BOTANIC BLOOD BALM

Pure blood is what oils the machinery of life, causes every movement of the body, removes stiffness of the joints, drives out pain from the nerves, stimulates the brain, protects the liver and kidneys from irritation, enables physical exertion without fatigue, prolongs life, and makes men and women perfect in health and feature. Good blood and good brain are inseparable. Aim to keep the blood pure by using the only true blood remedy, B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm).

Miss S. Tomlinson, Atlanta, Ga.

For many years I have been afflicted with rheumatism combined with severe kidney troubles, indigestion and nervous prostration. Several physicians were employed and numerous patent medicines resorted to without benefit. At last I bought the use of B. B. B. and its effect was like magic. Rheumatic pain ceased, my kidneys were relieved, and my constitution improved at once.

Z. T. Hallerton, Macon, Ga., says: "Three years ago I contracted blood poisoning. I applied to a physician at Macon, and his treatment came near killing me. I employed an old physician and then went to Kentucky. I then went to Hot Springs and remained two months, but nothing seemed to cure me permanently, although temporary relief was given me. I returned home a ruined man physically, with but little prospect of ever getting well. I was persuaded to try B. B. B. and to my utter astonishment it quickly healed every ulcer."

Literary Value of a Name.

A famous name in literature undoubtedly counts for something. It is right that it should. Fame is the result of work—often the work of years. It carries with it a commercial value of which no fair-minded person can doubt the justice. But that it is the "real essential" in a manuscript is utterly false. And the best evidence of this fact is that each week sees the articles, stories and poems of our best known authors rejected in the editorial offices throughout the country. But of this the proud author knows nothing. She judges only from what she sees printed. She is ignorant of the fact that manuscripts are often returned to the most famous names.—Edward W. Bok in Ladies' Home Journal.

Military Duty in Europe.

European civilization today is based on the idea that war is not only an inevitable possibility, but a probability, and a general idea of every country has been framed to look upon bloodshed as its proper vocation. The great prizes are reserved for soldiers, honors, fame, position and the monarch's favor go to the sons of Mars. The military budget exceeds, many times over, that of the appropriations for public instruction. The salary of a colonel is earned by but few professors. The cost of the powder and shot wasted in Europe between any dawn and dusk would probably pay the running expenses of all her public hospitals. In each government, whether it be constitutional or autocratic, the army, with truth, be said to direct legislation. For the legislatures, willingly or unwillingly, vote the appropriations demanded by the war department.

Even if a legislature dares to question or protest it is quickly frightened into acquiescing by an alarming report from the minister for war. Thus the military class controls government, and has laws passed to suit itself, and prevents all attempts to cut down or to abolish its power. It intimidates the state not less readily, though less openly, than the Prussian guard intimidated old Rome. Kings and nobles do its bidding and the public that they chiefly endeavor and desire to preserve peace, but in the next breath they call for larger funds and more recruits. Kaisers meet and kiss each other on both cheeks. They extol the sweetness of brotherly love, they attend each other's grand maneuvers, and then they increase the garrisons along their respective frontiers. A strange method, this, for testifying to their peaceable intentions!—William R. Thayer in Forum.

Ladies do you realize that when you buy of the retailer, you are paying three unnecessary profits.
