COL. WADDELL.

Cabarrus people turned out in full force Monday to hear Col. A. M. Waddell. In fact, it was a big audience that listened to the plain and pointed truths that fell from the Colonel's lips. The court house was packed.

Col. Waddell was introduced by Mr. H. S. Puryear, President of the Cleveland and Fowle club, who opened his speech by thanking the Concord Cornet Band for their appropriate selection of "I Dream I lived in marble halls" and "Then you remember me,"—the first so befitting to high protection monopolists; the second the words of the people after the next election.

After telling his audience that he had nothing but pleasant recollections of Cabarrus he said he had come not to appeal to their passions, but to their pockets, not to talk buncombe but business. There was no true North Carolinian who was willing again to see his State as it was under the Canby Constitution and Republican rule. If there was one who desired it, he dared not speak it plainly nor openly. He would not insult the older people by a repetition of those shameful acts, nor speak of what memory tells them, but he would tell the younger ones of that constitution gerrymandered in Charleston, S. C., for North Carolina thieves and carpetbaggers, and not by the people of the State; he would tell them of the mock election that followed, placing the State in the hands of men who transferred the hard-earned taxes of the people to their own pockets, and he would tell them that the creator of this wrong was Staunton, the Republican candidate for Auditor. Under this rule nothing was done to advance the State, our school funds were stolen and our capitol was turned into a wild pandemonium. Although the Radicals disclaimed responsibility they can not be separated, and with this picture before us we can but say, "By their fruits ye shall know them."

In National politics this party had been guilty of every form of oppression from the stealing of a ward box to that of the presidency. Every foot of our public domain save that of Alaska had been secured under Democratic rule, and not a foot of it had been squandered until the Republicans came into power. Under their rule 149,000,000 acres had been gobbled up by railroad corporations, and 62,000,000 by other monopolies, besides, we had $42,000,000 in interest stolen. The last Democratic congress had reclaimed 50,000,000 acres of this land.

While we of the South had been splitting hairs on constitutional rights New England had her hand in the public pocket. They bought up the bonds at 70c on the dollar and not content with this had them made payable in gold and free from taxation. Although at that time there were 40,000,000 of people to be taxed, 250,000 bloated bond holders were the first to find relief from taxation. The Democratic party claimed that there was no constitutional right to levy a tax beyond the expenses of the government. The Republican party by its act through high tariff had created a surplus of $12,000,000 per year and this surplus increasing at the rate of 9 or 10 million per month. Plainly this came out of the pockets of the people, not by direct taxation, but by the indirect high tariff of 47 cents on the dollar. The present levy was a war tax of 1862, and we are still paying it. For every $1.00 worth of goods we buy 47 cents goes to the manufacturers. In 1788 we only had a tariff on 7 articles and that only 5 1/2 per cent. Under Harrison's bill in 1846 we had a tariff on 32 articles at 7 1/2 per cent. In those days we prospered and had no strikes or tramps. Now we have a tariff on 4,000 articles at 47 per cent. and we have both strikes and tramps. With all this tariff New England is still howling, although the Mills bill is the highest tariff bill except the Morrill bill we have ever had. The Republican party is just crosswise on this question. They want protection to benefit the laborer and at the same time raise proportionally the price of what he has to buy. It is an insult to the intelligence of the people. Chancy M. Depew, the great Republican lawyer and R. R. magnate whilst howling for protection to American laborers has just shipped Italians to compete with these laborers. Colossal fortunes are built up by Trusts and Combinations. The lately formed sugar trust by an advance of one cent per pound takes $30,000,000 out of the pockets of the people. The Republican party have failed to take off the revenue, and now, although embodied in the platform they say they are in favor of repeal "after the navy is fitted out and the pensions are paid." We used to pay $5.00 for an ounce of quinine and the cry was we would injure labor if we took the tariff off, but we took it off and now we pay 50 cents for the same amount, and still it did not stop the manufacturers. Because this tariff tax comes in an indirect way we do not see it so plainly, but it still is a burden. As for the Third party movement in this State, he said, intemperance was a moral question and a man might just as well run for Governor on the question of whether immersion or sprinkling was right as on prohibition, and this party was doing an immoral act by drawing away votes from the Democratic party, whose rule in this State meant good government, and at the same time they are setting back the cause of temperance. The gifted orator held his audience for 2 hours on this question of Democratic reform as we believe no one else could have done. Not a word but that of praise was heard. Many remarked that for the first time they had an insight into the tariff question. Cabarrus county will be right in November for Cleveland, Fowle and Democracy.

NOT A FEW.

Only seven distinct national tickets asking for the support of the people in this campaign. They are in the point of importance and weight classed as follows: Democratic, Republican, Union Labor, the United Labor, Industrial Reform, Equal Rights and the Prohibition. In North Carolina, however, the Republican candidate for Vice President has control of the Prohibition party, inasmuch as (Rev.) Mr. Walker, the Republican money-seeker, is doing all in his power to assist the worst enemies the State ever had—the Republicans.

What Buchard was to Blaine, Blaine becomes to Ben Harrison in this campaign. Blaine is Harrison's mouth piece and tail, too. He said: "they," speaking of trusts, "are largely private affairs with which President Cleveland nor any private citizen has any particular right to interfere." The trusts, you will please remember, are unions of scamps that make the farmers pay 10 cents for bagging, and control the market for all that the farmer has to sell.

WILL DUCKERY, the always-defeated-Dockery-of-the-busted-bloody shirt party, tell the high-toned voters of North Carolina, who he is that is now making suit against the State?

LUTHER BENSON'S "fifteen year's in hell" is Mr. Walker's bible in this campaign. Benson was the great temperance orator and great drunkard, too, that canvassed the South a few years ago.

Who is the editor of the "Southern Protectionist"? From his own writings, a stranger would judge the poor weak mortal an escaped saint attempting a great moral revolution. Down with you, poor Rad! Go, study the ten commandments!

BELVA LOCKWOOD, the sweet little woman running for President of the United States, says: "If I am elected I will do as other Presidents have done." That means sit with her feet on the table, chew tobacco, etc. Ah, God bless the little gal.

My Son Oliver sometime ago went to New York. He's got money now.

HAS Dockery, the Moses of the Morton machine, divided spoils with his ally—the cranky Walker?

DOES Walker drink cider?
The Subject was Changed.
"Yes," said he, "life is so lonely."
"It is lonely, sometimes," she answered.
"Wouldn't it be sweet to have a little cottage covered with ivy and honeysuckle and rose bushes?"
"Oh! wouldn't it?"
"And when a fellow comes home tired from business, to have a nice little wife meet him at the door with a kiss."
"E-e-e-s."
"And when the summer nights, the windows open, the sunset just giving light enough in the parlor, and you—I—mean a wife at the piano singing in the gloaming."
"I think—it would—be nice."
"And then—"

At this point a care worn woman came around the corner with a pair of twins in a perambulator. A dead silence fell on the summer air for a little. Then they changed the subject.

followed his injunction, "Go ye into all the world and preach my name." These men did not air their rhetoric, nor vent their spleen in the columns of a newspaper, by calling men liars; nor did they lose sight of their pulp duties in a race for political place or money.

If at anytime they were charged with one jot or tittle of wrong, no great reward was offered their accusers to prove themselves guilty, but their own aid was offered for clearing up the enigma.

We do not know that the Leader is "trying to crush out anything save the saloon," but we do know that if his editor will look back over North Carolina history, he will plainly see that if this movement aids in defeating Democracy it crushes out all there is of good government in North Carolina, and places in power that party which the people once in their might, rose up and hurled from political place for wrong doing.

If Mr. Walker is so very innocent of the charge of being in the service of the Republicans, or of saying "We are going to win; if we cannot by fair means we will by foul. And if we do not triumph, there will be one of the bloodiest wars that ever blackened the pages of history" then let him deny it and let the Leader as his mouth piece publish it to the people so "that they be not deceived."

NOT A FEW.

Resolved, That we condemn the policy of legislation beginning in 1861, which has been to enable the bankers and bondholders of the nation to secure for government pledges obtained with greatly depreciated paper money (generally about 50 cents on the dollar), though bearing interest in gold on fully 100 cents, a redemption of these pledges in coin at a fabulous premium, while every other obligation to soldier, sailor or citizen was legally payable in the paper money of the United States.

Resolved, That we are opposed to all laws which have steadily and almost wholly transferred the enormous burdens of oppressive taxation from the money kings of the country to the great army of consumers, until to-day the latter class is practically the sole pack-horses of this boasted republic of freedom and popular rights, while yet producing all its wealth and providing all its comforts.

Resolved, That we cannot support the candidates of the Republican party for President and Vice-President, because both of them are wanting in sympathy for the laboring classes. This was shown by Gen. Harrison in memorable strike of 1888, when he volunteered to command a company of soldiers to shoot laboring men down, after the corporations refused a settlement by peaceable means. For four days' service as captain of said company he received and accepted for twenty silver dollars, which was as much blood money as the "thirty pieces of silver" for which Judas Iscariot betrayed the Savior of mankind. It has been shown by Morton, in his career as a Wall street money shark and as a sharer in the unholy gains in many greedy corporations that have cruelly oppressed their employees. In trying to get possession of the shingle on which was inscribed "Shoes made and repaired by Levi P. Morton," offering a large sum for it that he might destroy the evidence of his former humble occupation, Morton has shown himself ashamed of the condition to which he was born, thus sacrificing all claim to the respect and support of the honest laborers of the land who have no blushes for their employment.

Resolved, That on voting on fourteen different occasions against measures that were proposed in the Senate of the United States for the restriction of Chinese cheap labor, and in his often repeated private avowals of a willingness that the naturalization laws should be extended so as give Chinamen the right to become citizens, Harrison has given the strongest possible proofs of his utter disregard of the interests and welfare of American workmen.

Resolved, That for reasons here specified and for the further fact that these Republican candidates, in their habits, thoughts, sympathies and associations are of the class that would inaugurate an aristocracy on the ruins of free government, organized labor in this and other States is cordially invited to co-operate with us in the enforcement of the sentiments and objects herein expressed.

"MY GOD ABERNATHY."

We Knew You'd Come—He Repudiates the Third Party.

Special Cor. State Chronicle.

At the earnest solicitation of many friends, and after mature and prayerful reflection, I beg to withdraw my name as candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction on the Prohibition ticket. In the lengthening shadows of evening, nearing my "three score years and ten," the esteem of my friends is more than ever dear to me. This, I am sure I should lose in a measure by my candidacy, while I am now convinced that evil would result thereby, both to Prohibition and to my friends and fellow citizens in the State. I think my friends in North Carolina will testify that during my life I have never hesitated to follow where duty pointed the way. The nomination came under the guise of duty, and I accepted. I now plainly see that this present Third party movement will not only imperil the white man's supremacy in the South; but it will damage the cause of Prohibition all most incalculably. Since the war, when I voted at all, my ballot has always been cast in favor of Democracy; and as I am now, and always have been, it full sympathy with that party on every question, except that of license, if, as it is plainly to be seen, one of the old political parties must triumph in this contest, I

Resolutions Adopted by the Indiana State Federation of Trades.

WHEREAS—1. Believing the policies of government should be general in their benefits and not fixed for the advantage of the few; and, further, that under laws now existing this principle has not been followed; and believing that the laboring masses are now interested in the success of such principles and policies as will give them a more equal chance with the employing class than of the success of any political party;

2. That we condemn the policy of legislation beginning in 1861, which has been to enable the bankers and bondholders of the nation to secure for government pledges obtained with greatly depreciated paper money (generally about 50 cents on the dollar), though bearing interest in gold on fully 100 cents, a redemption of these pledges in coin at a fabulous premium, while every other obligation to soldier, sailor or citizen was legally payable in the paper money of the United States.

We Knew You'd Come—He Repudiates the Third Party.

Special Cor. State Chronicle.

At the earnest solicitation of many friends, and after mature and prayerful reflection, I beg to withdraw my name as candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction on the Prohibition ticket. In the lengthening shadows of evening, nearing my "three score years and ten," the esteem of my friends is more than ever dear to me. This, I am sure I should lose in a measure by my candidacy, while I am now convinced that evil would result thereby, both to Prohibition and to my friends and fellow citizens in the State. I think my friends in North Carolina will testify that during my life I have never hesitated to follow where duty pointed the way. The nomination came under the guise of duty, and I accepted. I now plainly see that this present Third party movement will not only imperil the white man's supremacy in the South; but it will damage the cause of Prohibition all most incalculably. Since the war, when I voted at all, my ballot has always been cast in favor of Democracy; and as I am now, and always have been, it full sympathy with that party on every question, except that of license, if, as it is plainly to be seen, one of the old political parties must triumph in this contest, I shall not allow myself to be used as an instrumentality in putting my friends in North Carolina under the dominion of negro rule. Hence, I hereby decline the candidacy and withdraw from the Third Party, and earnestly recommend my life long friend and brother, Maj. S. M. Finger, who is a Christian gentleman, a Prohibitionist and a scholar, to all my Prohibition brethren in the State.

In the present situation, I earnestly advise the withdrawal of the Prohibition ticket in North Carolina, and the support of Democracy in the present contest. We cannot afford to impose negro supremacy upon our fellow citizens.

In an off year, next year, if you please, I earnestly beg all good men of all parties to unite with me, outside of politics, in putting this infamy of all infamies, the liquor traffic, out of our State.

I am now an old man. Most of my life lies in the past; how it has been consecrated to humanity, the people know. And in this fight against the arch enemy of earth and heaven, though my sword be powerless as Priam's, it shall strike for God and the Right.

Yours truly,
R. L. ABERNETHY.

A Lady Tears Certain Men all to Pieces.

A well known society woman, speaking of the attacks made upon her sex for their methods of handling their skirts or bustles when sitting down, carrying their parasols and other habits, says: "I think three quarters of such talk is nonsense. I am perfectly sure that men have just as many marked habits as women. What can be more absurd, I'd like to know, than to see a man every time he sits down fling his coat tails wide apart as though something frightful would happen if he forgot to part them. Then, again that everlasting twitching at the legs of his trousers so as to pull them up in folds above the knees and exposing generally the not always attractive top of a pair of shoes with strings tied in by no means a picturesque knot. To me one of the repulsive habits is the refolding up of a handkerchief before replacing in the pockets, which is quite common to men. I always wonder if the user is afraid of getting them mused or only wants the outside fresh and clean. As regards the perpetual movement of the hand to the head and face, pulling down cuffs so they will show beneath the sleeve, and similar tricks, are they not everyday sights? Upon my word I'm really sick of the subject, and when I walk along the streets particularly and observe the habits of the male pedestrians and their utter disregard of the rights of others, I think the less they say about the weaker sex the better."—Philadelphia Times.

112 Miles in 107 Minutes.

A railroad official, speaking about fast time on railroads, has this to say in regard to Jay Gould's tour through the South a few weeks ago: "When the Jay Gould special left Memphis, Superintendent Pegram, of the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia Railway gave instructions to run through to Chattanooga on a 55 mile per hour schedule, which was accomplished without an apparent effort. On arriving at Chattanooga the management was completely surprised by the party, and the question was asked whether other portions of the system was in a condition to admit of an equal rate of speed. The question resulted in Mr. Gould enjoying the distinction of riding on the fastest train that ever ran on the American continent. On leaving Chattanooga orders were given to make the run to Knoxville—112 miles—on a 60 mile per hour schedule, or better if possible. It appeared to be understood though not expressed, that the run to Knoxville should beat all previous records, and when the wires flashed back the news that the 112 miles had been made in 107 minutes, you can imagine the enthusiasm that greeted the announcement."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Republican women have taken a hand in the canvass and in a campaign circular ask their sisters: "Do you realize the moral side, the heart side, of the economic questions which are being discussed in the campaign?"

When it was proposed to free whiskey from taxation Mr. Blaine objected because, he said, "there is a moral side to it." But, notwithstanding this protest, the Republican Convention disregarded the moral side, the heart side, of this economic question by declaring that it favored free whiskey "rather than surrender any part" of the war tariff on the people's necessities. No true woman can endorse such a sentiment.
