges all the way. Here, vote counter Dick Raley chalks up another vote for freshman class presidential candidate Bill Pressley. The ultimate winners in this close race were George Vaughan and Bill Hodges.

Proposed Amendment

PROPOSED AMENDMENT II
to the CONSTITUTION OF THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION OF CHARLOTTE COLLEGE

AMENDMENT II

Section I. No student shall be allowed to assume the duties of an elective office in the Student Government Association while simultaneously holding another elective office in the Student Government Association.

Section 2. This amendment shall not be so construed as to effect the election or term of any officer, judge, or representative chosen before it has become valid as a part of this constitution.

NOTICE: This proposed amendment, as required by the Student Government Association Constitution, shall be made public for two weeks prior to the special referendum which shall be held November 4 through November 5.

Consider this matter carefully for it is of importance to you and your Student Legislature.

CC Becomes Medium

Charlotte College has been officially recognized by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare as a "medium" college. The department states that, since C. C.'s enrollment of 1,540 students is above the 1,500 minimum for medium classification, it is no longer a small college.

Last year C. C. was a mere midget with an enrollment of only 1,414.

MARIAN ANDERSON

Famous Negro singer Marian Anderson will appear at Ovens Auditorium on Wednesday, November 4, at 8:15 p.m. This concert is part of her Farewell Tour over the country. Tickets will be available at the door for those who have not yet purchased them. Prices are $5, $4, $3. Tickets are still available at the C.U. desk.

Accreditation Plans Discussed With Students

In a meeting with Mr. Joe Ezelle, Assistant Executive Secretary of the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, he explained to a group of student leaders assembled in the College Union, Wednesday, October 14, that Charlotte College is a regional accredited junior college. It has not yet been accredited as a senior college but is still in a transitional stage.

A college wishing accreditation must graduate three classes before it may receive it. The progress and developments the students as graduates make will reflect on this process.

Admittance to the university system does not automatically make Charlotte College an accredited college, said Mr. Ezelle. Accreditation is up to the over-all system of the individual college.

Work is now being done to abolish penalties to students who graduate during the transition. Graduate schools will look at a student's record rather than accreditation of an individual college.

A year or two prior to accreditation is usually spent in institutional self study. Self study must be very critical in order that improvements can be made. Also, student groups need help with self study after they have been indoctrinated as to just what self study is.

among them are commediae Dfin.

About ten committees can be formed to promote accreditation. Among them are committees of faculty, library, and student personnel research, graduate class personnel along with committees in, and summer extension courses.

Achievement of a totality of qualities in balance will make a school appear academically acceptable for accreditation.

Dr. Harlan is the chairman of the Charlotte College Steering Committee.

The purpose of the committee is to plan class meetings to be led by the class president to discuss the possibilities of an honor code and to receive ideas on such a measure. Bob Andrews stressed the point that "everyone will have his say."

Scott Supports CC As UNC Branch

Bob Scott, the Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, was guest speaker before a small but enthusiastic crowd of students and faculty in an appearance sponsored by the Charlotte College Young Democrat's Club in the College Union, October 23.

President Bonnie E. Cone greeted the politicians as they arrived on campus. Also in the group were five candidates for the House of Representatives, five candidates for County Commissioner and two candidates for the State Senate.

Gene Horne of the YDC conducted the proceedings of the meeting. Introducing Scott was Dr. Donald Freeman of the Political Science Department.

In his speech Scott labeled Barry Goldwater as "irresponsible, inconsistent, inadequate and with-

Vaughan And Hodges, Freshman Winners

George Vaughn and Bill Hodges won the runoff election for freshman president and vice-president. The election was held Tuesday and Wednesday, October 27 and 28.

Linda Kincaid jumped ahead of her opponent, Tommy Estridge, by only four votes in the counting for senior representative that took place Wednesday afternoon in College Union Room 209. The official counters of the votes were Dick Raley, Jr., Jane Shaw, John Scott, and Wilma Happy. The faculty advisor present at the time was Dr. J. A. Sledhta.

In the largest freshman class in the history of Charlotte College, only a small number voted in last week's runoff election. The total vote was 140 ballots cast for the two offices. With only 61 seniors at the school, 38 voted for their one representative post open in the SGA.

The regularly scheduled election in which all freshman offices were contested was held Tuesday and Wednesday, October 20 and 21. Also to be elected to fill this year's vacant posts were the sophomore class vice-president and two representatives, one junior night representative, and one senior day representative.

The counting of votes took place Wednesday night from 8 to 10 p.m., with Dr. John B. Robbins as faculty advisor. The students counting the votes that night were again the members of the Elections Committee including Dick Raley, Jr., Jane Shaw, and Sandra Hodges, committee chairman.

The freshman representatives selected were George Freeman, Donna Krohn, Robert Morgan, and Connie Efird from day school. From the night school Johnny Hooks and Julian Alexander were chosen.

John Ferguson was selected as the vice-president of the sophomore class; Nancy Osborn and Tim Britton were elected as day representatives.

Eddie Saunders were elected as the junior night representative, the only elective position open to juniors.

The senior representative selected was Linda Kincaid.

All officers must hold a cumulative 2.0 quality point average and maintain this throughout their term of office.

Honor Code Committee Now Appointed

The Student Government Association has set up a committee to form an honor code. The committee consists of chairman, Bob Andrews, the four class presidents, the president of the Student Legislature and seven judges.

The committee is tentative and must be approved by the whole Legislature.

Where Have All The Girls Gone

Where have all the girls gone? Not to the little establishment on Highway 49 called Charlotte College, any male student of the same establishment will quickly assert.

A check into the records of Mr. Robert Grogan, director of admissions, proved the hypothesis.

Of the 1,512 students attending Charlotte College this semester, only 395 are members of the gentler sex. A weak twenty-six per cent! (A true improvement over 1962's 22 per cent, however.)

The records become more interesting, however, as one delves further.

For instance, we're smarter. The 1964 freshman was a B student in high school and received a score of 926 on his college boards. Last year's entering freshman had an average score of (Continued on Page 4)
