

Last Monday the cause of woman's suffrage received a defeat in one State and scored a victory in another.

The popular branch of the Missouri Legislature, by a decisive majority, defeated a bill to allow women to vote at all elections, but the Massachusetts Legislature passed a bill giving women the right to vote at all municipal elections.

Many of the leaders of the woman's suffrage movement live in Massachusetts and have a great following there, though some of the leading Massachusetts newspapers oppose very vigorously this theory of woman's rights.

The idea does not appear to have sprouted to any considerable extent in Missouri.

JURIS AND THE LAW.

A wide difference of opinion has existed among lawyers on the question whether in a criminal case the jury is judge of the law as well as of the facts.

The supreme court of the United States recently made its first distinct declaration on the subject.

Three members of the court prepared opinions on the question, which will fill one hundred and fifty pages of the printed reports.

A majority of the court hold that the jury is not the judge of the law in a criminal case, but must take the law from the bench.

The decision is one of the most important that has been handed down by our highest court in a long time.—Atlanta Journal.

ITS PUZZLING WHY.

The Norfolk Landmark says: "The fact that Mrs. Cleveland has been induced to join the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, by Miss Willard and others, seems to be taken as in some sort a reflection upon the Old Man's temperance habits, but we do not see any justice in this."

Many a good man's wife has joined this society for the sake of some other woman's husband, when her own husband is not so inclined in him to want a drink or anything else among the things the average man craves.

Mrs. Cleveland has joined the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and it was Miss Frances Willard who, the other day, had the honor of pinning on the dress of the mistress of the White House the white ribbon badge of membership of that organization.

The January sales of raw iron at Pittsburg reached the enormous total of 263,730 tons, exceeding by 80,000 tons the sales of January, 1894.

An exchange says that "there is a whisper of spring in the air." This is doubtless correct. The poor girl caught such a cold in the recent blizzard she can only speak in a whisper.

E. C. Benedict, the banker, has bought Tweed Island and the Indian Harbor Hotel, at Greenwich, Conn., for $100,000, and will convert the property into a private residence.

The New York World figures out that the syndicate which took the $62,000,000 United States bonds, pocket a profit of about $5,000,000.

The nomination of Congressman Wilson to be Postmaster General did not meet with confirmation at once, as was expected.

The Populists are sore over the Douglas mess they made at Raleigh.

In spite of all that has been said in protest against the unnecessary destruction of timber, a ruthless waste of forest is still going on in the Northwest.

Only the largest trees are cut for timber, and in the subsequent clearing process fine trees are burned to get them out of the way.

Hundreds of acres are thus wastefully sacrificed.

A big lot of California wine was sold the other day in San Francisco at 1 1/2 cents per gallon, which is said to be a raise of about five cents over prices last year.

But when this wine gets East it costs the purchaser from a dollar to two dollars a bottle, so that somebody must be making a pretty big profit on it.

It has been discovered by a German scientist that thinking is one of the chief causes of wrinkles, and the Cincinnati Enquirer safely concludes that this explains how Congressmen manage to preserve their good looks.

If people exercised as much care and shrewdness when investing in advertising as they do when investing in banks, mining stocks, and estate, there would be more believers in the value of printer's ink.

The Indian rubber man doubtless began life as a bouncing boy.

The Durham Sun is on its seventh year. The six years just passed and completed guarantee to Brother Robinson splendid success.

He has a good foothold and the Sun will shine for all.

The cigarette fiend, Postmaster Bissell, has resigned to look after his Buffalo law business. It is thought that Congressman Wilson will succeed.

Rev. Samuel G. Jones, father of Sam Jones, who died in Georgia Thursday, was ninety years old. Although having five sons in the ministry, he himself did not join the Methodist church till the age of sixty, and late in life he became ordained to preach.

Mr. Jones leaves 130 descendants.

From childhood up I've been taught to reverence, revere and respect the 22nd day of February as the birthday of Washington, the father of his country.

Of him it has been said "he was first in war, first in peace," and, before this present Legislature assembled he was considered to be "first in the hearts of his countrymen."

But this august and unprecedentedly smart body have shorn the hero of Brandywine of his honors and transferred them to a half cast nigger who spurned the women of the African race and married a white woman.

The glorious achievements of a Washington and a Lee are buried beneath a pedestal of fame erected to Fred Douglass who was once a refugee to England for breaking the laws of his country.

"How have the mighty fallen!" "Tell it not in Gath nor publish it in the streets of Askelon" that sons of heroes and some old soldiers also who defended the angle at Spottsylvania, who withstood the onslaught at Cold Harbor, and as forlorn hope looked grim visaged death in the face at Five Forks have sold their birthright for a mess of "pottage"—official honor (?).

From days beyond our ken the memory of Washington has been kept green the hearts of Americans. 'Tis new fangled, hybridized legislature of advanced ideas and exalted opinions(?) now pops up as the exponent of true Americanism, tramples under foot our household gods and bids us fall down and worship and African idol.

Just hear me while my horn I'm blowing, I'll show you who is who, My brain is full of overblowing. What I don't know is not worth knowing. Too white! Too who! Too hoo!

This Fred Douglass resolve is merely a cheap job bid for 1896, and the honest colored citizen of North Carolina should look on the lick spittle process with disgust.

The coming municipal campaign is already creating some fervor and I hear there are many noble minded ones ready to forsake all for their country's sake.

Fervently they solicit: Oh, I'd like to be a Mayor; And on the corners stand, To order on our payments, A lot of yaller sand.

The election is "a good ways off" but a careful and scientific diagnosis of the situation convinces me that there are a lot of voters who can't or won't tell how they intend to vote and there are some who don't know and won't know ten minutes before they advance with stately mein to exercise the great prerogative of an American freeman.

Korner has no axe to grind but would like to see a fair and impartial Mayor and an economical set of City Fathers. It is not to be considered for a moment that a Mayor will please all, but he should be to the majority a model officer for "what will it profit a man to be Mayor if he fails to secure a second term."

One thing is sure I cannot, with my acute knowledge of life agree to vote for any one for the highest position in the gift of Concord who has not managed his own affairs wisely and well and kept well to the forefront in Concord's onward march.

I would like to see him, but I will not name him. Let the people say "who shall rule over us."

My wife was telling the colored cook (one of the old issue) yesterday that the Lenten season had begun when with sorrow she exclaimed: In de family I lived wid in Souf Carline de lenden season neber ended. We was lenden and lenden ebery day till we mended lend out. Ef it 'gins here I'm feared I'll have to go fudder Norf."

Won't the coming laboring man have a jolly time of it if this national holiday business keeps on. The New York legislature has made a movement (and rightly too) to place Lincoln's birthday in the list. It is a wonder to me that our State solons didn't make a similar movement as to "their" Honorable Frederick Douglass.

Oh! won't it be a jolly time, And life be festive, happy, gay, When are the nation's laws enacted? Two thirds of time a holiday.

The pretty weather the past week has buoyed me up beyond expression and I hope we will have no more freeze-outs or cyclones until one or the other strikes the North Carolina legislature in the shape of popular indignation.

May your sheet never grow less, In the cycle of coming years, May the Standard "outline" go to press And it stands never get in tears.

The Origin of Laws. Smythe—"I intend Harry for the bar; would you advise his beginning on such old works as Coke and Blackstone?"

The Less Estimated at $250,000—The Fire First Broke Out in Bryanfield's Stables, and is Said to Have Been Caused by a Cigarette Stump—Two Business Blocks in Ashes—Newspapers Called on for Aid—The Insurance Generally Light.

Wilmington, N. C., Feb. 13.—A special to the Star from Kinston, N. C., says: About 4 o'clock this afternoon fire broke out in Bryanfield's stables and rapidly spread to the wood building in rear of Oetinger Bros' store and the opera house.

The two main business blocks of the town are in ashes or smouldering ruins, including the stores of Einstein Brothers, S H Loftin, Oetinger Bros., Prider, Cox & Co., hardware store; C W Crabtree, Abbott & Summerell, Dawson Bros., J W Collins, Loftin's bank, the bar rooms of H C Harrison and J L Whaley, and Wagoner's beer bottling establishment; Hotel Tull, the Free Press office, Dr. Tull's residence and office, residences of S Einstein, H H Wilson, Sheriff Sutton, Dr. W A J Pollock, A J Loftin, S M Harrell, and W H Brock's residence and stables.

The flying sparks burned two or three houses occupied by colored people in another part of town. It is by far the severest fire ever known in Kinston.

The loss is fully $250,000, and the insurance in the aggregate is small.

The fire is under control by 6:30 o'clock.

The Newbern fire engine arrived here at 7:30 and is now throwing water on the smouldering ruins.

The origin of the fire is reported to have been a cigarette stump, carelessly thrown by a boy in Bryanfield's stables.

W. L. WILSON CONFIRMED.

How about a street sprinkler this summer?

Josephine Fisher, a colored woman whose husband is serving out a sentence on the chain gang, and who has fascinated another man, was punished Friday night about 8 o'clock on Spring street by Angelina Ellis, the neglected wife of one Albert Ellis. For a year or more Ellis has abandoned his wife and taken up with Josephine, and as Angelina expressed ill will, she took revenge by flogging the woman who had seduced her husband.

A reporter was on the scene of the battle and it was a sight to witness the hair pulling and clothes tearing. The infuriated women were soon quieted and hustled off to the mayor's court. They were fined $5 each.

Albert Ellis was released from jail at the last term of court.

The old song will change: It was a man at the bottom of it.

In Keeping. Since the delegation of railroad employees have been to Washington and insisted on the old scale of wages being restored, it has leaked out and from a reliable source that if the employees continue the demand the white firemen will be downed and their places filled by negro labor.

Not only will this apply to firemen but will effect the brickmen, flagmen and switchmen.

From the way our Legislature puts out white men and substitute negroes, it is only in keeping if the Southern does likewise.

Tell Him About Your War Chaplain. Rev. A. D. Betts, of Newbern, N. C., has been chosen to write a history of the chaplain service among the North Carolina troops during late war. He must have the help of all the living chaplains. He wishes to hear from every one. They should tell him when their services began and ended, what regiment each served and to what church each belonged and something of their experience and work during the war.

He urges the old soldiers also to write and tell him about the work of their dead chaplains. If the chaplain loved the soldiers enough to go and sleep on frozen ground, to preach to them, they ought to be glad to write about them. Let several hundred letters go to Newbern in a few weeks telling about the chaplains.

State papers please copy.
