CLUMB TO BUST.

Still must I climb, if I would rest. The bird soars upward to bis nest; The young leaf, on the tree-top high, Cradles Steel without the sky.

The streams, that seem to hasten down, Buturn in clouds the bills to crown; The plant srines from her root, To rock aloft her flower and fruit.

I cannot in the valley stay; The great horizons stretch away, The very cliffs that wall me round Are leaders unto higher ground.

To work, to rest, -for each a time, I toil, but I must also climb. What soul was ever quite at ease, Shut in by earthly boundaries?

I am not glad till I have known Life that can lift me from my own, A loftier level must be won. A mightler strentgh to lean upon.

And heaven draws near as I ascend; The breeze invites, the stars befriend, All things are beckoning to the Best; I climb to thee, my God, for rest! - Selected.
